

Kennedy Calls for 'New, Bold' Slash In U. S. Tariff Rates

President Asks Support for Common Market to Curb Reds

NEW YORK (AP)—President Kennedy called today for a lowering of tariffs in a "new and bold" program to frustrate Communist plans for economic encirclement of the West.

He urged U.S. cooperation with the European Common Market along with lower tariffs to stimulate trade among friendly nations.

If the nations of the West can agree "on a common program of action as extraordinary in economic history as the North Atlantic Treaty Organization was unprecedented in military history," the President said, "the long-range Communist aim of dividing and encircling us all is doomed to failure."

"I am not proposing—nor is it either necessary or desirable—that we join the Common Market, alter our concepts of political sovereignty, establish a 'rich man's' trading community, abandon our traditional most-favored nation policy, create an Atlantic free trade area or impair in any way our close economic ties with Canada, Japan and the rest of the free world," he said.

Talks to Industrialists
Kennedy picked a conference of industrialists to preview in broad terms the authority he will seek from Congress to give him greater freedom in bargaining for tariff favors.

That authority would reduce levies on some U.S. imports and increase foreign competition with U.S. industry.

Kennedy told the National Association of Manufacturers congress of American industry: "Economic isolation and political leadership are wholly incompatible."

He said that reciprocal cuts in tariffs on both sides of the Atlantic would increase U.S. sales abroad and thus strengthen both this country and its allies.

He called for economic cooperation between the United States and the European Common Market, an association of six nations in which Great Britain has applied for membership. Some 90 per cent of free world industrial production may soon be concentrated in these two great markets, he said.

"I am proposing, in short, a new American trade initiative which will make it possible for the economic potential of these two great markets to be harnessed together into a team capable of pulling the full weight of our common military, economic and political aspirations," Kennedy said.

The President confirmed speculation that he would ask Congress for power to bargain with other

British Criticize U.N. Movement

LONDON (AP)—The British government declared today that U.N. Forces in strife-torn Katanga have no right to attempt to impose a political solution by force.

Deputy Foreign Secretary Edward Heath, in the House of Commons, reiterated that the British government believes the United Nations should try continually to achieve a settlement between the central Congo government and President Moise Tshombe's breakaway regime in Katanga.

AFL-CIO Chiefs Trying to Reach Compromise

Factions Hope to Avoid Fight on Convention Floor

BAL HARBOUR, Fla. (AP)—AFL-CIO leaders called a closed showdown session today to try to compromise conflicting proposals for settling labor's internal wars.

There appeared to be at least four, and possibly more, plans advanced as systems for refereeing controversies over inter-union jurisdictional feuds.

Some compromise was sought to avoid an open fight after the AFL-CIO convention opens here Thursday with President Kennedy as the chief speaker.

With top federation leaders widely split on the various disputes settlement plans, one of the key figures in the controversy said, "It's going to be murder. Everybody's red hot over this."

Rival Proposals
Rival building trades and industrial unions have come up with separate plans. Al Hayes, Machinists Union president and the chairman of a special committee charged with framing a disputes settlement formula, had still another proposal. George Meany, AFL-CIO president, seemed to have a fourth.

Hayes called a special meeting of his five-man group to try to come up with a single proposal. Meany arranged an afternoon session of the 29-man AFL-CIO executive Council for a further airing of differences.

Meany and Walter Reuther, the head of the Auto Workers Union and chief spokesman for the industrial unions, were the major rivals in the political maneuvering.

Reuther's Position
Reuther has insisted on all federal unions being compelled to accept arbitration of all job rights disputes among unions, with decisions subject to court enforcement.

Building trades unions have recommended trying to settle disputes without arbitration.

In an advance convention report the AFL-CIO Executive Council said that labor unions will urge Congress to cut the 40-hour work week if high levels of unemployment persist.

The report also called for renewed efforts to shorten work hours by labor contract agreements but acknowledged that little headway had been made in bargaining shorter work time in the past two years.

"However," the report said, "there was increased discussion of shorter hours in various negotiations. The groundwork has been laid for rapid acceptance of shorter work weeks in the years ahead."

Air Attacks and Mortar Fire Mark Fighting in Katanga

State Launches Probe Into Sale of Forged Mortgages

8 Men Arrested, Records of 2 Improvement Firms Seized

Effort to Orbit Man Set for Early Part of January

WASHINGTON (AP)—The first U.S. attempt to send a man into orbit was scheduled today for early January.

The postponement until after the Christmas holidays was announced by the space agency which already has assigned astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. for the attempt to orbit a Mercury capsule.

Previously the hope had been to make the manned shot this year, perhaps as early as Dec. 20. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced that the next Mercury orbital launch definitely will be a manned flight, ruling out any more tests with animals.

Space officials had worked hard to try to get the U.S. orbital shot off during 1961 in order to achieve that goal in the same year as the Soviet Union.

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A statewide investigation into what Assistant State Atty. Gen. Lee Dalton said was the sale of "hundreds of thousands of dollars in forged mortgages" led to the arrest of eight men and the seizure of the records of two home improvement firms Tuesday.

Officers of the Milwaukee County district attorney's office; the Police Department's special assignment squad and the attorney general's office raided the two firms simultaneously, seizing records and documents in connection with 15 mortgages totaling $53,159.

May Top $250,000
"Besides the 15 forged mortgages listed in the search warrant, about 50 other suspected forged mortgages and notes involving more than $250,000 have been uncovered in the month we have been investigating this case," said Dist. Atty. William McCauley. "The total may well go quite a bit higher."

The officers took the records at the offices of Wisconsin Suppliers and Builders, Inc., and Union Improvements.

The state went into Circuit Court to revoke the license of Wisconsin Suppliers. A hearing was scheduled for Monday before Judge Harvey L. Neelen.

The operation was brought into the open, McCauley said, when Lowell Kracht of Redgranite complained that a $2,650 mortgage had been placed against his home by Wisconsin Suppliers. Kracht, the district attorney said, NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—James Dixon, 9, repeatedly begged his father to allow Anne, the family pet collie, to stay in the house. A few days ago Nixon gave in.

Tuesday night when Dixon was home alone, taking a nap, Anne jumped on his chest and woke him minutes before the house went up in flames.

Tax Portioning Program May Not be Changed

Sales Levy Revenue
Would be Added on Basis of Local Rates

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Democratic state administration advisers, anxiously watching their faltering tax revision bill in the state assembly, today were apparently willing to administer a pep bill in the form of abandoning tax redistribution demands.

Gov. Nelson's aides were drafting an amendment to the controversial redistribution feature of the tax revision measure that would leave present tax shares unchanged, and funnel new sales tax money into localities according to the size of their local tax rates.

Compromise Defeat Predicted
Gov. Nelson was not immediately available to confirm the reports, but there was a general understanding that he would accept the change as a final gesture to aid in enacting the revenue sections of his revenue proposal—principally selective sales taxes and boosts in personal income taxes.

Amendment Being Drafted
The consensus on both sides of the political aisle in the assembly, meanwhile, was that the governor's "last word" tax compromise measure is in desperate shape and may otherwise go down the drain—leaving the state in the worst fiscal crisis it has faced in decades.

Nelson has repeatedly said that he would not regard as a tax revision bill or worthy of his signature any legislation that did not more fairly distribute local shares of existing state taxes, and notably the income tax and utility tax.

The amendment now in preparation—which Republicans were told

Disabled Vessel Anchored Safely

HOUGHTON, Mich. (AP)—The disabled Canadian freighter C. D. Secord was anchored today in the lee of Upper Michigan's Keweenaw Peninsula following her rescue by the Coast Guard cutter Woodruff from heavy seas in Lake Superior.

The Woodruff towed the 542-foot Secord Tuesday night into the shelter of Isle Royale Bay on the eastern side of the northern tip of the peninsula.

The Coast Guard ordered the Woodruff to stand by until the Canadian Steamship Mowhawk Deer arrives at Grise Bay early Thursday to tow the freighter to Fort William, Ont., on the northern side of Lake Superior for repairs. The Woodruff will escort both ships to Fort William.

U.N. Jets Attack Air Force Near Elisabethville; No Serious Losses Reported

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga, the Congo (AP)—The air forces of both the U.N. command and Katanga went into action today as fighting raged for the second day in and near this secessionist capital.

Mortar blasts shook the residential area near U.N. headquarters and an old airport northwest of the city where Katanga forces were deployed.

A lone aircraft, from Katanga's small air force, a bomber converted from a German-made transport, raided the main Elisabethville airport held by U.N. troops, and dropped three bombs.

A U.N. spokesman said there were no serious casualties or damage. Indian Brig. K. A. S. Raja, who took over the U.N. operation in Katanga from civilians, announced U.N. jets strafed the Katanga air force at Kolwezi, northwest of Elisabethville.

He said Swedish jet fighters carried out the attack, and prevented an air attack on U.N. forces at Elisabethville. One of Katanga's French-built Fouga jets at Kolwezi succeeded in getting off the ground but made a forced landing near Luluabourg in adjoining Kasai Province, he said.

Jet Attack Ordered
U.N. troops opened anti-aircraft fire on another Katanga plane which circled the main airport. At Leopoldville, the U.N. command announced that its 15-jet air force had been ordered to attack other Katanga air forces at Jadotville, 65 miles northwest of Elisabethville.

Six U.S. Air Force Globemasters took off from Leopoldville loaded with armored cars and anti-aircraft guns for Elisabethville. The United Nations steadily reinforced its ground troops. About 300 Swedes arrived from Stockholm and another 350 Irish soldiers were en route from Dublin.

Information Minister Albert Ntombi told newsmen Katanga mor-

Four Katanga Planes Destroyed by U.N. Jets

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Indian U.N. jets destroyed four Katanga planes today in an aerial cannon attack on the Katanga Air Force Base at Kolwezi, the U.N. announced. A Fouga jet was counted among the Katanga casualties.

tar fire had driven the United Nations from its headquarters in Elisabethville, but Abdul Latif Sugarc, deputy U.N. civilian chief, denied this. He said Katanga mortar shells burst in the area occasionally and some had scored hits.

U.N. Using Mortars
At the old airfield northwest of the city, a U.N. spokesman said, Katanga soldiers were being re-deployed. "We are blasting them with mortars," he said.

The Katanga spokesman said the United Nations had withdrawn from the Lido Hotel, a rest area and one of the four U.N. points in the city.

Katanga broadcasts urged the people to fight. "The United Nations has declared war on the little people of Katanga," one broadcast said.

South Viet Nam Agrees To Internal Reforms

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government of South Viet Nam has agreed to internal reforms, clearing the way for more U.S. aid in the Southeast Asian nation's battle against Communist guerrillas.

Officials said Tuesday President Ngo Dinh Diem had agreed to the reforms after several weeks of negotiations with U.S. Ambassador Frederick Nolting Jr.

Gen. Maxwell Taylor, military adviser to President Kennedy, toured South Viet Nam in October. He reportedly recommended that before any U.S. increase in military and economic assistance, President Diem should be prevailed upon to make some internal reforms.

20 Years Since Pearl Harbor

An Outer-Space Psychiatrist Might Wonder at Recent Antics on Earth

BY JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—If an outer-space psychiatrist had been watching earth people these past 20 years, he might conclude: "Get them a doctor; they look disturbed."

Thursday, 20 years after Pearl Harbor, earth people who were in a dreadful mess then are in an awful mess now, although now they're not shooting at each other, except for here and there. But they're prepared to shoot, and they tell each other so.

Overwhelming Lesson
There's no solution in sight. As President Kennedy said when he took office, there may be none in our lifetime.

In these 20 years the most overwhelming lesson earth people have learned is how to kill themselves quicker and easier. They've graduated from TNT bombs to nuclear ones, from hitting a railroad center to wiping out cities. Only an outer-space man, with an upside-down look at the earth, could appreciate how down-side up it is.

Old friends have become new enemies. Old enemies are new friends. Capitalism and communism, which had no trouble teaming up to wipe out fascism, now, when there's no one else to fight, can't bear each other.

Half the history of mankind was spent in learning how to get out of caves and live in the open. Now mankind is building new caves, called bomb shelters, in his backyard, just in case.

Russia, which proclaims its communism, isn't Communist at all and probably never will be. Communism means giving to each according to his needs. In Russia there's a caste system, with the elite living highest off the hog.

The Soviets, who call themselves a people's democracy, don't practice it and don't want it. They don't permit the people free elections or, for that matter, anything to say about their government. The United States, which prides itself on its free enterprise system, practices it only in a limited way and it isn't entirely free at all.

The government has to bail out the farmers with price supports, helps various enterprises with subsidies, puts up tariff walls because it dreads outside competition and puts all kinds of restrictions on business.

Slavery of A Sort
And this country, where every 4th of July orators pay homage to the Declaration of Independence which says all men are equal, had slavery for almost half its existence and still discriminates against people, and segregates them, because of race.

Earth people, seen in a 20-year backward look, felt at the time that in defeating Hitler's Axis that they were cleansing the world, giving it a new and innocent birth.

But, as events showed, they only cleared the decks for a long-

A Discussion on Urban Problems

A 2-day conference on how to acquire open space in cities and how to preserve landscape beauty and recreational resources in the country will be held in Madison, Dec. 13 and 14. The sessions are sponsored by the Department of Resource Development.

The first day's conference meetings are intended primarily for state technical personnel. The second day's meeting is planned for elected officials and local and other government personnel. The meetings also are open to the public.

Speakers at the meeting will include William H. Whythe, Jr., of New York who is a former assistant editor of Fortune Magazine, who now spends most of his time studying, writing and speaking on urban problems. Also on the program will be Arthur Davis, Washington, D. C.,

Cuban Refugees

The Senate Refugees Subcommittee headed by Chairman Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., is engaged in hearings this week to determine what is to be done about the 120,000 refugees from the Castro regime who have come to the United States since January, 1959.

It is estimated that 60 to 70 per cent of the refugees are concentrated in the Miami area and that almost two-thirds are jobless. Approximately 26,000 are on public assistance in Dade County, Fla., alone and the total is increasing by 4,000 per month.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare is drawing on its contingency funds to about $12 million for its Cuban program. The welfare workers are running a registration center in the Miami area where refugees are examined and classified as to their capabilities. The state of Florida is anticipating giving some financial assistance. The HEW funds are being used to aid Dade County schools meet the additional cost caused by the needs of the Cuban children. Some effort is being made to bring about resettlement in other areas with the assistance of private agencies. Some funds are being loaned to needy college students and retraining is being offered doctors and lawyers.

Upset Dinner Party

As the battle for the Congo goes on, apparently interminably, there is no clear cut matter of right and wrong. The anarchy in the Congo government indicates that it is foolish for the United Nations to try to force Katanga into something where there is no sound or able leadership. But Katanga is not a land of justice and civilization either.

Deserters from the Katanga army have been brutally beaten and summarily executed. A United Nations soldier has been recently murdered and another kidnapped and presumed to be dead. Two United Nations officials, George Ivan Smith and Brian Urquhart, were hauled from a private dinner party and severely beaten. One was rescued by the United States consul in the area who rushed into the fray and managed to drive the injured man away in his car. The other was

Accident Reporting

The most important factor in deciding how to prevent accidents is to learn how, when and why they are caused. Wisconsin will have taken an important step in securing this information when the uniform accident report system goes into effect Jan. 1, 1962.

Under a new law created by the 1961 legislature, a committee composed of the Motor Vehicle Commissioner, a traffic patrol officer and members of sheriffs' and deputy sheriffs' associations, the county traffic patrol association, chiefs of police association, state bar and Wisconsin Council of Safety representatives have been busy for some time drafting the new form. This committee had the assistance of representatives of the National Safety Council, the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety, the University of Wisconsin and the State Highway Commission. The new form worked out is reported to conform substantially to the recommended

What Others are Saying

JFK's Approval of Air Program Encouraging

From The St. Louis Post-Dispatch

President Kennedy's approval of the Project Beacon program for modernizing the air traffic control system is encouraging. For more than 10 years, federal efforts to keep pace on the airways with the rapid growth of commercial aviation have been far from sufficient. Now Mr. Kennedy has handed back a report of an eight-man task force to Najeeb Halaby, chief of the Federal Aviation Agency, and told him to implement it with all possible speed.

The step-by-step implementation which is indicated will lead eventually to the substitution of radar for eyes, computers for brains and radio signals for word of mouth. Yet the human controller, having his bookkeeping and complex calculating done for him through automation, still will have the final responsibility. The first step in lightening the nerve-racking load he now carries apparently is to be development of an automatic altimeter radio transmitter.

Plane's Altitude
Each plane under traffic control would carry such a device to radio the plane's altitude to a control center. This data would enter a computer and appear in a little block of light moving on the radar scope under the plane's blip. Such a device might have prevented the collision over New York City last Dec. 16 in who is director of the federal open space program of the Housing and Home Finance Agency. This agency pays up to 30 per cent of the cost of cities in acquiring land to provide open space. It will be Davis' first public discussion of the new program.

There will be many others of interest on the program including K. H. Clark, planning director of Madison, Gov. Gaylord A. Nelson, Jacob Beuscher, professor of law, Philip Lewis of the Department of Resource Development, and many others. Green Bay and many other cities in this vicinity are investigating the possibilities of securing financial aid for revitalizing ancient sections of the cities. This meeting would seem to offer an opportunity to get considerable information with a minimum of effort and in a very brief time.

However, the program is not always too well received. As an example, 13,000 Cuban families refused opportunities to leave the Miami area. This of course is a tremendous block in the way of the resettlement program.

President Kennedy has a bill before Congress for over-all refugee aid including help to stranded Cubans. Two different versions of this proposal were approved by both houses but the House-Senate conferees were unable to agree on the final form of the bill and it was held over until next year.

The Cubans apparently have no intention of becoming permanent American citizens. They have made several efforts to set up a government in exile in Florida but American laws forbid operation of a provisional government on United States soil. Likewise the refusal of the Cubans to leave the Miami area and build homes elsewhere indicates that they have strong hopes of returning to their native island at the end of the present emergency. While this attitude has made it more difficult for American government to handle the situation, it nevertheless may have contributed something toward making the Cuban exiles more acceptable here than they otherwise might be.

dragged to a Katanga army camp and rescued eventually by the Katanga Foreign Minister only after the U.N. threatened to send Gurka troops into the camp. Reportedly an attempt to free the man by Moise Tshombe's own palace guard failed.

Ironically the dinner party was in honor of United States Sen. Thomas Dodd, one of the most severe critics of the United Nations action in trying to force Katanga into the Congo federation. Sen. Dodd has made a series of speeches both in the Senate and out about the dangers of Communism in the Congo and the violence. It will be interesting to see what he has to say now about Katanga.

But the incidents only go to illustrate the state of chaos that exists in the Congo even in Katanga which is supposed to be the best policed area. If Tshombe can't control his troops, who can?

uniform accident report of the National Safety Council.

The bickering and quarreling which has characterized the relationship among the various traffic enforcement units in Wisconsin has in the past prevented such ordinary cooperation as agreeing upon a uniform traffic accident report form. Consequently the success of this committee in bringing out a form which is not only acceptable to all of the Wisconsin traffic enforcement groups, but also largely in conformity with the National Safety Council's standards, may be regarded as a major accomplishment. The new form will make an important contribution itself. However, the circumstances of its creation may point the way for further cooperation between the enforcement agencies and that, if it comes about, perhaps will be even more important to good law enforcement on the highway than the form itself.

which 134 persons died. Unfortunately, the device, which is to substitute for the long-planned three-dimensional radar, is not yet perfected. The report assumes it will be 18 months before this transmitter can be installed for experimentation.

Minimizing Danger
But there appears to be no need for such delay in obtaining better traffic routings with present equipment. Proposals to this end would put many more planes under control from the ground and minimize the dangerous mixing of controlled and uncontrolled flying. Nor should such time be required to set up corridors at major terminals for separation of fast, medium and slow traffic.

Some assurance can be taken from the statement that the traffic control system is not overloaded despite its inefficiency. But this is seasoned with warnings that the amount of flying under strict ground supervision will increase about 300 per cent by 1975.

'Get Goldwater' Appears to be Principal Aim of U. S. Liberals

BY MORRIE RYSKIND

Every organized group, be it the PTA or the Mafia, has an annual plan known as a Project. And the Liberal Project for 1962 is already obvious, because some of the eager beavers at the helm have been rushing the season. It will have a long preamble, no doubt, and will be swathed in noble cliches, but it can be stated in two words: Get Goldwater.

For the Arizonan is unquestionably the biggest roadblock the Fabians have encountered in their hitherto victorious assault on the bastions of both major parties, making them so alike in political principle that the quadrennial presidential race has been reduced to a mere popularity contest. But Barry has proven to be a Maginot Line that the liberal panzer divisions couldn't by-pass, and Something Had to Be Done, obviously.

Book Successful
The first stratagem tried was the cold shoulder one of ignoring him and pretending he didn't exist. But after the young upstart's book, published by an obscure firm, had sold over 250,000 copies, even the N.Y. Times was forced to review it. Not on the front page of its book section, as it did with Lattimore, of course, but some short shrift in a relatively inconspicuous spot. The reviewer, as I recall it, ranked the volume a little below "Peyton Place." I mean, below the railing I would give to "Peyton Place."

But Barry's book — and his influence — still kept mounting, and when the professors began complaining that the younger generation was actually quoting Goldwater instead of Keynes in the term papers, it was obvious that sterner measures were needed.

Try New Attack
Whereupon, the liberal commentators began writing essays bemoaning the fact that genuine American conservatism had died with Bob Taft, the revered statesman they had somehow neglected to revere while he was alive. The present conservatives, unfortunately, were all mentally retarded creatures who were as out of place as a dinosaur in the jet age. And, of them all, the lowest man on the totem pole was the Goldwater brand of conservative.

Again, no sale. The Goldwater rallies grew bigger and bigger, and the Younger Set came in droves, ignoring the far more important talks made by Wayne Morse and Eleanor Roosevelt.

But the boys still had another weapon in their semantic arsenal — after all, they had in a generation appropriated the word "liberal" and changed its historic meaning from a fighter against centralized power to a worshiper of the autocratic welfare state — and suddenly the senator from Arizona was being assailed as a "radical conservative." That's a little hard to figure, but, if you remember your "Alice in Wonderland," it may help. "When I use a word," said Humpty Dumpty, "it means just what I choose it to mean — neither more nor less."

Blame for WW I
Even that slid off Barry's back. So now they've put Walter Lippmann — no less — to work rewriting history and claiming it was the Goldwater Republicans who forced Woodrow Wilson to continue World War I when he wanted a negotiated peace without victory; they then dictated the terms of the Versailles Treaty and consequently gave us Hitler. Let's see, that was 1917-18, and, while I always suspected Barry was a juvenile delinquent, I didn't know he'd started that young.

And it was the Goldwater school, Mr. Lippmann contends, who made the mistake of demanding unconditional surrender and harsh peace terms in World War II. That ain't the way I heard it. It was FDR and Truman who demanded unconditional surrender; it was

Looking Backward

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Dec. 7, 1861.

A naval force, auxiliary to and connected with army movements on the Mississippi River and its tributaries, has been organized and is under the command of Flag Officer Andrew H. Foote, who is rendering efficient service in that quarter.

The steamers which have been built or purchased for this service by the War Department are of formidable character and are manned by a class of superior seamen and Western boatmen, who in the preliminary skirmishes already have done good service.

There is every confidence that they will acquit themselves with credit in the future. (From report of Secretary of the Navy Welles.)

Potomac Fever — by Fletcher Knebel

The Justice Department seeks indictment of the Communist Party. Trouble with the Communists, they insist on walking out on everything but the United States.

It's rumored the bulldozer people will honor Interior Secretary as "Earthmover of the Year." No man in Washington has made so many mountains out of molehills.

Headline: "Col. Glenn Tapped by NASA for Space Shot." Typographical error. It should have read: "Col. Glenn Trapped by NASA for Space Shot."

One old fellow says there's nothing new about the dance, the Twist. He used to go through the same motions every spring just before shedding his heavy underwear after a long winter.

Q—How should a stranger in town pick a physician? A—call the town's leading doctor—and find out the name of his doctor.

Harry Truman says the Eisenhower Administration put "public relations above public service." The Kennedy people have restored public relations to what they believe is its rightful place—above everything.

Henry Morgenthau who presented the famous plan to make Germany forever a small agricultural nation; and it was the bloodthirsty New Dealers who wanted us to hang the Japanese emperor as a war criminal. Not a Goldwater conservative in the lot.

And the one man in public life who had the courage to speak out against the incredible perversion of our legal heritage in the introduction of ex post facto laws at the Nuremberg Trials was Bob Taft, who came a little nearer to being a Goldwater Republican than a Lippmann Liberal.

But this is war and anything goes. Take my advice, Barry, and be careful crossing streets during this liberal onslaught. Have somebody taste your food first, and don't smile at any woman you can't identify as an immediate relative. In short, button up your overcoat and take good care of yourself — you belong to a lot of us.

No 'Easy' Cure

From The Alabama Journal

After 2,000 years of effort, no cure for a hangover has ever been found, according to scientists from Finland and Sweden, speaking in a California medical symposium. Scientists are funny, not to know what others know so well. The cure for a hangover is simplicity itself. Do not indulge in the things that cause a hangover.

Parties Won't Reveal Tax Revision Leanings

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Assemblymen are playing a game of watchful waiting as they ponder Gov. Nelson's final offer on tax revision, some thing that strongly resembles the engagement of a cat and a mouse. It would be easier to analyze the contest, however, if the identities of the cat and the mouse could be determined.

Wyngaard

On the face of it, the governor's bill is in difficulty because of the reluctance of the assembly Democrats to support it.

Assemblyman Huber, the Democratic floorleader, has been unwilling to count votes in his secret caucus, for the evident reason that he will expose the fact that only a handful of the minority party members are clearly willing to vote for the program evolved by their own Democratic governor. The caucuses are secret in the Wisconsin capitol, with respect to the rights of newspapermen and the public to look on. They are not secret in a practical way. Within moments of the break-up of the strategy meetings of either party, the rival party has been informed of the essential facts.

GOP UNSURE TOO

But it cannot be assumed that the Republicans, as a caucus, are committed to the governor's compromise. They have been as chary about a nose count as have been the Democrats, for about the same reasons.

It is a fair assumption that a minority of the Republicans would be willing to go along with Nelson — a minority large enough to provide a successful coalition if the Democrats produced a fair share of their own members to back up their man in the executive office.

But the Republicans don't care to show their hands, until they are convinced that the Democrats will play the governor's game. If the bill is to be passed, the Republicans are saying in effect, it must be passed with Democratic help.

Democrats are quite obviously dissatisfied with the governor's bill, for a variety of reasons, some of them involving its merits, some of them deriving from less worthy motives.

It is a fair guess that they are hoping it will be defeated, but that they are trying to maneuver the Republicans into doing the deed.

FUNNY BUSINESS

It is a curious kind of a political game, and not an especially worthy one, remembering the gravity of the issue that is involved.

It illustrates the difficulties that result from an indecisive election, when the people insist upon dividing power between the political parties, and when the political parties are so evenly balanced on the record that they are wary and suspicious and unsure of themselves.

If there is a real stalemate, and embarrassing financial complications result from it, whose fault will it be?

The voter who may be concerned about such consequences is not likely to single out individual legislators for the blame. The individual is virtually anonymous in such situations. He has the protection of numbers, as some of the Milwaukee Democratic members are aware.

But it is possible that the Republican party as an institution, with its adherents in control of the legislature, would be blamed. It also is possible, and perhaps more likely, that the principal blame would be assessed against the Democratic governor. Voters tend to regard the governor as the boss man, and to assume that if there is serious trouble, he is the man responsible.

It is futile, in politics and in other human affairs, to lament what might have been. But there are many persons watching from the sidelines in this sadly inconclusive contest who wonder what might have been had Gov. Nelson believed that the Republicans had the power to pass their original sales tax bill, and had begun bargaining with them a little earlier on modifications and concessions.

What Others are Saying

Necessity Realized but Distaste Still Lingers

From the Sheridan Wyoming

An international meteorological satellite workshop is currently being held in Washington. During the meeting the U.S. will make available information on virtually every facet of its weather satellite program. This information will go to 28 nations.

Most galling is the fact the Soviet Union is one of the 28. No doubt this willingness to share one-half year's experimentation is the "peaceful" way of doing things, but it is still galling.

Even though U.S. weathermen say there is little to fear from disclosure of the information, it still doesn't set right. The Soviet Union and this country long have freely exchanged weather data available from surface observation, and the exchange includes observations from Red China. This country's ability to predict the fallout pattern of the current Soviet nuclear tests in the Arctic depends in part on daily weather reports and observations made available by Russia.

But it still remains. Soviet meteorologists will have the benefit of information that cost this nation millions of dollars and thousands of man-hours. Three Tiros weather satellites, equipped with television cameras capable of transmitting cloud - cover pictures back to earth, have been launched by the United States since April 1960. Results have exceeded all expectations and some data now are being used in actual forecasting.

We suppose there is no hope of learning to live together in this world unless a free exchange of information like this is made possible. We suppose that the more that nations isolate themselves from each other the greater the chance of war.

But still it is hard to swallow a situation in which you give something to a polecat nation that tomorrow may stab you in the back.

Food Stamp Plan Called Big Success

President May Call for Expansion to New Areas

BY JAMES MCCARTNEY
Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON — The Kennedy administration's experiment with a food stamp plan for the needy—a program eliciting memories of new deal days—is being hailed here as a roaring success.

There appears to be a good chance that the president will ask congress for permission to expand it to new areas.

Pilot programs, now underway in eight selected areas from coast to coast, are being credited with:

Improving diets for families on relief, the aged, the blind and children whose fathers are absent.

Saving businesses that otherwise might have foundered, particularly grocery stores.

Pumping new dollars into communities with substantial and chronic unemployment problems.

Reports Few Complaints

So far, at least, according to Howard Davis, head of the agriculture marketing administration's food distribution service, communities involved have been enthusiastic and there have been few complaints.

The plan is designed to put the nation's enormous agricultural production to work to provide better diets for those in need.

Essentially it is a substitute for a program of direct distribution of surplus food to the needy that has been operating since 1935. The direct distribution program today is providing food to about 6,000,000 persons.

Under the food stamp program, however, families or others in need can buy food they want through regular commercial channels—rather than standing in line to pick up what the government hands out.

Thus new markets are created for agricultural surpluses—and families can retain a semblance of dignity in the process.

At the same time grocery and other commercial interests, in areas hit hard by chronic unemployment, benefit from a new flow of federal dollars.

The system works like this:

Public welfare agencies determine who can qualify for stamps according to need. Those eligible would include persons already on welfare roles, perhaps those with dependent children, the aged, the disabled, the blind or the unemployed.

Persons eligible can then buy special food stamp coupons which permit them to buy most of the food carried on grocers' shelves.

They pay for the stamps according to a formula worked out by the welfare agencies which reflects income and the size of the family.

Maxie Rosenbloom, Former light-heavyweight champion, tells police how a young man with a shotgun walked into his hotel room and tried to assassinate him Tuesday night. Maxie said, "then I smack this guy and as he goes down he drops the gun." The intruder eluded two bellboys and fled through the rear entrance.

In a typical case a family of four might buy $10 worth of stamps for $6. The stamps are worth $10 at any grocery store participating in the program, but cost the buyer only $6.

The grocer then turns in the stamps to the government and Illinois, for example, has a monthly income of $175. In October the family bought $108 worth of stamps, paying $66.

Another family of four in the same area has a monthly income of only $55. This family bought $58 worth of coupons for $18.

The program in the eight pilot areas today costs the government about $1,000,000 a month.

President Kennedy advocated the establishment of a food stamp program during the election campaign last fall as a means of "permitting unemployed and impoverished Americans to have a healthy and varied diet."

The program was also recommended by a 23-man task force appointed by the president-elect to study problems of depressed areas. The task force was headed by Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill.), the president launched the program on Feb. 1-10 days after he assumed office.

To Your Good Health

Desensitization Treatment Stops Histamine Headaches

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
"Dear Dr. Molner: I wonder if the trouble that I have had for seven or eight years is a histamine headache. It is always on the left side, close to my eye."

"It occurs about once a week or so. The eyes appear red and look bad during the headache. These nearly always being at night, around 2 to 5 a.m., and continue until 2 or 3 in the afternoon."

"I take aspirin but don't know if it does any good. If it is a histamine headache, are injections necessary for each attack, or could it be cured completely?"

—Mrs. E. H."

That's a good description of the histamine type of headache—one-sided, localized behind the eye, eyes red and watering, onset of the attack coming at night. The headache is the body's reaction to its inability to tolerate the release of histamine by the body's cells. It is a reaction which occurs in some people, just the release of histamine by the as others may react by having "hay fever" when pollen causes liberation of excess histamine.

Desensitizations

The treatment for histamine headaches is a desensitization process—injecting very dilute amounts of histamine, giving the system a chance to develop more tolerance to it.

Then the amounts are gradually increased until the body can tolerate, without having a headache, the quantities of histamine that are encountered.

No, you do NOT have the injections at the time of each headache. By the time the headache has started, it is too late. The purpose is to prevent, not cure, the headaches.

It may, of course, be necessary to repeat the course of treatment if histamine tolerance declines and the headaches start again.

Uses Black Pepper

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have a 14-year-old daughter who uses so much black pepper I'm sure it will harm her. When she has an egg you can't even see it for the seasoning. —Mrs. J. L."

Pepper, cinnamon, horseradish—all the condiments add piquancy to food in appropriate amounts. Overused, they destroy flavor. Most condiments, in excess, can cause some irritation of the stomach, especially black pepper.

Your daughter has a distorted sense of flavor. Probably she'll get over it—and it's not unlikely (this is characteristic of teen-agers) that she's using more pepper than she really wants or likes, just because you tell her not to. It's the way of chillun. What MIGHT impress her is the fact that people who know their way around in the smart restaurants are very careful NOT to use too much seasoning because it destroys the true flavor of good food.

Permanent Cure

"Dear Dr. Molner: May I have some information on a condition called leucorrhea: Is there any possibility of permanent cure? —Mrs. A. K."

Yes, there is most certainly a possibility of permanent cure. It depends, however, on finding and treating the cause, and causes are not the same.

The term means a whitish vaginal discharge. It is invariably due to infection of the cervix (the neck of the womb or uterus) which projects into the vaginal canal.

But beyond that, there is considerable variation. It may be caused by some infection which becomes established following tearing of the tissue in childbirth.

Or it may be vaginitis—that is, an infection caused by some sort of fungus or yeast. Or it may be a symptom of venereal disease in women.

Clearing up the infected cervix will always help tremendously and may put a complete end to the trouble. I must warn however, that fungus or yeast infections may be very stubborn.

Great Changes Took Place in Past 20 Years

er and perhaps more deadly struggle between the West and communism.

On Pearl Harbor Day in 1941 communism was limited to about 140 million, almost all within the Russian frontiers. Today, although Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson says this country is winning the cold war, there are one billion people, one-third the earth's population, living under communism.

Struggle Began

This struggle between capitalism and communism began before their joint war against fascism was over — when Stalin's armies took and held the satellite nations in Europe.

Within five years of the war's end—by 1950—the West had set up a new military alliance, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, against its old friend and the new enemy, Russia, which set up the Warsaw Pact, a Communist military alliance, against the West.

In old-fashioned wars like the last big one, which stretched over six years, there were 37½ million casualties, at least 8½ million of them killed. But now scientists debate whether in a new war a nuclear attack will wipe out 50 million.

True, there's a lot more of everything and everyone. In this country 20 years ago there were only 133 million people and 170 million in Russia. But now there are 185 million here and 220 million there.

The Russians are ahead in space development—they've hit the moon with a rocket and sent two men into orbit around the earth—but this country is trying to catch up, and may well do so.

Whether any of this will add to man's ability to get along with himself on earth is highly doubtful unless, in his further interstellar explorations, he gets into a war with another planet and has to team up here, perhaps only temporarily, to survive.

And, if the inability of communism and capitalism to get along on this planet were not enough, 42 new nations have come into existence since Pearl Harbor, which just adds to the confusion.

Still, there is still some consolation from these 20 years. The Department of Health, Education and Welfare says an American's life expectancy in that time has risen from 64 to 69 years, which is nice to think about, if he can make it.

Air Attacks and Mortar Fire in Katanga Strife

"The hour is grave, the moment has come. Arm yourself, sons and daughters of Katanga, arm yourself wherever you are, in your homes, your fields, your villages. Take up your spears and arrows and fight."

Treachery Alleged

Each side accused the other of treachery Tuesday in the outbreak of fighting. The conflict followed a U.N. Security Council order to the U.N. Command to employ force if necessary to oust mercenaries in Katanga. The council has adopted a policy against Katanga's secession from the Congo.

The United Nations charged that Katangans secretly prepared a sneak attack while agreeing to move roadblocks erected against U.N. movements.

In Paris, Katanga President Moise Tshombe said Foreign Minister Evariste Kimba had informed U.N. troops had attacked Katanga forces in Manono, 275 miles north of Elisabethville, and the new enemy, Russia, which set up the Warsaw Pact, a Communist military alliance, against the West.

40 Fatalities Reported

More than 40 dead were reported from the fighting so far, but there was no possibility of an accurate count.

Heavy fighting was reported around the old airport just northwest of the city, where U.N. troops apparently were trying to clear out dug-in Katangan paratroopers. Correspondents David Halberstam of the New York Times and Virgil Berger of Reuters were holed up in a villa near there, cut off since Tuesday afternoon.

Late reports indicated that the center of fighting was moving nearer to Elisabethville.

Sporadic rifle and mortar fire had continued through the night, breaking an uneasy silence which fell on Elisabethville early in the evening after the new outbreak of hostilities.

Fire On Ambulances

The International Red Cross representative charged that U.N. troops were firing on Red Cross ambulances. A local Red Cross official, Andre Roey, reported a mortar shell hit a truck evacuating women and children from a police camp and that two children were killed and 14 women injured.

The Katanga Red Cross appealed for a short armistice to evacuate the dead and wounded, but there was no immediate response from the U.N. command.

Five hundred Swedish reinforcements reportedly arrived in Elisabethville Tuesday night, bringing the total Swedish contingent in the area to two battalions. The United Nations has about 6,000 troops in all of Katanga. The Katanga government's total force of police and soldiers number about 12,000.

Tax Portioning Program May Not be Changed

at a Tuesday caucus will have the governor's endorsement when it is printed—would scuttle that position and apply only to about $50,000,000 in new revenues from the proposed selective sales taxes.

It would set a 20 mill equalized tax levy as the basis for eligibility of the new money, and would provide about 44 per cent reimbursement for all taxes beyond that rate from the state treasury.

Thus virtually all of the communities in the state would get some new money, but those with the highest tax rates would get most.

Minor Changes Voted

Significantly, the so-called "tax islands" against which Nelson has campaigned would not be affected adversely.

The Assembly adopted two minor amendments to Nelson's bill Tuesday. One would extend the three per cent sales tax to meals, food products and beverages sold for off-premise consumption. The other specifies that the sales tax on automobiles be collected by the dealer.

Amendments laid aside would provide for a sales tax on savings and loan institutions and banks.

Exempt business machines from the sales tax.

Increase state aid to schools by $15.5 million a year.

Hearing Date on Police Probe in Stevens Point

STEVENS POINT (AP) — Portage County Judge James H. Levi said Tuesday a John Doe hearing to investigate "certain alleged activities and conduct of the Stevens Point Police Department" will be resumed Dec. 14.

The hearing opened Monday before Levi. It is being conducted by Dist. Atty. John Haka.

The hearing began after Sheriff Emil Meshak said he received three anonymous telephone calls about breakins in the Stevens Point area.

Police Chief Elmer L. Zeaman declined to confirm or deny that a member of the department had resigned. He said there was "no statement to make."

Haka said two witnesses were called Monday as the probe opened. The district attorney said he had prepared subpoenas for about 30 witnesses.

The president's committee also noted Tuesday that Employers Mutuals has promoted the handicapped program by explaining to clients that workmen's compensation insurance is based only on the hazard of the work in which a company engages and on its accident rate, not on the condition of the firm's employees.

'Fallout Village' Is Planned for Tulsa

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—A group of private investors announced plans Tuesday for a $2.5-million "fallout village" in Tulsa.

A spokesman said plans call for construction of a 1,000-foot-long shelter with 831 family units accommodating up to 4,400 persons.

Tariff negotiations under the reciprocal trade agreements law now are limited to a tit-for-tat easing of barriers on single goods that law expires next June.

Cook County Sheriff's Office Has Western Task

ROSELLE, Ill. (AP) — An alarmed housewife telephoned Cook County sheriff's police, saying: "There's a horse looking at me through my front porch window."

A second phone call, from a horse trainer near Roselle, informed police that two brown mares had just run away from a farm.

Two shaken motorists told of being forced off the road by two brown horses galloping toward their autos.

Deputies spotted the fugitives in a field and roped them.

Republicans Open Drive Against Gilbert Rohde of Farmers Union

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — Republicans have opened a drive to defeat President Gilbert Rohde of the Wisconsin Farmers Union as a candidate for a seat on the University of Wisconsin board of regents.

The signal for the attack in the state senate, which must confirm Gov. Nelson's nominee for the post, came Tuesday when Sen. Walter Hollander of Fond du Lac County, a Republican and a farmer, assailed Rohde as a man who has a "socialistic" philosophy about agriculture and governmental farm programs.

Hollander made his attack at a hearing before the state senate committee on education, which deferred action on a recommendation about Rohde's candidacy. Staff members of the Republican state headquarters sat through the hearing, as reports circulated in the capitol that the Democratic senate will probably reject Rohde when the nomination comes up for a vote, pending next week.

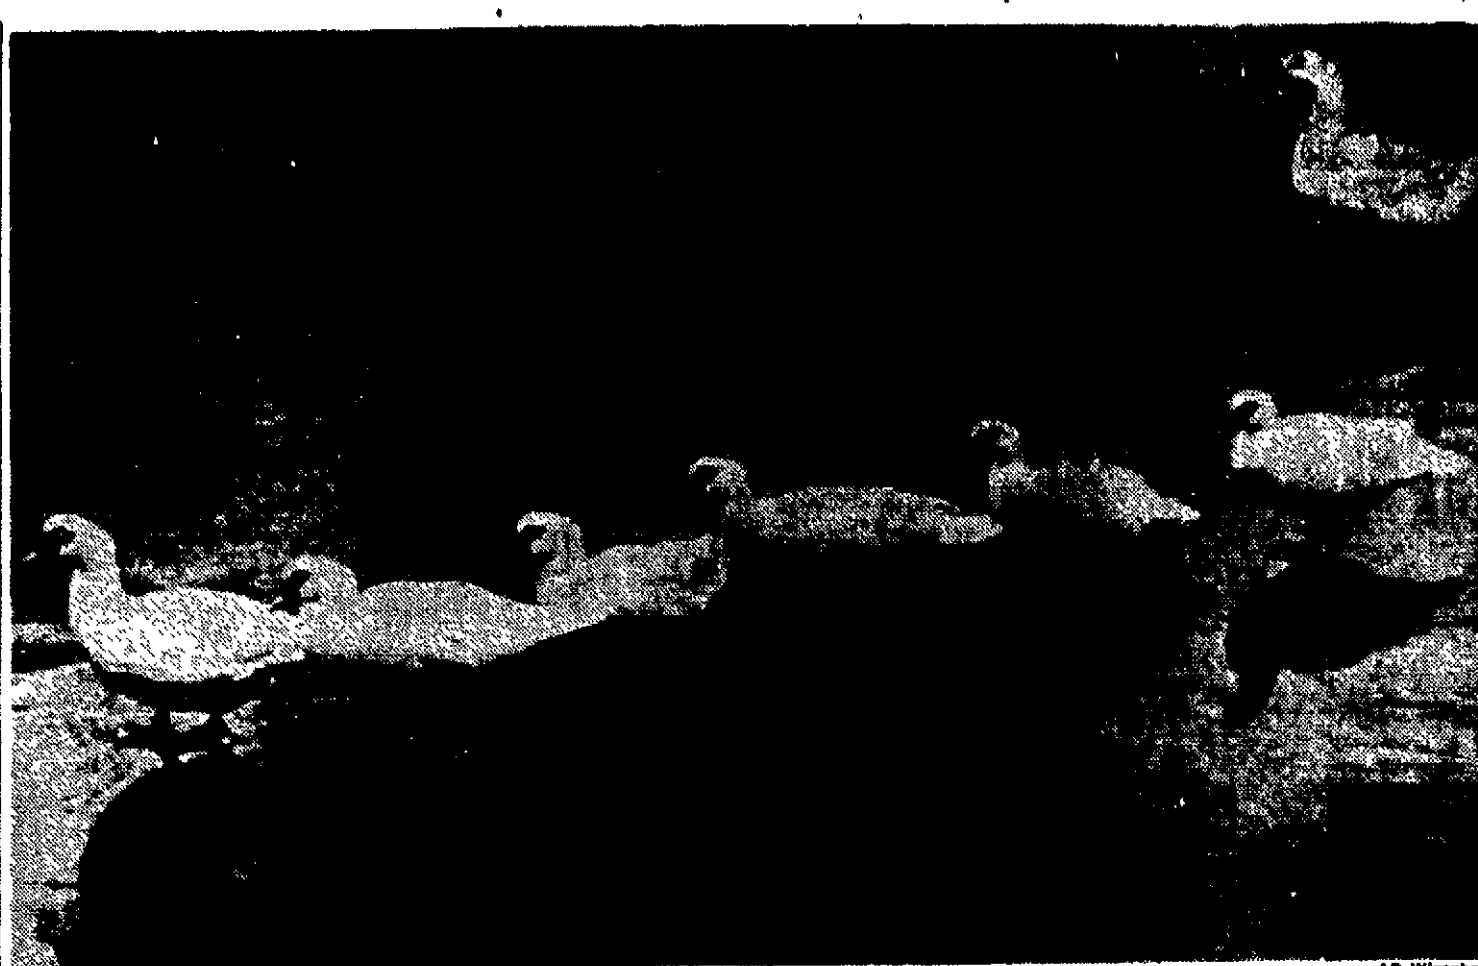

Rohde, a 47 year old Clark County farmer, said little when he appeared on his own behalf and in response to some questions from Sen. Peter Carr of Janesville, committee chairman, remarked merely that he hesitates to prejudge University policy issues with which he may be concerned if he becomes a regent.

The professional farmer and cooperative leader asserted, however, that he believes the role of the physical sciences in higher education may have been over-emphasized in the past, and that there must be more emphasis in teaching and research in the social sciences in the future.

Rohde is Gov. Nelson's fourth nominee to the board. Nelson has said that he is trying to establish a board with a "liberal viewpoint." Rohde identified himself as a Democrat under questioning yesterday by Sen. William Moser of Milwaukee, senate Democratic leader, but he said there is nothing "socialistic about being a Democrat."

Moser heckled Hollander severely, until Carr ended their exchange. Moser asked who had written for Hollander the long complaint about Rohde's philosophy and Hollander said he was willing to call it his own report.

Carr ended their exchange and that he had "full knowledge" of the complaint. Moser asked who had written for Hollander the long complaint about Rohde's philosophy and Hollander said he was willing to call it his own report.

Although We're Not Sure, this mother duck, overseeing her six ducklings as they begin an exploration of their flooded barnyard, could be warning them of the dangers of common cold from wet feet. The fowl were shot on a farm in Southern Illinois after a late-season rain.

... a highly partisan self-interest voting bloc for past campaign services and political support," said the Hollander statement.

Rohde's seating would jeopardize the "objectives and principles of higher education as it has been conducted in Wisconsin up to now," he continued.

The Farmers' union program under Rohde's command is "completely contrary to every concept

Philip Kuehn Hits 'Big Government'

STEVENS POINT (AP)—Philip G. Kuehn, possible Republican candidate for governor in 1962, said Tuesday "advocates of big government want to take America backward instead of forward."

"The entire movement of history has been away from government control and toward individual freedom," Kuehn, of Whitefish Bay, told a joint meeting of service clubs. He continued: "Those who want the government to make all the decisions are not advocating anything new—they are moving society backwards."

"They would attempt to solve the problems of the 1960s with programs that failed in the 1930s. They would regiment farmers with the same controls that collapsed agricultural economy in ancient Egypt."

Guatemalan Chief Has Strong Support

Like Truman, Nobody Is for Ydigoras, but the Populace

BY GERRY ROBICHAUD
Chicago Daily News Service

GUATEMALA CITY — It could be said of President Miguel Ydigoras Funes, as it was of Harry S. Truman, that nobody is for him but the people. Yet some of his high-level political enemies earnestly believe that the best thing that could happen to Guatemala would be to overthrow Ydigoras or otherwise force him out of power — the sooner the better.

There is as is usually the case, much talk of revolution or an anti-government coup in this troubled Central American republic. It's highly doubtful however that such an adventure could succeed because Ydigoras has more guns on his side than any opposition group could ever hope to muster.

Rebellious Talk

Most of the dissident or rebellious talk that you hear is in this capital. But Guatemala City, with only about 1-10 of the nation's estimated 4,000,000 people, is not Guatemala.

The city, however, has been a vital and often controlling point in the violent changes in regimes that have taken place in the past.

Normally when such events occurred the city represented the mood of a majority of Guatemalans. That does not seem to be the case today.

Out in the hinterland, with its overwhelmingly unlettered Indian population, Ydigoras is, as he has been for some time, pretty much of a popular hero.

This is not because he has done much for the Indian masses — he hasn't and no other president

The inevitable restlessness, dissatisfaction and resentment generated in the peon by his underprivileged status is not directed in Guatemala against Ydigoras, whom the peon knows, but against the other politicians whom he doesn't know.

That is not to say that if Ydigoras were suddenly removed from power that the Indian peons would do anything about it, for the truth is that they couldn't and nobody knows it better than they do.

What Ydigoras has done, however, is to spend weekend after weekend in the past few years venturing forth to the peon villages, assiduously cultivating the trust and friendship of his untutored constituents.

This is an easy and natural thing for him to do for he is an outgoing witty and earthy individual with a genuine liking for people. Further, he has the born politician's irresistible desire to maneuver them about by playing every psychological trick he knows to win them to his side.

After centuries of deprivation and of being treated like outcasts, the Guatemalan peons don't aspire to great riches or power but they are flatly, "a lot of people may think they Ydigoras is a damned fool or a grandfathers recognition that the 65-year-old president has accorded them

Huge Bombs Could Jam Communications

Soviet Weapons Developed to Knock Out Our System, Says Publication

NEW YORK—There is evidence that the purpose behind Russia's explosion of its 50-megaton-plus super nuclear bomb was to develop a weapon that could jam U. S. communications and radar at the crucial moment, Electronics Magazine says.

Such a weapon could affect our communications and detection systems. Significantly, proponents of U. S. atmospheric testing of nuclear weapons say that tests in the atmosphere by the U. S. are essential if we are also to develop weapons able to jam enemy communications.

Said an East German Communist radio broadcast regarding Russia's testing of super-bombs: "It is now dawning on them (the Western allies) that the USSR, with one single nuclear weapon of 100 megatons, can, for all practical purposes, put the entire electronic system of the United States out of action."

Project Argus

Feasibility of jamming with bombs was first indicated by Project Argus in 1958, when two nuclear warheads were exploded by the U. S. high above Johnston Island in the Pacific. A report to Congress said the blasts caused outages of several hours for most radio communications within a few hundred miles of the island, at various periods, for about a day.

The Russian bombs have been "dirty" ones—discharging a large amount of radioactive debris. For the purpose of electronic jamming, dirtier bombs are apparently better, Electronics says.

High concentrations of electron particles in radiation belts in the upper atmosphere can jam radio and radar signals. Particles in these radiation-loaded belts would absorb radio-frequency energy causing a blackout in radio communications or preventing radar systems from detecting targets clearly.

Reflect Radio Waves

These factors also indicate why Communist propaganda broadcasts may be vehemently objecting to the U. S. Project West Ford, Electronics says.

This is the project recently undertaken to place a band of millions of tiny needle-like antennas in a space orbit around the earth. One purpose of the project is to find out whether long-distance radio communications systems can use such a needle belt to reflect radio waves over the horizon.

Som U. S. long-distance military communications are over-the-horizon scatter systems which depend on the earth's upper atmosphere for radio transmission. The needle belt would provide an artificial reflecting medium in space, thus freeing long-distance systems from their present dependence on the stability of atmospheric radio transmission properties.

Four Trujillos Plan To Reside in Spain

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Four members of the family of Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo, the assassinated dictator, made plans Tuesday to leave for Spain.

It was reported that Orlando Trujillo, his wife and daughter, Neida, and Flinio Trujillo, have purchased one-way tickets to Madrid aboard Guest Airways and are scheduled to leave Friday.

Chinese Threaten Indian Frontier

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Communist China has threatened to invade India's northeast frontier if India does not halt military activity in border territories more than 1,000 miles to the northwest, Prime Minister Nehru told Parliament today.

"Obviously," Nehru told a questioner, "that is done, we shall resist and retaliate."

Nehru said Peiping in a letter received Dec. 2 complained that India was "stepping up military positions and building new posts" in the disputed Ladakh area of Kashmir and also in such areas as Bara Hoti, in Uttar Pradesh State, west of the Tibetan border.

Order Crueller Not Doughnut for Breakfast If You Don't Like Jelly

BY BUD SPRUNGER
NEW YORK (AP)—A stranger in this town can run into trouble trying to order breakfast. Friend of mine from the Southwest couldn't get a doughnut. They kept handing him something turned sort of green before I corrected that to butterhorn. They figured that out but told me in the future to ask for Danish.

Not As Difficult
Other translations are not quite as difficult. Almost any tourist can figure that hotcakes on the menu are pancakes.
But you can get mixed up in the names of meals. In the Midwest, Southwest, West and South we say supper for the last meal of the day, but around here it is dinner. And so they won't get confused, they say lunch when they mean dinner.
And, oh yes, around here they call a waitress Miss, not Mam, as in the Southwest.
By and large these folks speak English pretty well, but they do have a lot of trouble with the word bring. They hand you something and say "bring it over there." Apparently the teachers around here don't drill their kids on the verb take.

New Yorkers go to business, while the rest of us go to work. Maybe they just don't work as hard here. I don't know.
You never hear of them going to the city, either. Just about everybody in Northern California goes to the city when they go to San Francisco, which they pronounce

San Francisco. But here suburbanites say they are going to New York, and those that live in boroughs other than Manhattan say they are going to town.
Clothing can cause you trouble, too. I wanted a pair of Levis the other day and some clerk was trying to be helpful. After I had tried out overall pants and jeans on him, he finally convinced me that what I wanted was a pair of dungarees. Turned out he was right.
Maybe the trouble here is the Guests Cruise to Foreign Ports Aboard S. S. Kampo

BY KATHY REARDON
Post-Crescent Society Editor

The gay Riviera, colorful Hong Kong, charming Naples and the noisy streets of Paris were visited by guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kampo at a gala ship party at Butte des Morts Golf Club last week.

As guests entered the club, they were met by the purser of the S. S. Kampo who handed each guest his passport, a terribly official looking document complete with wax seal. Passing further along the line they came to the custom's shed where a photographer took passport pictures.

Baggage Room

After winding through the baggage room bulging with luggage of every size imaginable, the guests walked over the gang plank and onto the ship's deck where they were met by the captain and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Kampo.

The main dining room of Butte des Morts, the ship deck, carried an international flavor. Flags of various countries flew overhead, indicating just where the passengers aboard would visit. An elegant hors d'oeuvres table, the captain's table, commanded the most attention here. An ice sculpture in the shape of a fish presided over the table, which was filled with oysters on the half shell, lobster, shrimp, salmon, clams and a bevy of other tasty foodstuffs.

Music for Dancing

A combo played music for dancing, listening or just thinking, while guests milled around, visiting the foreign ports.

A shiny white lighthouse on the shore in the harbor flashed its reassuring beacon throughout the evening.

As guests strolled into the East Lounge of the club, they found themselves in a sidewalk cafe on the French Riviera where the trees were green all year and the young waiters were colorful in their gleaming white and black shirts and red sashes. Here the passengers could sample all the foods familiar to French cuisine. A miniature Eiffel Tower was outside the window, creating a far away illusion.

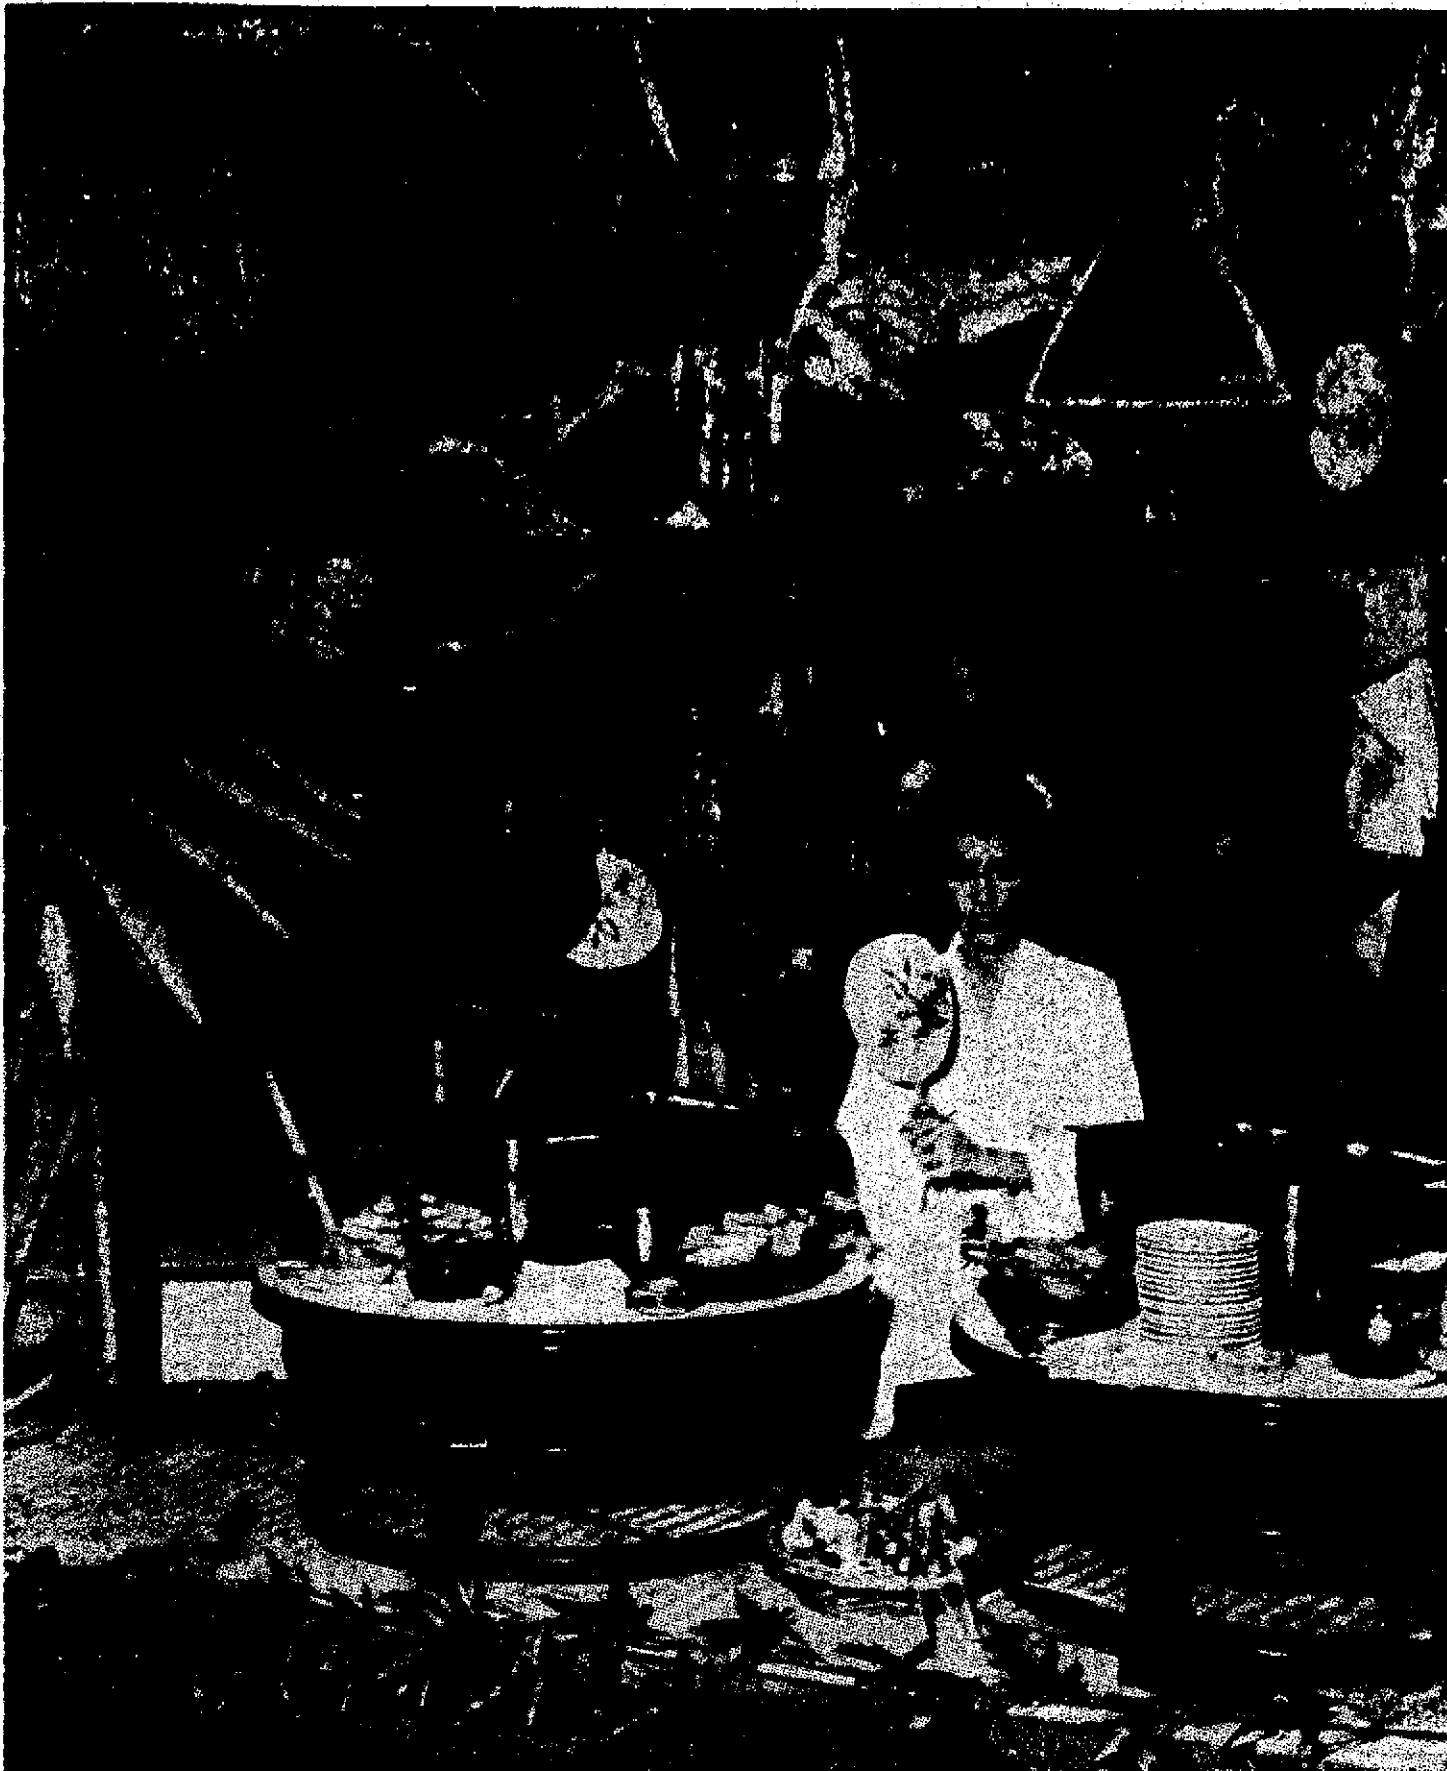

A sidewalk vendor called out his wares in another corner, giving red, pink and white carnations to all the passengers.

Visit Hong Kong

A petite Chinese maiden dressed in the costume of her country was visited by the guests in Hong Kong. Here the visitors sampled foods with an Oriental tang. A few feet away was the Italian port of Naples where Tony the vendor had his cart loaded with Italian sausages, antipasto and tidbits. The street urchin in his hurdy gurdy hung out in this corner, playing music for all comers with a few coins.

The ship sailed on and on throughout the evening, giving its passengers a rare treat. It docked in the harbor at 9 p.m. and lowered its gang plank for the passengers to depart for their homes.

Mrs. Herbert Thomas, Appleton, sits amid bamboo baskets, fish nets, lanterns and bangles in colorful Hong Kong, waiting for visits from passengers aboard the S. S. Kampo. On the tables around her are tasty hors d'oeuvres familiar to China. Two hundred guests visited the foreign ports of France, China and Italy during their cruise aboard the ship captained by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kampo. Butte des Morts Golf Club was the setting for the gala party. At left, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Hauser, Neenah, sample hors d'oeuvres at the ship's deck. Above can be seen the flags of various countries visited by the ocean liner.

Robert Koehnke, Appleton, a waiter in the sidewalk safe on the French Riviera, pours a glass of wine for the ship's captain and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kampo. A canopy over the cafe kept the guests dry in case of a sudden shower in the cheery port. At left, Mrs. Kenneth Winheim samples a piece of Italian sausage cut for her by Don Wendt in the port of Naples. Below, Mrs. Andrew Wargo, left, greets to one side while Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kampo, greet arrivals, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Arps on the gang plank of the S. S. Kampo. Hours and weeks of work went into transforming Butte des Morts Golf Club into an ocean liner for this once in a lifetime voyage. Andrew Wargo, club manager, enlisted the help of carpenters, painters, friends and employees in this task. Mrs. Carl Heuer, proprietor of a Milwaukee flower shop, also lent a helping hand, finding many of the props, including the real hurdy gurdy, and doing a large part of the decorating.

Bumper Crops, Wedding Bells Go Hand in Hand in Japan

BY KEYES BEECH
Chicago Daily News Foreign Service

TOKYO — There's no such thing as a wedding bell in Japan, which perhaps is just as well. The noise would be deafening.

More people are getting married in Japan this year than ever before. One reason is that there are more Japanese — nearly 95 million.

But this explanation for the marriage "boom" is not complete. Prosperity is a big factor. More people can afford to get married — or think they can.

Incomes Up
Personal incomes are up 13 per cent over a year ago, mainly because of rising factory wages. Farm incomes were up too.

"Bountiful rice crops and wedding halls in hand," smiled a welfare ministry official. Japan has had half a dozen bumper rice crops in a row.

Wedding halls in restaurants, department stores, hotels, photo studios, temples — every body seems to be getting a cut of the wedding cake — and other establishments catering to the marriages are booked solid six months in advance.

More than half a million couples got hitched during the first half of 1961. The prospect is that 1961 will set a record of well over a million marriages.

Like everything else in Japan, marriage customs are changing. With an able assist from the department stores, which profit handsomely, the American custom of "showers" for the bride is rapidly taking hold.

When the wedding date is set the "go-between" — most marriages are still "arranged" in Japan — registers the name of the bride and bridegroom at a given department store.

The word is passed to those planning to send gifts. The givers deposit an appropriate sum with the store instead of buying the presents themselves.

Ten days before the wedding a salesman from the store visits the couple so that they may choose their own gifts.

Cost Varies
The cost of a wedding varies according to means. At one of the big mass production marriage halls a wedding party, including the rental of a wedding kimono, pictures and food and drink for 40 or 50 persons, costs about $420.

Some weddings, with 200 to 300 guests, cost as much as $3,000. On the other hand, a simple wedding ceremony costs less than $10.

Many pragmatic young city couples frown on expensive weddings and prefer to save their money for a television set.

Although the bride usually wears a kimono, a good many prefer the western wedding gown. Another western custom that has caught on is the wedding cake.

Ring A Must

As for the marriage ceremony, the wedding ring has become a "must." A few husbands, although rather sheepishly, agree to wear wedding rings themselves.

As time goes by, however, the male wedding ring has a way of getting "lost." It's either that or husbands put them in their pockets when they go out on the town without their wives.

"Men are sneaky," commented a young Japanese wife of my acquaintance.

Once married, the principal worry of the newlyweds is where to live. Just about the last thing today's Japanese bride wants is to live under the same roof with her mother-in-law, who traditionally bosses her about.

Housing Shortage
However, there is such an acute housing shortage in Japan that the newly married couple is likely to end up living with in-laws, relatives or friends. Sometimes they may even live apart until they can find a place of their own.

To make ends meet and lay aside money for a few small luxuries, more and more modern wives are holding jobs after marriage. The government estimates that 27 per cent of all job-holding Japanese women are married.

Working wives are no longer looked down on, as was the case in pre-war Japan. The post-war period, when Japanese women had to work to live, plus new freedoms guaranteed by the constitution, changed all that. Today women job-holders are found in all fields.

Another sign of changing times is that more Japanese husbands are helping their wives in the kitchen — something they wouldn't have been caught dead doing in pre-war years.

Most husbands, however, flatly refuse to go near the kitchen.

Fewer Children

Modern Japanese couples are also having fewer children. In pre-war years most couples had four or five or more. Today most couples consider two children to be enough.

There are many reasons for this. The Japanese began to cut back family size for fear of overpopulation shortly after the war. With their overseas territories gone, 6 million repatriates returning and a zooming birth rate on their hands, the Japanese began to take family planning seriously.

Many young couples feel that two children is the maximum number if they are to bring them up and educate them properly. Over-crowded living quarters is another factor.

Since Japan's death rate has greatly decreased, parents no longer feel it necessary to have "spare" children.

Brow-Beaten Husband to Blame For Situation in His Home

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My wife devotes 100 per cent of her energy and time to our two teenage daughters. She's so busy sewing for them that when I need a button on a shirt she hands me a needle and says "Sew it on yourself!"

The girls rule our lives. My wife cooks what they like, we drive the kind of car they want, and we vacation at the places they select. I'm well aware that the male hasn't been the head of the house in America for quite some time, but at least in some families they pretend that he has a little authority.

One woman bossing me around I could take—but not three. Perhaps, I'd be happier alone—especially now that the mulling, drooling teenage boys are beginning to hang around. What do you think?—Turning Worm

Dear Worm: I think you tipped your mitt in that line about the teenage boys.

You are insecure and emotionally immature. A well-adjusted husband doesn't compete with his children for their mother's attention as you have been doing for years. And now you are jealous of the teenage boys and you view them as competition, too.

Leaving home is no solution, Sonny. See a head-doctor.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My fiance is a wonderful guy—thoughtful, kind and generous. But somehow he thinks small, superficial details (as he calls them) are unimportant. He has given me many lovely gifts but nothing is ever wrapped properly or even offered in a box.

Last Christmas he handed me a strand of pearls which he carried in a business envelope. Even my engagement ring came straight out of his pocket. When I asked him for the box he said he threw it away.

Don't you feel that with a little effort he could correct this fault?—Sweetie

Dear Sweetie: You're off base a country mile. A gal who asks "where's the box" when she gets an engagement ring is paying too much attention to hair-splitting detail.

One of the loveliest and most meaningful gifts I ever received came wrapped in—believe it or not, the Chicago Tribune—so help me! And I loved it anyway.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I were invited to a family get-together. I was to be a buffet dinner and everyone was asked to bring something. Just as I was putting the last batch of fried chicken into the basket the doorbell rang. Some friends who live about 30 miles from here dropped in to see us.

I phoned my sister and asked if we could bring this couple and their three children. I even offered to provide extra food for them since I had plenty. She said in a cool voice, "No, it is not all right. This is a family party."

I got mad and slammed down the receiver. We did not go. The whole family is mad at me, including my husband. I say my sister was unacceptably rude. What's your opinion.—Ours

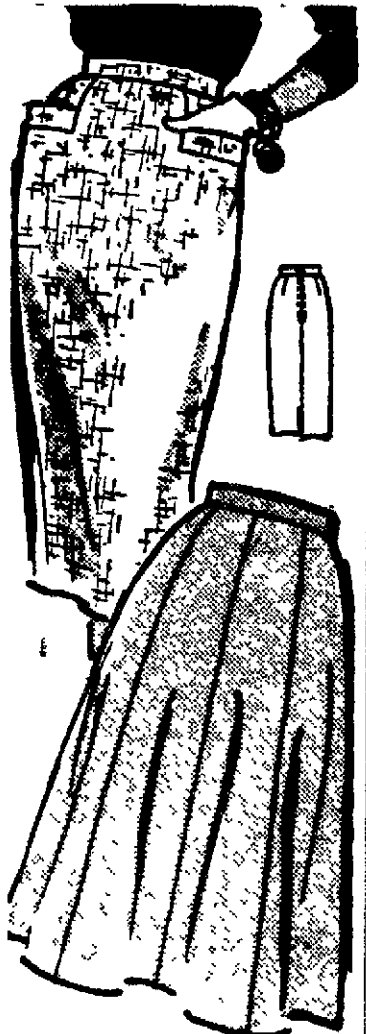

Dear Ours: You were wrong to put the dropper-liners ahead of the planned family party. And you should not have tried to drag them along.

People shouldn't allow themselves to be victimized by anyone who knows how to ring a doorbell. You should have said "I'm sorry but we have a previous commitment," and gone on your way.

Are your parents too strict? You can benefit from the experiences of thousands of teenagers if you write for Ann Landers' booklet, "How To Live With Your Parents," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope. (Copyright, 1961)

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

Clothes for Home

At home clothes have never been more intriguing. As for instance, there are sophisticated jersey jump suits with fake fur overskirts, elegant hostess pajamas and hostess coats, both flared and floor-length casual trouser-and-sweater combinations, in gaily-printed cotton knit.

Of course none of those choices may find favor with you. And small matter? What counts is the practice of dressing especially for hearth-side evenings — of paying your family and guests the compliment of looking as though you care.

Still, many a woman falls into the trap of wearing down-at-the-heel clothes around the house, thinking it an economy. But that kind of reasoning is open to question.

Lacking an at-home outfit or two, a woman is forced to wear her "Sunday best" when she entertains and, thereby, the chances of their survival are greatly reduced. Other times she gets caught in a shoddy turn-out by the uninvited guest. How she is viewed at all times by her family is not a happy conjecture.

Where then is her saving? She would make one that pays dividends, were she to invest in an inexpensive set of colorful separates and reserve it for evenings at home. What boost that would give lagging harm and ego! (Copyright, 1961)

Girl Scouts to Collect Funds For Loan Closet

Girl Scouts of the intermediate troops of Kaukauna will hold their annual collection Friday for funds with which to purchase items for the loan closet operated from the city nurse's office.

The nurse has indicated a need for baby scales, walkers and wheel chairs. Each year the girls collect funds as a community service project. Items in the loan closet are made available to city residents for use without charge. The Scouts will be stationed in the two banks throughout the day.

Posters and canisters were prepared by members of Troop 154, led by Mrs. Art Lauer and Mrs. Richard Lemay.

Home Treatment Of Rainwear Is Possible

Successful home weatherproofing of washable rainwear is almost as simple as doing the laundry. There's only one trick—the laundering itself.

Weatherproofing agents are effective only if the garment about to be treated is free of all soil, residue from soaps and detergents—and hard water minerals. These foreign materials block the minute spaces between fabric fibers where the weatherproofing agent would lodge, and the weatherproofing becomes spotty.

To prepare the garment properly for weatherproofing, the following procedure is recommended:

Machine launder at the wash-and-wear setting with mild soap powder or flakes or any mild detergent.

Smooth Seams

To make certain the garment is rinsed clean, add a water conditioner to the rinse.

Hang the garment carefully on a rust-proof hanger, smoothing seams, collar, cuffs, buttonholes and hemline, and let dry thoroughly. Or, put it in the dryer on the air setting.

When the garment is completely dry, apply the weatherproofing agent according to directions on its container.

OES Past Matrons Schedule Annual Christmas Party

Past Matrons Club of the Order of Eastern Star has planned its annual Christmas party and pot-luck supper for 6:15 p.m. Thursday at Masonic Temple.

A business meeting will precede a program of Christmas readings and carols. Mrs. Belle Hansen is chairman.

Test for Yourself

Some cooks always pour off the fat as it collects in the skillet during the frying of bacon in the belief that this procedure helps make the bacon extra crisp; other cooks do not agree with this proposition. Try this way and judge for yourself!

DUTIES TO HOUSEGUEST

My daughter will be spending a few days during the Christmas vacation with her college roommate. This will be the first time she has been away from home. What are her responsibilities?

Louise Davis

Answers:

If your daughter is constantly mindful that she be a thoughtful houseguest, she will come up with the answers. She should be considerate at all times and make every effort to fit in with the family routine. She should get up when her roommate does for breakfast so that separate meals won't have to be cooked. She could make her own bed, tidy her bedroom and keep her bathroom towel and washcloth neatly folded on the rack. She should wholeheartedly offer to help with the dishes. She could take a gift with her for her roommate's mother, but if she prefers, she could send something a couple of days before Christmas such as cut flowers, a plant, a box of candy or salted nuts. Of course, she should write a sincere bread and butter note of thanks and appreciation to the mother.

open house to be held during the Christmas holidays. One couple is a man and his physician wife. How should I address the envelope? Mr. and Dr. William Smith seems odd.

Louise Davis Answers:

The envelope should be addressed: Mr. and Mrs. William Smith. In relation to her husband, Dr. Smith is Mrs. Smith. Professionally she is Dr. Mary Smith. The Smiths' Christmas card should be addressed also as Mr. and Mrs.

AAUW Compiling List of Women With Doctorates

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Twelve thousand women holding earned doctorate degrees will receive questionnaires this week from the AAUW Educational Foundation asking if they are available for college faculty positions.

All who respond will be listed in the Foundation's Roster of Women Holding Earned Doctorates, a unique locator service which will assist colleges and universities to find trained, able, professional personnel.

A $20,000 grant from the Fund for the Advancement of Education is making possible a two-year program to improve and expand the Association's roster, which was first put into operation as a limited service in 1958. The roster was set up to help meet the critical shortage of trained faculty and to help women advance within the educational profession.

Updated roster files will contain more detailed information. In addition, as a result of the grant, educational institutions will now be able to ask that the files be checked for each opening. Copies of the records of women whose training and experience seem to qualify them for the position available will be sent to the inquiring institution. Since the roster is not a placement service, no references will be kept nor recommendations made.

Seek Complete Data

Women who want to be included in the roster will pay a small registration fee. There will also be a charge for educational institutions using the service.

Cooperating with the AAUW in the compilation of the list were the National Research Council of the National Academy of Sciences, which supplied the names of the 12,000 women who earned their doctorates since 1935, and over

Pair Marks 50th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. August Knorr, 214 W. Hancock St., were guests of honor Nov. 23 at a surprise party in honor of their 50th wedding anniversary. A mock wedding and dance were at V.F.W. Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Knorr were married Nov. 22, 1911. Wedding attendants who were present at the anniversary celebration were Mrs. Robert Busch, Green Bay, Albert Loewenhagen, Seymour, and Ewald Tetzlaff, Appleton.

Mr. Knorr farmed in the Town of Black Creek for 38 years before his retirement in 1949. The couple has lived in Appleton since then.

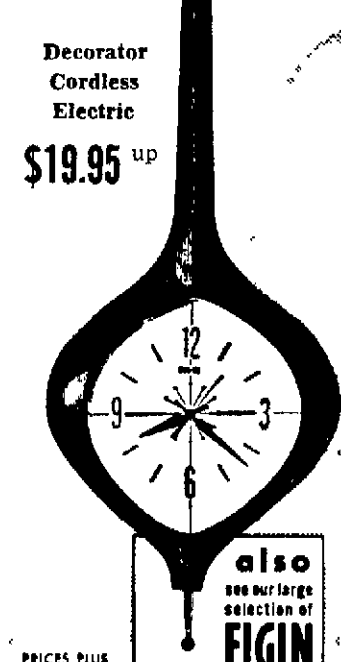

The pair has three children.

Brownies Have Investiture Program

CLINTONVILLE—Candice McMullen and Judy Schwartz were invested in a ceremony of Brownie Troop 138 in the Scout room of Christ church hall.

One-year pins were awarded to Debra Sell, Rosemary Wedde, Nancy Schloman, Linda Kautz, Cheryl Kasuboski, Janice Mech, Vicki Esler, Kris Erickson and Mary Russler. Mrs. Vic Sell is the troop leader. Mrs. Alvin Kasuboski is the assistant leader.

Talk Saves Time, May Cost Friend

A certain kind of bridge player loves to discuss the bidding while he is playing the hand. This saves the time that he would spend lecturing his partner at the end of the play. In 1960 alone players of this kind saved 140,000 bridgeplayer-hours — and lost 63,000 contracts and 28,000 partners.

South began to bay as soon as he saw the dummy. "Cold for six diamonds," he announced. "Couldn't you jump to three diamonds — or bid past three no trump?"

"Just make three no trump," North replied wearily.

The request came too late. South had been so busy talking that he had carelessly won the first trick with jack of spades.

Tries End Play

South cleared the ace of diamonds out of the way, and then led a heart. The queen of hearts lost to the ace, and back came a spade to the ace.

South cashed the king of hearts, but East saw what was coming and dropped the eight. Declarer took the high clubs and led a heart to the ten. East cleverly got out with the deuce of hearts to avoid the end play. Now South was down two.

The contract is cold if South wins the first trick with the ace of spades. After taking the ace of diamonds, South leads a spade, and the ten or queen of spades is a sure entry to the rest of the diamonds. South takes eleven tricks without any trouble.

As often happens in these cases, South's comment on the bidding was as inaccurate as his play. North would not make six dia-

Parent-Teacher Talk Pays Off

BY ANGELO PATRI

Sonny handed his report card to his mother with, "She went and gave me a D again. She's always picking on me, but she doesn't ever say anything to Billy, and he's worse than me."

"Goodness You haven't a single mark for the month. What is the matter? Now don't tell me you can't do any better than this."

"What's wrong with you?"

"It isn't my fault. She doesn't teach me." "Nonsense. Did you ask her to explain?" "When I raise my hand she says to put it down and do my work."

Father studied the report card, his frown growing deeper and darker by the minute. "This card is disgraceful. A child can't sit in a classroom and not learn something. You can't be as stupid as this. Mother, you go to school tomorrow morning and see the principal."

Mother told her story to the principal who said, "I'll relieve the teacher and she will come and talk this over with you. I do not advise changing the teacher. But Miss Marie will talk to you about this."

"I'm glad to see you," said Miss Marie. "Sonny is not doing well and I am anxious about his lack of progress. Why doesn't he do his homework?"

Not Up To Par

"Homework? He never has any. I've asked him repeatedly about it."

"But he has I have given him special home lessons with notes on them to explain what is needed and I cannot get them back. He keeps saying that you are too busy to help him."

"Sonny said I was too busy to help him?" And me asking all the time for his home lessons? I can't believe it."

"But he has done no homework this month and I was going to call you to see if something could not be done to bring him up to grade. He really ought to be in the grade below. He does not know his tables nor his phonics."

"He was sick last term. That may account for it."

"Well, along with special home lessons every day I have given him five minutes special teaching class, but it is too little for what he needs. Maybe we'd better

Sheridan Setting for Wedding

The wedding of Miss Karen M. Morey, 306 N. Durkee St., and David A. Edwards took place at 7 p.m. Nov. 25. The Rev. R. M. Paulson officiated at the nuptial rite at Farmington Lutheran Church, Sheridan.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Morey, Sheridan, and Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Edwards, route 3, Waupaca.

Miss Marjorie Morey attended her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaid was Miss Judy Fischer. Miss Judy Strebe was a junior bridesmaid.

The bridegroom's brother, Gene Edwards, was his best man. Groomsman was Ronald Button.

The couple will reside at 1003 1/2 W. Franklin St., Appleton.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwards are graduates of Waupaca High School. The bridegroom was also graduated from Oshkosh Institute of Technology. The bride is a stenographer at Aid Association for Lutherans and her husband is a mechanic.

PET DOCTOR

By A. W. Meiler, D.V.M.

Q. I would like to breed my Chihuahua. When do you breed them and how do you care for the female? How do you register the litter? Cecelia M. Grimes, Pasadena, Md.

A. Female dogs can be bred twice a year. The so called heat period lasts 21 days. The female is fertile and can be bred between the 10th and 14th day of this period. Sixty-three days after conception the puppies will be born. It is well to have both male and female examined by a veterinarian before they are bred. He will check for physical defects, worms and infectious diseases. At the same time it would be well to check the litter registration form from the kennel club or local pet store. It is wise to have two or three pre-natal checkups, the initial one two weeks after breeding. Your veterinarian will discuss feeding and preparation for motherhood with you.

Clever Banker Designed Swiss Mountain Railroad

The Jungfrau Railroad at Inter-laken, Switzerland is a marvel of engineering. It has taken countless enthusiasts up to an altitude of 13,670 feet into the glorious Alpine wonder world of Switzerland's loveliest mountain, and yet it owes its existence to the excellent memory of a clever Zurich banker, Adolf Guyer-Zeller.

The year was 1893. He and his daughter had spent a beautiful Aug. 26 climbing the Schilthorn Mountain. They were ecstatic over the glorious view—the Jungfrau in Scheidegg, 6770 feet above sea level, he suddenly saw the high above the glaciers on the op-smoke of a railroad engine. The positive side of the Lauterbrunnen Valley. As he stood and looked, into operation two short months before. "Here is the beginning of the memory of three half-forgotten projects for the building of a Jungfrau Railroad!" he exclaimed. The mechanics for this three Swiss engineers, called incredible engineering feat were conceived on the spur of that moment. The railroad would climb up to the Jungfrau inside the mountain! That very night the ingenious banker drew a rough sketch of his plan. It became the blueprint for the construction of the railroad, and is still extant.

More than half a century has passed. Millions have started out in Interlaken, center of the Golden Pass in the heart of Switzerland, and gone up safely and comfortably. From the hotel and restaurant up on the Jungfrau one beholds the majesty of the glittering snow under a blue sky, an unforgettable view which, but for the memory of Adolf Guyer-Zeller, could have been seen only through binoculars.

Best for Poaching

Use extremely fresh eggs for poaching if you want them to hold their shape well during the cooking process. When the eggs come out of the poaching water, trim off any ragged edges—that's what French chefs do!

Homebuilders Ready Plans For Workshop

SEAMS TO ME

By Patricia Scott

Questions On Sewing

Christmas stocking gifts for anyone who sews can be very inexpensive. Packages of seam binding, bias tape and rickrack in various colors will be most welcome.

Q. My niece is 15 years old and has her own bathroom. I'd like to decorate some apothecary jars for it with fabric or trim. Do you have any ideas? Mrs. S. S. T.

A. Rickrack and printed or gingham check fabric is attractive for a young girl. Cut bands of fabric, and rickrack. Stitch rickrack to fabric and then glue to jars, using a sturdy glue that dries clear. For short wide jars, cut a circle of fabric and then outline it with rickrack to form a medallion.

Q. I have color problems with thread. What guide do I use for choosing color? Also, when sewing on check or plaid fabric, the thread is impossible to match. Do I match the lighter or darker shade of a check? Miss S. F.

A. Always select a color one shade darker than the fabric. When sewing on checks or plaids, use both colors... one color on the top and the other on the bobbin. Your colors will blend and not show.

Q. What is the difference between basting and slip-basting? Mrs. M. M. T.

A. Regular basting stitches are made on the wrong side of the garment along the stitching line.

MATCHING BRA AND SKIPPIES

These prettier-than-ever undertrimmings are part of the fashion, part of the fun of Holiday parties! The bra — light and lovely and very luxurious in nylon tricot is designed to give high, rounded, feminine line! Spandex elastic stretch and control without rubber pantie girdle is light as a snowflake yet has remarkable control!

GLOUDEMANS
DEPARTMENT STORE

Slip-basting is used primarily for matching plaids, or for points (such as gussets) and difficult areas to get to from the wrong side. You fold one seam edge under and pin it over the other seam working on the right side of the garment. You slip-stitch by bringing the needle up close to the folded edge through three layers of fabric. Then, as close to this point as possible, place the needle down through the single layer and come up again between 1/4 and 1/2 inch away through the three layers as before. When you turn the garment to the wrong side, its ready for machine stitching.

David Goodstein

Much has been said and written, and rightly so, about the little black dress, the backbone of every woman's wardrobe. A smashing success on that subject is David Goodstein's elegantly simple basic fabric for dress. To order Pattern which requires a minimum of fabric and sewing time for maximum wearability and good looks. Although the flattering neckline, No. 17, No. 18 and No. 19 are pointing to trim little bows, rests beautifully on its own merits, it also provides a perfect showcase for your favorite beads. The shoulders extend into tiny sleeves that wear sizing. Address: SPADEA, are ample covering for any hour! Box 535, G.P.O., Dept. A-13, New York 1, N. Y.

Small Wood Walled Room

Designing Woman

Small Apartments Simple to Maintain

BY ELIZABETH HILLYER

How much wood is too much in a small room? When walls are wood paneled and wood furniture is built in, what about the floor? Mrs. L. F. ponders these questions as she plans a small bedroom for a home that's still in the blueprint stage. "We chose walnut for the walls and furniture," she writes, "but wonder if the room wouldn't be overburdened with wood if it also had a wood floor. Is vinyl tile unsuitable?"

Wood enthusiasts feel that there is no such thing as too much wood. Mrs. F., and since the room is small and a bedroom, areas in other materials will be proportionately large enough for contrast. The bedspread-covered bed will occupy prominent space, and curtains will relieve wood wall expanses. Chairs of metal with plenty of upholstery fabric showing skip wood entirely, and there's always the possibility of using a rug or rugs. But a vinyl floor is also suitable. You might consider new types which resemble mosaics, slate and travertine. Cork is another good material for the floor.

Mrs. R. S.: I've saved an article of yours about a living room furniture arrangement since 1957, and now can work it out as I've always wanted to. But I've lost another article which appeared about the same time which described the color scheme I'd like, and wonder if you could send me a copy. Walls and curtains were aqua and most of the furniture was green. Tangerine was used for accent. If no copy of the color scheme article is available, will you make suggestions?"

How nice to hear that you valued these ideas long enough to save them so long! Searching our files hasn't located the color scheme article, but against aqua background, a carefully selected green could be used for some furniture, and turquoise and green for other pieces. The rug might be a black and white mixture, and both black and a very little tangerine could be used for accents.

MRS. K. J. R.: "The furniture arrangement in the living room of our new home seems to call for tables at both ends of the sofa, but a mate to the one table I have to use isn't available. Is it incorrect to use a second table that doesn't match?"

Not at all, and decorators most often prefer variety. You might like a small cabinet as suggested by the sketch today instead of a second table, or a table that's conveniently larger than the first one.

The Ailing House

Louvre Leak Solved by Caulking

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: We have a new home and the louvers on the roof leak. How can this be fixed? Will tarring them keep water out indefinitely?

A: Rather than tar, apply caulking with a caulking gun, to seal any opening or cracks between the louver frame and the house siding or roof.

THRESHOLD TURNS BLACK
Q: The threshold at our west outer door seems to get wet quite often. What process would preserve the wood from turning black?

A: Applying two or three coats of top quality spar varnish will protect the wood against moisture. Be sure the surface is clean and free of any trace of grime, soot, etc., before applying the varnish. Applying a strip of weatherstripping to the door bottom, of the type used for garage doors, would help keep rain from the threshold.

CRUMBLING CEMENT FLOOR
Q: Why is my concrete basement floor forming white rings and the cement crumbling in the center of these rings? Where the bottom cellar step rests, there are wet spots. In one spot near the furnace the floor is starting to bulge.

A: From your description, this may be due to a bad concrete mix that was put down originally and too thin a floor to withstand the water pressure; a good concrete floor should be at least four inches thick, six inches for greater water pressure. Before going to the expensive job of having a new concrete topping put down, suggest trying applying a cement-hardening preparation, available at masonry supplies dealers, to a small section of the floor; if this corrects the condition, treat the whole floor. If not, recommend having new floor put down. For detailed information about this, suggest writing to Portland Cement Assn., 33 W. Grand Ave., Chicago 10, Ill., for free instruction leaflet on concrete projects around the house.

SPOTS BEHIND RANGE
Q: We recently remodeled our kitchen, using red mahogany paneling for the walls. This was pre-finished; we applied spray varnish on the area around the range as grease-stain protection. But there are stains. Is there any way to remove these grease spots?

A: Apply a thick paste of full-ers earth or other absorbent material and a nonflammable liquid spot remover to the stains, allowing to remain until dry; repeat treatment until stains removed.
Suggest using a cream clean-up wax, made by a nationally known manufacturer to clean surface regularly; this leaves protective coating on wood.

Filled Apples

If you are using mincemeat to fill apples you are preparing for baking, count on about 1/4 cup mincemeat for the core cavities of a large baking apple.

Add to Custard

Candied fruit in the house for holiday cake and cookie making? Add some of it to a custard sauce to be served with plain cake or pudding or fruit.

Comforts of Home Don't Exist For Peace Corpsmen in Colombia

BY DON DONAFIDE
Chicago Daily News Service

ZIPACON, Colombia—Even in Zipacon there was no mistaking them as anything but Americans; though one wore a native shawl like Colombian ruana. The other was dressed in jacket and levis and might have come straight off a college campus.

They stood in the middle of the narrow dirt road bisecting the adobe village, which lies hidden in the hills some 50 miles from Bogota.

"How about a ride?" one asked. "There's a woman sick and we're trying to get to her."

Here, almost two miles above sea level, cold, damp clouds came rolling in, making the drive along the hill-hugging roads even more treacherous than usual. An occasional cross or a statue of the Blessed Virgin marked the death sites of unlucky motorists.

The two young Americans identified themselves as Peace Corps volunteers Tom Whalen, 23, of Detroit, a former Wayne University student, and Dennis Grubb, 20, of Westport, Conn., on leave from Penn State. Their companions were Gustavo Torres, their assistant, and Carmen Balbuena, a nurse.

After a ride of several minutes, the peace corpsmen got out at the foot of a steep incline, the nearest point a car could go to the hut of the ailing woman. They then trudged up the hill, half-wild dogs yapping at their heels.

First Fertilizer

Whalen pointed to a white powdery substance on the tilled soil. "That's fertilizer," he remarked. "The first time it has ever been used here."

Reaching the hut, they found a woman, about three months pregnant, writhing in pain on a cot only inches above the dirt floor.

"They never told us what to do in a case like this," Grubb commented. "We had some drugs but they took them back because we might give out the wrong ones."

The nurse washed the woman, gave her a sedative and did what else she could.

With formal politeness, the woman's husband expressed deep gratitude to the Americans.

Before departing the corpsmen pointed to the towering hills beyond the hut.

"There's a man sick up there with bronchial pneumonia. He coughs up a lot of blood," Whalen said. "We can't get to him because it takes three hours with horses and we don't have horses."

Never Shows Up

"Besides," Whalen added, "the doctor in Bogota who is assigned to us never shows up. He's supposed to come every day but we've seen him only a couple of times in the month we've been here."

Somewhat bitterly, Grubb and Whalen blamed the lack of medical aid for the death a few days earlier of Luis A. Gonzales, a 30-year-old school teacher who had worked with them.

"Hundreds of campesinos who were his friends came to his funeral. There were three buses covered with flowers," recalled Whalen.

Thus, in the brief time they have been here, Grubb and Whalen have been confronted with the realities of life and death.

Zipacon, their headquarters, is a poor hamlet of less than 1,000 inhabitants, with another 2,000 living in the surrounding "municipio."

Hardly Changed

Once one of the three capitals of the Chibcha Indians, it appears arrested in time, hardly changed in the last century.

The two Americans and Torres share three dismal rooms in a house without toilet, running water, or heat. They live out of trunks, sleep in swagback beds, brush their teeth with beer, and boast one 25-watt bulb. The electricity is supplied for short periods twice a day, or according to the whim of the operator of a small generator.

On a sharp hill overlooking Zipacon stands a statue of the Virgin Mary holding an electric light bulb. When lighted, it serves as a signal to the villagers that the electricity is on.

But Grubb and Whalen mostly read by candlelight. "I'm making a project of reading everything Victor Hugo ever wrote," reported Whalen.

Because Zipacon is high in the hills, the days are often chilly and rainy and the nights bitterly cold.

"I sleep with five blankets and my socks on," Whalen disclosed. Noting the lack of bathing facilities Grubb added, "I use a lot of deodorant."

The two managed to bring a couple of college keepsakes: A straw hat and a copy of "Playboy," which was pilfered by a village Romeo.

They sat in what serves as the local restaurant. Meals include soup for breakfast and vegetables ground into a lump.

Like most other corpsmen, Grubb and Whalen were given a triumphal reception when they first arrived at Zipacon. They have become friends with the mayor and village padre, who dresses in a cowboy hat and U. S. Air Force flight jacket, obtained only he knows where.

There is no theater or other recreational diversion in the village, which rises and retires with the sun.

Lack of Roads

Because of the lack of roads leading to the "hot country" in the lowlands, Zipacon does not even hold a market day. Building the needed roads, two schools, an aqueduct to carry fresh water and a soccer field are among the projects planned by Grubb and Whalen.

They expect to draft the services of Zipacon's young men, most of whom waste away the hours talking in the village square.

Many have been idle since a nearby mine, which had been worked since the days of the Incas, closed several years ago.

There's so much to do here," Whalen said, "that when I think back to the good old days, like the time I crashed Ann Ford's coming out party in Detroit, it seems a long way off, brother."

Humor Features Historical Novel in Authentic Setting

"The Way to the Lantern," by Audrey Erskine Lindop. Published by Doubleday.

An engaging young English scallawag named Roberts, unlike his fictional brother Sydney Carton, has no inclination to be a hero. Like Carton, he gets into hot water in France during the French Revolution. But he admits quite frankly to a little trouble with his shaking knees. "To live under the threat of death," he says, "ennobles some people. Unfortunately it does nothing of the sort for me."

The roguish Roberts is the narrator of Audrey Erskine Lindop's entertaining novel of the French Revolution, "The Way to the Lantern." Book-of-the-Month Club selection for December.

Carefully Researched

Circumstances oblige Roberts to play a role similar to that of Carton, Dickens' high-minded protagonist in "A Tale of Two Cities." But other circumstances enable him to behave with all the dash and audacity of Baroness Orczy's Scarlet Pimpernel.

Miss Lindop's novel is almost pure comedy and its leading characters are fictitious, yet the background has been carefully studied. Such figures as Robespierre, Danton and LaFayette appear. Roberts visits Marat in his famous bathtub; Roberts is on hand when the Bastille falls. Some seven years of research went into the writing of "The Way to the Lantern."

Miss Lindop also provides authentic details of the English and French stage of the time — the legitimate theater in major cities, the makeshift performances of strolling players in rural England, the flea-pit shows catering to uninhibited Parisian tastes. Her unheroic hero Roberts tells about his part in one such flea-pit show: "Most of its 'artists' were tumblers and jugglers; the major turns consisted of lewd knock-about comica, whom I was employed to interrupt. My role was to keep rushing on the stage in an attempt to deliver a highly dramatic speech only to be tripped up by the jugglers, tossed about by the acrobats, and mistaken for the lover of the comedienne. I spent my time racing about with my hair wild and my breeches down."

Roberts is also, when times are hard, a pickpocket. Miss Lindop, in order to be sure how pickpockets operate, arranged to consult a 20th-century exponent of the profession in a London pub. This gentleman was extremely cooperative and explained the tricks of his trade, but was somewhat worried that Miss Lindop might have an ulterior motive and be thinking of changing her profession.

"The Way to the Lantern" is Miss Lindop's 10th novel. She is married to Dudley Gordon Leslie, also a writer, and lives in London.

Mid-Eastern Conference basketball teams swing into their second week of action Friday night with only the Two Rivers-Clintonville game matching winners of last week's games.

The Purple Raiders put forth the best offensive effort in the league last week when they accumulated 71 points in defeating New London. The Truckers edged Menasha, 63-61, in their opening contest.

In other games on Friday's slate, Kimberly will be at Shawano, Menasha at Kaukauna and Neenah at New London.

Kimberly will have to stop the double-barrelled Shawano attack of Tom Wagner and Greg Groleau. Wagner tallied 25 points against Kaukauna last week, while Groleau added 17.

At Hietpas led the Papermaker offensive, against defensive-minded Neenah Friday, with 22 points. Rick Polman proved to be the top backcourt point-producer with 11.

In another contest which matches a winner and a loser from the first week's schedule, Neenah will tangle with New London. The tall Rockets were paced by Dave Burton last week as they trimmed Kimberly, 48-43. Burton scored 18 points and Dave Neubauer supported him with 13.

Mike Herres led New London's attack as the Bulldogs fell before Two Rivers. Herres tallied 20 marks.

Menasha will battle Kaukauna, in the only game on this week's slate that matches opening-round losers. Menasha lost to Clintonville while Kaukauna dropped a 66-47 decision to Shawano.

Tom Steinmetz and Bob Opsahl led Menasha last week. Steinmetz hit 20 points and Opsahl tallied 14. Bill Wallace was the Kaukauna pace-setter with 14 points.

Lee Spiering is Two Rivers' top scorer, with 21 points the first week, and Jim Hedtke is the Clintonville point-leader, with 23. Jim Schroeder has 19 on behalf of the Purple Raiders.

Packers Resume Drills for 49ers

Lombardi Will Rejoin Team Today After Draft, Hall of Fame Dinner

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP)—The Green Bay Packers, guaranteed a shot at the National Football League title and its special payday, have resumed drills but might well be distracted by visions of dollar signs.

The Packers won the Western Conference title Sunday by beating the New York Giants 20-17 in Milwaukee, then came west to prepare for Sunday's game with the San Francisco 49ers and the Dec. 17 clash with the Rams in Los Angeles.

There was no great celebrating as the Packers got down to work under the direction of assistant coaches Norb Hecker, Bill Austin and Red Cochrane. Head Coach Vince Lombardi was scheduled to join the club today after stopping off in Chicago for the league draft of college players and taking in the National Football Hall of Fame dinner in New York.

The Packers will be host to the championship game in City Stadium on Dec. 31. The Eastern Division representatives still must be decided, with New York, Philadelphia and Cleveland still in the running.

Carter Team Cops National Match Crown

Whip Stroth's of Detroit With Big Surge in Last Round

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The Don Carters capped a tremendous surge by whipping Stroth's of Detroit in both games to capture the Bowling Proprietors Association of America national match game championships Tuesday night.

The St. Louis club finished with 80-67 points. Stroth's with 79-48.

With a sweep of the set against the young Detroit crew, the only route to the title and $2,000 first prize. Don Carter and Co., zeroed in for 1,099 in the first game to close the gap to 73 pins. They then put the lock on with a 1,042 to 1,010 decision to again win the crown they had held four times under a beer sponsorship.

Stroth's hit 998 in the opener. The Don Carters, which began Tuesday's shooting in fifth place, rolled at a 1,111 average through the first six games, leading to the position round against Stroth's, which proved the surprise of the tournament.

Defending champion Falstaff, also of St. Louis, wound up third with 71-44 points.

In the battle that reached to the final frame, Don Carter shot 215, Ray Bluth 192, Pat Patterson 202, Tom Hennessey 217 and Dick Weber 218 for the winners.

Cleveland Signs Third Draft Pick

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns Tuesday signed Charley Hinton, tackle from North Carolina College, their third pick in Monday's National Football League Draft.

Cooper KO'd From Title Picture by Zora Folley

Winner Says He'd Fight Liston to Get at Patterson

LONDON (AP)—Zora Folley, the cool contender from Arizona, mounted a new offensive today aimed at Floyd Patterson's world heavyweight title and said he would be happy to fight Sonny Liston in a final qualifier if necessary.

Liston, No. 1 heavy contender from Philadelphia, knocked out Folley in three rounds in their only meeting on July 16, 1960.

Folley drew his challenge over prone and bleeding figure of British champion Henry Cooper, previously considered Patterson's next rival, if the champion didn't fight Liston.

Cockney Cooper, Britain's only hope for world boxing glory, was knocked out almost contemptuously by Folley at 1:06 of the second round in a scheduled 10-round bout at Wembley Indoor Stadium Tuesday night. Folley weighed 194, Cooper 189.

Prospects Boosted
The result boosted Folley's prospects for a shot at the championship and apparently condemned Cooper to a lowly position in the heavyweight rankings.

"This puts Cooper right out of the running for the world title," said the Briton's manager, Jim Wicks. "It means he will have to start virtually from the bottom again."

Folley, a quiet-spoken man who remains expressionless in moments of jubilation, said:

"Now I want to line up a title fight with Patterson. But I am prepared to fight Liston, or anyone else, to qualify for a title shot."

Before Tuesday night's massacre, the 27-year-old Cooper was variously rated third and fourth in the world rankings. Folley, 29, from Chandler, Ariz., was ranked eighth.

Patterson, talking to newsmen in the wake of his fourth round knockout of Tom McNeely in Toronto, said he would like to fight Liston but added: "That's up to my manager."

Manager Cus D'Amato said, "Liston knows what he has to do to get a title fight." He did not elaborate.

Neither Comment
Both Patterson and D'Amato had talked of Cooper as a possible challenger in 1962, but neither had a comment after the Briton was whipped so decisively by Folley.

"We are leaving for home on Friday," Folley's manager, Bill Swift, said. "And we intend to stop in New York to try to line up a title fight. I think we have a chance now."

Folley lost a probable shot at Patterson when he lost a controversial decision to Cooper in the same London ring three years ago. He more than took sweet revenge.

Cooper was reeling after the first round, and bleeding freely from cuts over his left eye and on his forehead. Folley was right on top of him when the second round began and ended it all with a crashing right hook to the jaw.

Cooper got up to one knee just as the count reached ten.

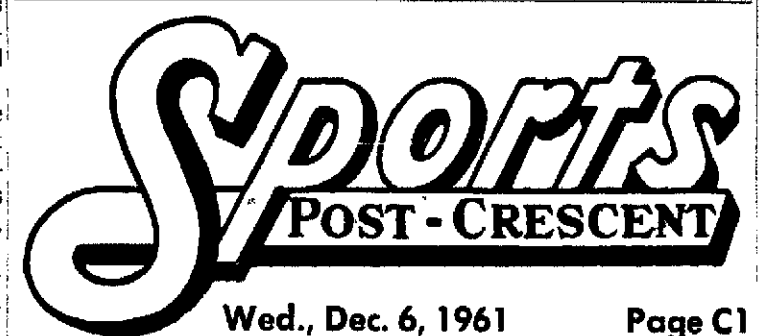

"I never even saw it coming," Cooper said, doubly upset because he was boxed as he left the ring by the crowd of 12,000. "I suppose I'll have to start all over again."

Packers Lead NFL In Points Scored and Yards Gained Rushing

Bays Have Lost Ball on Fumbles Only 9 Times

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Football League's official weekly team statistics today list plenty of reasons the mighty Green Bay Packers have clinched the Western Division title with a 10-2 record.

The Packers lead the league in several offensive departments. And their solidness on defense also is pointed up.

With two games left, the Packers top the NFL with 346 points scored and have surrendered just 184, fewest in the league. They also top the 14-team circuit with 121 first downs by rushing, a net of 2,074 yards gained on the ground for an average of 5.1 per attempt, 43 touchdowns scored and 43 extra points.

Green Bay has lost only 108 yards attempting to pass, fewest in the league, and has allowed opponents to return interceptions 145 yards. The opposition has averaged only 17.4 yards on punt returns.

Lose Ball 9 Times

The Packers have fumbled just 15 times, losing the ball a mere nine times. They also lead the league with 28 touchdowns by rushing.

On defense, Green Bay leads the Western Division with 27 pass interceptions, a figure topped in the league only by New York, which has snared 30. The Packers are fifth in total yards surrendered, having allowed 3,426, but are tough to score upon with an average of 15 1-3 points given up per game.

NEW YORK (AP)—Only 72 yards separate the four top clubs in a wild scramble for team offense honors in the National Football League.

With only two games remaining in the Philadelphia Eagles, tied with the New York Giants for the Eastern Conference lead, are out front in team offense with 4,172 yards, including 1,292 from rushing and 2,880 from passing.

The San Francisco 49ers follow with 4,153 yards; the Baltimore Colts are third with 4,142 and the Western Conference champion Green Bay Packers fourth with an even 4,100.

President Calls For Change in Physical Habits

NEW YORK (AP)—President John F. Kennedy, a former Harvard junior varsity player and the nation's No. 1 touch football fan, wants no part of the current controversy over whether baseball or football now is the national pastime.

But, grinning, he advises Notre Dame not to give back its controversial 17-15 victory over Syracuse last month.

Referring to a close victory of his own in 1960, he said he had no intention of giving that back. The President was the featured speaker Tuesday night at the annual awards dinner of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame. He was the recipient of the foundation's Gold Medal Award, given for the example he has set in recognizing the major role of amateur athletics in fostering moral values and leadership.

He shared the head table with eight former players and one of two former coaches who were inducted into the Hall of Fame and eight others honored as scholar athletes.

'Nation of Spectators'

Referring to the baseball-football controversy, he said:

"The sad fact is that it looks more and more as if our great national sport is not playing at all—but watching. We have become more and more not a nation of athletes, but a nation of spectators. The result of this shift from participation to—if I may coin a word—speculation is all too visible in the physical condition of our population."

Kennedy called the American people physically soft as a result of push button living.

"We are under-exercised as a nation," he said. "We look instead of play, ride instead of walk. Our push-button existence deprives us of the minimum of physical activity essential for healthy living."

He called for a long, serious look at the nation's physical condition, and for a change in the way millions of Americans live.

"The remedy, in my judgment, lies in one direction—in developing programs for broad participation in exercise by all our young men and women," he said.

"In short, what we must do is literally change the physical habits of millions of Americans—and that is far more difficult than changing their tastes, their fashions or even their politics."

Surrounded by many sports greats, the President called politics an "astounding profession," noting that he had risen from the obscurity of the junior varsity at Harvard to honorary membership now in the Hall of Fame.

ND-Syracuse Game

And, on the subject of politics, he noted that some Republicans have been persisted in mentioning that he won the presidency

Groza, Walston Near Hutson's Scoring Record

Both Could Pass Don's In Sunday's Tilts

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—End Bobby Walston of the Philadelphia Eagles is well aware he needs only eight points to surpass Don Hutson's National Football League career scoring record and he'd love to do it against the New York Giants here Sunday in the top game of the week.

"But first and foremost in my mind is winning," said Walston in viewing the crucial battle which could lead to the Eastern Conference crown. The Eagles and Giants are tied for the lead with 9-3 marks. Each club will have one game remaining after Sunday's contest.

The 33-year-old Walston, also a place-kicking specialist rounding out his 11th year with the Eagles, has 818 points going into the game. Hutson racked up 825 points during an outstanding career with Green Bay.

Actually, Walston is third in the all-time scoring derby. Lou Groza of Cleveland with 824 points needs only two points to surpass Hutson and "The Toe" appears a cinch to do it against Chicago Sunday. The second-place Browns also are in the thick of the Eastern race, in second place with an 8-4 mark.

In other NFL games Sunday, Green Bay, which already has won the Western Conference title is at San Francisco, Pittsburgh at Washington, Dallas at St. Louis and Minnesota at Detroit.

Wickland Mentioned on Honor Squad

NEW YORK (AP)—End John Budde of Carroll College was named to the third team and seven other Wisconsin college players received honorable mention today on the 1961 Little All-America football team announced by The Associated Press.

Given honorable mention were: tackles Dave Wouters, St. Norbert and Ken Dunlavy, Ripon; guard John Gomez, Beloit; center Gerry Mosler, St. Norbert; and backs Carey Wickland, Lawrence, Ill.; Kuse, Stevens Point, and James Kupiec, Beloit.

Viking Draftee Signs With AFL

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Florida halfback Paul White signed Tuesday with the Buffalo Bills of the American Football League.

The seventh draft choice of the Bills, he was the second of the top 10 to sign. Monday Jim LeCompte of North Carolina, the No. 6 draft selection, signed. White was the Minnesota Vikings' fourth choice in the National League.

Premontre Quintet Beats Pennings, 58-34

DE PERE—Premontre defeated Abbott Pennings, 58-34, Tuesday night for its second straight Fox Valley Catholic Conference basketball win. Tom Lemorand led the winners with 18 points.

Friday Night's Games
Wrightstown at Hortonville.
Reedsville at Omro.
Hilbert at Winnecoon.
Freedom at Bear Creek.
Shiocton at Denmark.

Little Bear Creek emerged as a bonafide Little Nine title contender Tuesday night with its third straight league victory, a 60-27 pasting of Wrightstown. Hortonville, the only other team to emerge from the first two weeks of action unscathed, fell at Reedsville, 63-45.

In other games, Winnecoon scored its second straight win by nipping Freedom, 45-40, while Omro was edging Denmark, 45-40, and Hilbert was handing defending champion Shiocton its third straight loss, 71-48.

The first-place Bruins pushed off to a 16-2 first quarter lead and increased it to 30-11 at half-time.

Once again it was a balanced scoring attack which led Bear Creek to the win. Mike McCloone topped the point production with 15, but he had plenty of help from Jerry Page, with 12 points, and eight other players. Paul Krueger connected for 17 points, over half of the Tiger total.

Increases Lead

The Polar Bears were behind all the way against the inspired hosts. Reedsville's narrow 14-10 quarter lead increased to 29-21 at halftime and 40-29 at the three quarters mark.

Rebound control by Eugene Klann and Dick Diener proved to be the difference for the hosts. Diener also ended up as the Omro top scorer with 17 points, two more than Bob Spaulding's total for Hortonville.

Winnecoon led the Irish most of the way, but never by more than a few points.

The Wolves led, 24-20, at the half. Freedom, playing before the home fans, struck back in the third period but a Winnecoon rally brought the quarter score back to 33-30. Freedom never caught up.

Nick Erdmann's 17 points was high for Winnecoon. Jim Brockman rimmed 12 for Freedom's well-divided assault.

Led by the scoring of Allan Pruess and Mike Weinreiss, who scored 51 points between them, Hilbert shot into a 37-22 halftime lead, but had to withstand a furious second-half Shiocton outburst.

Pruess scored 31 points and Weinreiss counted 20. Shiocton's Russ Conrad continued his high scoring with 29 points.

Omro swept off to a 16-4 first quarter lead and then hung on bitterly as Denmark kept closing the gap. It was 38-33 at the three quarters mark.

Kennedy Calls For Increased Participation

by a small margin last year. He related that to the Notre Dame-Syracuse football game, which Notre Dame won on a "second chance" field goal after time had expired. The NCAA rules committee chairman, Bob Neyland, has ruled the second chance kick was illegal—that the roughing the holder penalty called on a Syracuse player as time expired should not have extended the game.

Kennedy took time out from his dinner to visit a group of Alabama alumni and transmit a message to a student rally underway at Tuscaloosa, Ala., congratulating the Crimson Tide on its undefeated season and its invitation to the Sugar Bowl.

Paul (Bear) Bryant, Alabama coach, and quarterback Pat Trammell accepted the MacArthur Bowl at the dinner on behalf of the Crimson Tide, selected by the foundation as the nation's top team.

Bryant called his team — also selected by The Associated Press as the best in the country — "the best I've been associated with in all my career."

Former players inducted into the Hall of Fame were halfback Glenn Davis of Army (1944-46), Charlie (Choo Choo) Justice, North Carolina halfback (1946-49), George McAfee, Duke halfback (1957-59), Bob Reynolds, Stanford tackle (1933-35), Bob Suffridge, Tennessee guard (1938-40), Weldon Huddle, Rice guard (1941-42), Pat Pazzetti, Lehigh and Wesleyan quarterback (1908-1912) and Claude Reeds, Oklahoma halfback (1910-13).

Coaches added to the Hall of Fame were Don Faurot, athletic director and former coach at Missouri, and the late Charlie Caldwell of Princeton, Yale and Williams.

Roosevelt '5' Duels Wilson

2 Other Frosh League Rivalries To Be Renewed

FOX VALLEY FRESHMAN LEAGUE
Team	W	L	Pts
Menasha	1	0	2
Roosevelt	1	0	2
Wilson	1	0	2
Kimberly	0	1	0

Thursday's Games
Kimberly at Kaukauna.
Wilson at Roosevelt.
Menasha at Neenah.
Madison bye.

Rivalries in all three games spice Thursday's action in the Fox Valley Freshman Basketball League.

Wilson and Roosevelt, both victorious in season openers last week, square off at the Roosevelt gym. Kimberly, after being idle last week, opens at Kaukauna and Menasha goes to Neenah. Madison draws the bye this week.

Menasha was the other team to post a victory last week and the Bluejays will be seeking their second win against the Junior Rockers. The latter dropped a 51-42 decision to Wilson last week.

Kimberly, runnerup to unbeaten Wilson last season, will open its campaign at Kaukauna. The Junior Papermakers have one of the tallest teams in the league with Jim Vanden Boogard 6-4; Clem Phillipsen, 6-2 and Jim Shelhout comprising the front line.

Arlin Burt's 647 Leads

Mildred Kronfort Registers 221 in Kaukauna League

LITTLE CHUTE — Arlin Burt pounded a 245 line and a 647 set, and Henry Weyenberg cracked a 245 singleton to pace the Businessmen's League at Recreation

Boots' TV won three games to increase its first place lead to five lines.

Other high scores were posted by: Weyenberg, 610; Rich VanderWyst, 594; Ken DeBruin, 589, and Bob Coenen, 576.

Mildred Kronfort recorded a 321 game, and Liz Obermeyer hit a 326 trio to pace the Women's League at the Bowling Bar, Kaukauna. Other honor scores included 525 by Mildred Kronfort and a 199 and 191 by Irene Thelen.

Clarence O'Connor posted a 610 series to top the Knights of Columbus League at the Bowling Bar. Schmidt Oil, with a 23½-12½ mark, holds a one-half game edge over Van Abel's.

Other high scores were hit by Clayton Baumgart, 559; Orr Glandt, 555; Fritz Reuter, 552, and Tom Van Abel, 562.

Jerome Schreiber, with a 584 series, and Nicky Lietz, with 571, led the Darby Bowling League at the Bowling Bar.

Bleier's Remains Undefeated in ARD Volleyball League

Bleier's kept its undefeated record intact by sweeping three games from Sindahl's in the Appleton Recreation Department Men's Volleyball League this week.

Power Company Blue took a trio of games from AAL, and Police Department won two of three games from Power Company Gray.

Bleier's (21-0) will meet Power Company Blue (18-5) in the feature match, at 8 p.m., Monday night. Power Company Gray (2-19) meets Sindahl's (12-9) and Police Department (9-12) meets AAL (3-18) at 7 p.m.

Mediator Tries to Resolve Bitter NCAA-AAU Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) — Colleges and the Amateur Athletic Union meet today in a showdown session with an international mediator trying to resolve their bitter dispute over control of basketball.

The mediator, Louis G. Wilke of Bartlesville, Okla., said he would have a compromise proposal "that should start some discussion."

He added, "I feel that we can reach a satisfactory solution, one that will give a fair shake to everybody involved, unless someone is just interested in trying to control everything."

"I'm optimistic about chances of a settlement," Wilke said. "But I

Dick Ludwig Thunders 668 At Freedom

Includes 267 Line in Couples' League Total

FREEDOM — Dick Ludwig smacked a pair of the highest scores of the season when he rolled a 267 game and 668 series in the Cocktail Couples League at Ludwig Lanes.

The Grasshoppers (16-5) lead the league with a 2-game margin over Champagne and Tom Collins.

Two other Ludwigs had a hand in posting honor scores in the same league. Jim banged a 596 and Joe pocketed a 562.

Vernadine Welch slammed a 235 singleton for the top women's score in the league.

SHERWOOD — Jim Martin hit a 583 series to lead the Sherwood Businessmen's League at Michael's Bowl.

The Sherwood Wreckers hit a high team game of 890 and series total of 2,520. The Wreckers (20-13) lead the league by two games.

think I'm the only one who is." Represented at the meeting will be all major groups interested in basketball in the United States and Canada, including the contending AAU and National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Details of Wilke's proposal were not available, but there was indication it was somewhere between the conflicting proposals offered by AAU and NCAA at their last meeting Oct. 2 in Chicago.

Separate Federation

The NCAA has been trying to establish a separate basketball federation which would divide among a number of groups the authority now held by the AAU.

Last year during the Rome olympics, the NCAA sought recognition as U.S. representative in the Federation of International Basketball Associations (FIBA), now held by the AAU.

FIBA said this was an internal matter which should be worked out in the United States and named Wilke, FIBA vice president, to convene meetings on the subject.

Major point at issue is U.S. representation on FIBA.

Gerrits Hits 245 Game in Freedom Loop

FREEDOM — Roger Gerrits rolled a 245 game to set the pace in the American League at Ludwig Lanes last week. Emil Huss topped the series scores with a 586.

Shorty's VFW is the team leader with a 24½-8½ record.

Del Evers' 507 topped the women's loop at the Ludwig alleys. The Ludwig team leads with a 23-7 record.

Lois Kuse hit a 191 and Lois Mahn hit a 514 in the Sherwood Ladies League. Harriet Busch tallied a 211 game and 508 set.

American Bill Danforth, 585; Carl Glaner, 577; Chuck McGinnis, 574; George Kallhofer, 569; Jack Van Vonderen, 551; and Jim Ludwig, 550.

Agnes Green Blasts 561 Bowling Series

Bob Kositzke Hits 644 Series to Top Major League

Florence Scheuer slammed a 219 game and Agnes Green blasted a 561 series to share individual honors in the Women's National League at the 41 Bowl Tuesday night.

Agnes had single games of 201 and 190 while posting the high series.

Automatic Voting Machines hit a high team game of 867. Ray's Northgate DX Voting Machines and Brettschneider's are tied for the league lead with 26-13 records.

Joyce Leith hit a 195 game and Luella Schlender had a 505 series.

ies to lead the Ten Pin Toilers League at Hahn's Lanes Tuesday night.

Appleton Floors (27-12) lead the league, and the Carpet Shop is second.

Gib Nabfeld smacked a 244 singleton and Bob Kositzke rocked a 644 series to lead the Major Scratch League at Hahn's Tuesday night.

Behnke's and South Side Service lead the league with 27-12 records.

Mel Griesbach unloaded a 247 singleton and 607 series to pace the Appleton Coated League at Hahn's Tuesday night.

Women's National: Shirley Van Hoot, 190; Peg Rutten, 198; 524; Pat Arno, 190 and Ruth Roser, 502.

Judge Fuchs, Former Braves Owner, Dies

BOSTON (AP)—Judge Emil E. Fuchs, 83, former owner of the old Boston Braves and the man who brought Babe Ruth back to Boston, died Tuesday.

Fuchs, who this year missed his first World Series in years, had been ill many weeks.

The judge, who earned his title by serving as a magistrate in his native New York City from 1915 to 1918, never played better than sandlot baseball.

The late, great John McGraw was instrumental in Fuchs obtaining control of the former Boston National League club in 1923.

McGraw, fiery manager of the New York Giants of another era, persuaded another great, Christy Mathewson, to go into the deal with Fuchs. Third man was James MacDonough, a New York banker. How much money either put up in cash varies with the source of information.

Into Bankruptcy

Fuchs, who once admitted he was almost a millionaire, and the Braves went into bankruptcy in 1935 and the club was taken over for a reported $200,000 by the late Charles F. Adams.

That same year Fuchs signed Ruth, then 42, for a reported $25,000 as a player, assistant manager and second vice president.

The Bambino had been unconditionally released by the New York Yankees, the club he had revived with his booming bat. The Babe's pitching and hitting sparked the Yankees to the position they still hold in baseball.

Ruth played only 28 games for the Braves and quit after wallowing three homers in one game in Pittsburgh. His batting average was, for him, a lusterless .181.

The Braves finished that season with only 38 wins while losing 115 under Bill McKechnie.

Harold Nelson Rips 255 Line

Eggert Records 636 Series in 'Bird' League

Harold Nelson slammed a 255 game and a 581 series to lead the Rainbow Couples League at the 41 Bowl.

Nelson clicked off a string of eight straight strikes before getting a 7-pin tap in the ninth frame. He picked up the spare and then nailed the 8-10 split in the final frame.

The only other honor score in the circuit was a 550 series by Vernon Nabfeld. The Blue and Tan teams share the league lead with 14-7 records.

Norman "Baldy" Eggert cracked a 245 game and a 636 series in the Bird Couples League at Hahn's.

Hits 614 Series

Roger Huth blasted a 614 series to lead the Cocktail Couples League at the 41 Bowl.

The Pink Squirrels (17-4) hold a one-game lead over the Stingers.

Fran LaBonte led the women kегlers in the Beer Couples League with a 194 singleton, and Ray Buchberger hit a 598 series to top the men's scores.

Enter Guilty Pleas 3 Former College Players Face Up to Year in Prison

NEW YORK (AP)—Three former college basketball players, all last month, entered similar pleas of whom entered guilty pleas to charges arising from basketball's point-spread scandal, face up to a year in prison.

Jerry Vogel, 24, of New York, and Dan Quindazzi, 24, Yonkers, N.Y., both former Alabama players, and Lou Brown, 22, Jersey City, N.J., a former North Carolina player, pleaded guilty to conspiracy charges Tuesday.

Judge Joseph A. Safafite set Jan. 10 for sentencing.

Their pleas brought to five the number of accused bribers to plead guilty in the scandals of 1960-61 in which 37 players from 22 colleges were named.

Aaron Wagman, called the master fixer, and Joseph Green, his

Stevens Point Wins Fifth Game in Row

Stevens Point State won its fifth straight game Tuesday night, crushing Milton 101-55 as the pace of the college basketball season quickened.

All-American Team for Small Schools Picked

Pair of Early Draft Selections Lead AP Squad

NEW YORK (AP) — Eleven of the country's smaller colleges have contributed their stars to the 1961 Associated Press Little All-America football team, a team that boasts two players chosen in the early rounds of the pro drafts this past week.

The highly rated pair is made up of Ray Jacobs, 270-pound tackle from Howard Payne College in Brownwood, Tex., and Leroy Jackson, sprinter and halfback of Western Illinois.

Jacobs was chosen in the first round of the American League draft by Houston. He also was named on the 17th round by Dallas of the NFL and there now is a controversy regarding which club holds a prior claim to his bulk because he immediately signed contracts with both clubs.

Jackson, third in the NCAA 100-yard dash last spring, was chosen on the first round of the NFL draft by the Cleveland Browns and was the third choice of the Boston Patriots in the AFL. He recently was named the outstanding back in Illinois intercollegiate circles.

All Are Seniors

Others on the front line with the huge Jacobs are ends Drew Roberts of Humboldt State and Powell McClellan of Arkansas State.

Tech; David Baxter of Tennessee Tech in the tackle slot opposite the bulky Texan; guards Dan Lewis of Wofford and Wendell Williams of the State College of Iowa and Curtis Miranda of Florida A&M at center. All are seniors with an average age of 21. Their average height is 6-2 with their average weight 218.

In the backfield with the speedy Jackson are Bobby Jancik of Lamar Tech, Gary Snadon of Pittsburgh, Kan., State, the nation's top small college team, and Joe Iacone of West Chester, Pa., Teachers. Iacone is the only junior. The backfield averages 188 pounds and 5-11 1/2 in height.

ENDS—Drew Roberts, Humboldt State, 6-foot-1, 190 pounds, 21 years old, senior.

Powell McClellan, Arkansas Tech, 6-2, 195, 21, senior.

TACKLES—Ray Jacobs, Howard Payne, 6-2, 270, 21, senior.

Dean Austin Hits 20 Points for OSC; Budde Leads Victors

College College took an early lead over Oshkosh State Tuesday night and was never headed while rolling to an 87-66 non-conference basketball victory at Waukesha.

The only time the Titans had the lead was in the early minutes at 4-3. Carroll then moved out in front and built up a steady margin in handing OSC its second defeat in three games.

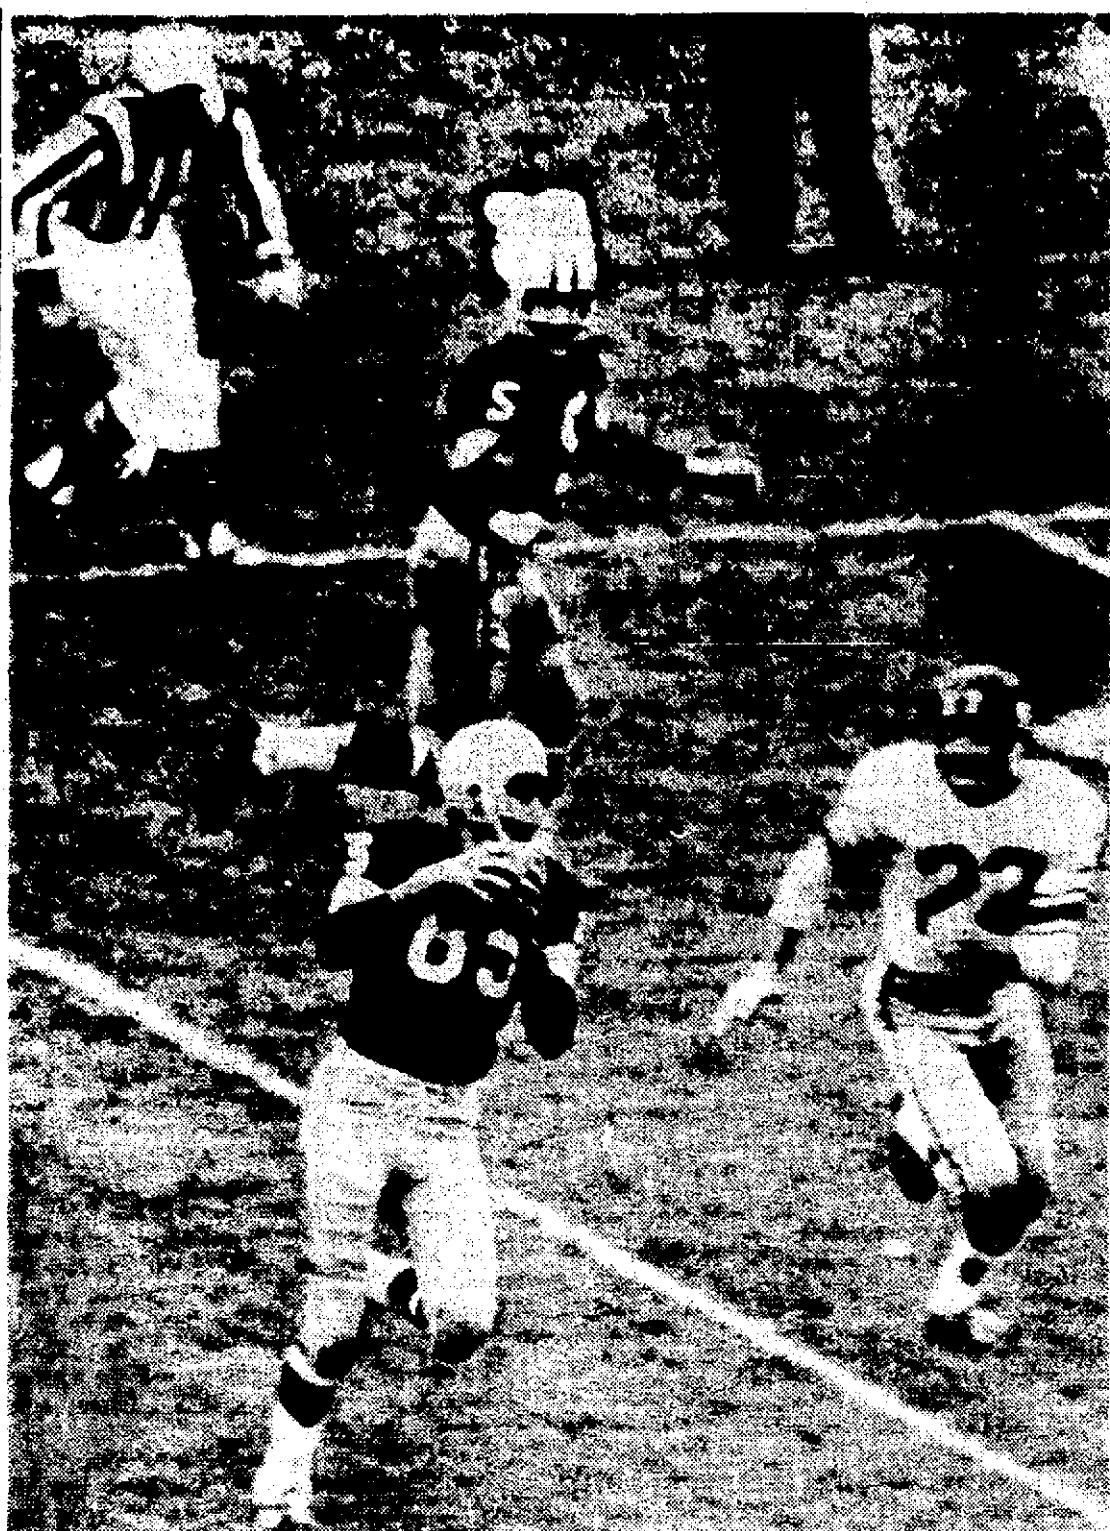

Dean Austin kept Oshkosh in the game in the first half when he hit 16 of his 20 points. However, Carroll put the clamps on him in the second half and Austin was held to two buckets.

John Budde led the Carroll second half attack with 17 points. Budde paced the winners with a total of 28 for the game on 12 field goals and four free throws. Howie Fuller added 20 for the victors.

Jim Jaeger was runnerup to Austin for the Titans with 14 markers on seven field goals.

Both teams had trouble hitting from the free throw line with Oshkosh getting 10 of 21 and Carroll 19 of 31.

Winnegamie Dog Club to Present 'Canine Capers'

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Kuhn, Hortonville, and their two Dachshunds will entertain members of the Winnegamie Dog Club at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Whiting Boat House, Neenah.

Stars of "Kuhns' Canine Capers" are Tessie, a black-and-tan veteran of four years in show business, and Wendy, a red miniature whose stage career began just six months ago.

With costumes and props created by the Kuhns, the dogs jump through hoops and over hurdles, ride in a cart and on a carousel, and demonstrate their skill in handling a scooter, a swing and high parallel bars.

The dogs' early training consisted of basic obedience, with the tricks added gradually. Though Dachshunds are more noted for their stubbornness than for their ability to do tricks, the Kuhns have developed two expert performers.

The Kuhns and their dogs have entertained civic, church and school groups throughout Wisconsin, as well as appearing on television.

The meeting is open to the public.

St. Joseph CYO Basketball Team Beats Holy Cross

St. Joseph's CYO basketball team took an early lead and was never headed in a 58-41 victory over Holy Cross of Kaukauna Sunday afternoon.

St. Joseph jumped off to a 20-5 advantage in the first quarter and held a 33-20 margin at halftime.

Dick Kexel paced the winners with 18 points, and "Rocky" Langman added 16. Don Straus led a balanced Holy Cross attack with 12 points.

Sarnoff Forecasts TV Progress for '62

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Board Chairman Robert W. Sarnoff of the National Broadcasting Co. predicts for next year's TV watchers: More and better color shows, more drama and variety programs, more new writers and actors and more public affairs programs.

Sarnoff, in town for celebration of NBC's 35th anniversary, held a news conference Tuesday.

Dick LaBore Scores Second 'Fallon' Win

The rink skipped by Dick LaBore scored its second straight success in the Wednesday League of the Fallon event—and 8-7 win over Landis.

George Klein and Bill Hart opened their respective seasons with 11-8 and 10-3 wins over Doug Evans and "Dud" Eisele. In the final match, Bob Wirth topped Dan Steinberg, Jr., 11-7.

Ellerson to Captain '62 Army Grid Team

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — John Ellerson of Hampton, Va., was named captain of the 1962 Army football squad following the meeting of lettermen Monday.

The 6-foot, 200-pound end was acclaimed by the Cadet coaching staff as "the finest all-around player on the squad" this season.

Proxmire Makes Suggestions For Fort Lewis

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., says he has recommended the Army develop a "more comprehensive information program" for the men of the 32nd Division, now stationed at Ft. Lewis, Wash.

The senator said Tuesday he has told Secretary of the Army Elvis Stahr Jr., that the greatest morale detriment in the former Wisconsin National Guard Division was that "most men did not understand the purpose of their recall to active duty."

Proxmire, who toured Ft. Lewis last week, concluded that he found "more right about the whole situation than wrong with it."

The call of reservists, Proxmire said, "should clearly be based on previous terms of service, with those with the briefest prior terms called first." He also noted that some reservists had been "improperly assigned," receiving jobs for which they have "neither capacity nor interest."

He urged that division personnel be instructed in "Army methods" of supply. He also called for improved housekeeping, issuing of modern weapons and adequate kitchen facilities.

Proxmire said that in the kitchens he found there were "no steam tables, no potato peelers, no toasters, not enough pots and pans."

$1,000 Monthly for Jeff Chandler's Widow

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The widow of Jeff Chandler will receive a monthly allowance of $1,000 from the $400,000 estate left by the actor when he died June 17.

The allowance will go toward support of the couple's two children. A Superior Court judge made the award Tuesday, retroactive to the date of Chandler's death. The actor's will left his property to the children, Jamie, 14, and Dana, 12.

Jack Lamers Leads Fish Couples' Loop

LITTLE CHUTE — Jack Lamers pounded a 233 game and a 624 series to lead the Sturgeons to two wins in the Fish Couples League at Recreation Alleys.

The Sturgeons hold a 3-game lead over the Minnows with a 13-5 record. Harriet Thyssen rapped a 190 singleton.

Charlie Dressen May Sign With Tigers as Troubleshooter

BY JOE REICHLER
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Rigney desired Chuck, recognized Charlie Dressen may soon sign with the Detroit Tigers as a "troubleshooter"—a term used by baseball people for a scout on a major league level.

The former major league manager, still hopeful of landing a coaching job with either the New York Mets or the San Francisco Giants, has promised to give Tiger Manager Bob Scheffing an answer within a week.

Dressen, discharged as manager of the Milwaukee Braves last Sept. 2, was unsuccessful in his efforts at the recently concluded baseball meetings to get the job he is seeking.

"I've had offers from three clubs," Dressen said, "but I'm not certain that's what I want. I still feel I can be of more help to a club as a coach."

Decision Weighed

The Giants apparently thought so, too—for awhile. They weighed the decision for some 24 hours, then Manager Alvin Dark decided against it. There is still a chance that Alvin might change his mind again.

There was no hesitancy on Casey Stengel's part. The old skipper of the Mets wanted to hire Dressen, who succeeded him as manager at Oakland back in 1949, but he could not get George Weiss, the head of the New York club, to go along with him. Casey hasn't given up, however.

The same thing happened at Los Angeles.

Davis Named Mentor At Mississippi State

STATE COLLEGE, Miss. (AP) — Paul Davis, chief assistant to Wade Walker for the last two years, has signed a four-year contract as head football coach at Mississippi State.

Walker, who coached the Bulldogs for six years, resigned Nov. 19 as head coach and will devote full time to his duties as State's athletic director.

Terms of the contract were not announced.

Quinn Cancels Moore-Cleroux Bout At Last Minute

MONTREAL (AP)—Eddie Quinn has been slapped with an indefinite suspension as a boxing promoter after calling off at virtually the last minute Tuesday night's scheduled bout between Archie Moore and Canadian heavyweight champion Bob Cleroux.

There were indications the Montreal Athletic Commission, which took the action some 12 hours after the bout was canceled because of a "sick box office," might also suspend Quinn's wrestling license.

Quinn has been active in the promotion of both boxing and wrestling here for 22 years.

Quinn called off the bout claiming a weak advance ticket sale already had plunged him $25,000 in the red. He said the loss would have been much greater had the fight gone on as scheduled. Moore reportedly was guaranteed $50,000 and Cleroux $15,000 for the 10-round, in which no title would have been at stake.

The commission, in turn, said there was "insufficient reason" for the cancellation and said Quinn failed to notify the commission before he announced it publicly and also failed to file a contract before the commission.

Quinn later said he wanted to try to renegotiate the fight for next month but admitted the suspension would handcuff him.

Gophers Leave for Pasadena Dec. 18

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Minnesota's Golden Gophers will leave by chartered plane for Pasadena and their New Year's bout with UCLA in the Rose Bowl on Monday, Dec. 18, the athletic department announced Tuesday.

The party is expected to number about 75 including 48 players.

The Gophers, who placed second in the Big Ten this season, engaged in a spirited one-hour drill in the fieldhouse Tuesday afternoon.

Braves, Toronto Have Working Agreement

TORONTO (AP) — The Toronto Maple Leafs of the International Baseball League announced Tuesday night they will have a working agreement with the Milwaukee Braves during the Milwaukee Braves' next season.

Old Game in Full Swing

12 College Coaches Ousted So Far; Jobs of Another Dozen in Jeopardy

BY WILL GRIMSLEY
NEW YORK (AP) — The old-fashioned party game of musical chairs—it seems more like Russian roulette to the men involved—again is in full swing among the college football coaches.

With the season not even cold in its grave, a full dozen already have been given the heave-ho, victims of alumni who tolerate nothing short of success. The jobs of a dozen others are hanging by a slender thread, which may snap at any moment.

The 1962 season will find new head coaches at Southern Methodist, Texas A&M, Nebraska, Tulane, Mississippi State, Houston, Colorado State University, Texas Western, Xavier, Ohio, Iowa Wesleyan, Upsala and Wayne, Neb. State.

Among the more prominent coaches reported on the griddle are Dale Hall at Army, John Stiegman of Pennsylvania and Lynn Hovland of Washington University, St. Louis.

Bitterest Parting

One of the bitterest partings was that between Jim Myers and Texas A&M. "It was like being in a small clearing with just enough food to stay alive, and having all kinds of animals around you," said Myers of his four lean years at the Texas school.

Chicago Packers Edge Hawks on Green's Bucket

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The St. Louis Hawks, five-time Western Division champions of the National Basketball Association now rest in fourth place in the five-team division.

Sihugo Green, a former Hawk now playing for the new Chicago Packers, hit a tie-breaking basket with four seconds left that brought the Packers a 101-99 verdict over St. Louis in the first game of a Madison Square Garden doubleheader Tuesday night.

Philadelphia beat New York 122-105 in the second game and at Portland, Ore., Elgin Baylor rallied Los Angeles to a 125-120 victory over Syracuse.

Philadelphia broke a 52-52 halftime deadlock with a 42-point burst in the third quarter that put it out of reach. Wilt Chamberlain had 39 points and 22 rebounds for the winners.

Baylor wound up with 45 points, 10 in a row in the last quarter, as Los Angeles fattened its Western Division lead to 4½ games over Cincinnati.

2 Members of Staff At Tennessee Were Former Head Coaches

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Two members of Coach Bowden Wyatt's football staff at Tennessee are former head coaches.

Bob Woodruff, line coach, is a former head coach at Florida and Baylor. Harvey Robinson, offensive backfield coach, was Wyatt's predecessor as head coach at Tennessee.

Reports are that Jim Owens, Washington head coach and former aide to Bear Bryant at Texas A&M is in line for his job.

Bill Meek, who had five more years to go on his contract at Southern Methodist, was released after winning only 17 of 67 games.

Jim Larue of Arizona is said to have the inside track.

Five straight losing seasons cost Bill Jennings his job at Nebraska. Failure to field successful teams also pulled the rug from under Don (Tuffy) Mullison of Colorado State University. Hal Lahar at Houston and Ben Collins at Texas Western.

Assistants Elevated

Assistant coaches have been elevated—temporarily at least—to the top jobs at Tulane, where Andy Pilney had deficits for six of the eight years he served, and at Mississippi State, where Wade Walker lost six of his ten games this year. Tommy O'Boyle has stepped in at Tulane and Paul Davis has taken over at Mississippi State.

Ed Doherty left Xavier of Ohio after the last game for what he called "a coach's retirement heaven" and was replaced by Ed Byles. Art Pilch is out at Upsala in New Jersey and Gwynn Christiansen has lost his job at Wayne State. Jim Hofman of Iowa Wesleyan was called back into service and succeeded by Jerry Lange.

Henry (Hank) Foldberg, successful Wichita coach, has conferred with authorities at Nebraska but reportedly has received no specific offer.

Adams Out of Bowl Game

MISSISSIPPI CRASH, Injured in Crash, Faces Surgery

MEMPHIS (AP) — Billy Ray Adams, Mississippi's All-Southeastern Conference fullback, will have to undergo surgery for injuries suffered in a traffic accident and will miss the Cotton Bowl game.

Adams was injured near Carthage, Miss., early Tuesday when he apparently went to sleep at the wheel and his car hit a tree.

An orthopedic surgeon at Campbell's clinic here said Adams had injuries to six transverse processes in the lower part of his back, two broken ribs, contusions of the kidney and a torn big ligament on the inner side of his right knee that will require surgery.

Adams was scheduled to play with Ole Miss against Texas in the Cotton Bowl Jan. 1 and was slated for an appearance in the Senior Bowl Jan. 6.

Three Weeks

Adams and Dorothy Jean Bearden, an Ole Miss senior, had planned to marry Dec. 21. But a doctor said Adams would be in the hospital for at least three weeks.

It will take two or three months for the back injury to heal and five months for the knee. Other games will have Lakeview (4-5) meeting the Y's Men (1-3) at 6:45 and IPC will clash with Western Condensing at 7:45 p.m.

Marathon Paper Will Meet Main Office In Volleyball League

Marathon Paper, leader of the YMCA Fellowship Basketball League with a 8-1 record, meets Main Office (6-3) in the feature match at 8:45 p. m. Thursday night.

Other games will have Lakeview (4-5) meeting the Y's Men (1-3) at 6:45 and IPC will clash with Western Condensing at 7:45 p.m.

In last week's games, the Main Office won three from Y's Men, Marathon won three from Western Condensing and Lakeview beat IPC, two games to one.

Political War Set For Mid-West Area

House of Representatives Gird Forces for 1964 Showdown

BY WILLIAM S. WHITE
WASHINGTON — The two parties are urgently maneuvering to make it certain that the vital theater of national political war for the next few years will be the House of Representatives.

Under leadership of former Vice President Richard Nixon, the whole Republican party is now concentrating on a single objective: To regain control of the House in the 1962 congressional elections.

There is no real chance anywhere of seizing the Senate from the Democrats. Moreover, all else being equal, there is also no great chance for a Republican presidential victory in 1964 unless a strong GOP base can meantime be established in the House, as Mr. Nixon himself has recognized.

Hunt in Midwest
This is the strategic reality. The next step involves Republican awareness that, as a tactical matter, the best place to go hunting additional Republican House seats is in the Middle West. The Middle West, therefore, is herewith warned to brace itself for long storms of Democratic and Republican appeal and counter-appeal beginning soon after New Year's Day.

And if the House is the arena of a looming crisis for the Republicans, it is the arena of imminent crisis for the Democrats. The death of Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas, who had been "Mr. Democrat" for decades, has confronted the Kennedy Administration and the Democratic Party generally with immense difficulties.

The jockeying for position in the post-Rayburn era is, thus far, being conducted with such maturity as to avoid raising any major threat of a Democratic disunity which could deeply injure Mr. Kennedy all through the period running up to his renomination in 1964. Such Democratic disunity could deeply injure Mr. Kennedy all through the period running up to his renomination in 1964. Such Democratic disunity would decisively promote the grand Republican design of using the viewpoint might be for Bolling to

Two highly live questions, however, are still to be settled—Who is to be the new floor leader and who the new assistant floor leader. The backers of Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma, the present assistant floor leader, claim that when Congress reassembles in January he will win the top floor leadership hands down.

The backers of his rival, Rep. Richard Bolling of Missouri, reject these forecasts and show no indication of giving up on Mr. Bolling. All objective indications, however, are that only by something approaching a miracle could Bolling overcome Albert's great lead.

There is irony in this. For it is not impossible that if Mr. Rayburn were alive today, and were himself thinking of stepping down, he might not discourage Bolling from seeking the very top role, the speakership. Still, realities are realities.

Possible Solution
It thus looks that the best possible solution from the Democratic viewpoint might be for Bolling to

U. S. Makes No Reply To Hungarian Offer
WASHINGTON (AP) — American officials say they want to know more before commenting on a Hungarian proposal to discuss the future of Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty.

They also wonder privately what the two countries could say about the Roman Catholic prelate who has been in refuge at the American legation in Budapest since the anti-Communist Hungarian revolt of 1956.

Gyula Kallai, deputy premier of the Communist regime in Hungary, told a news conference Monday that his government is ready to negotiate a settlement of the 69-year-old cardinal's future. He also was quoted as saying it cannot be handled separately but only as part of a broad settlement of other questions.

This would put two strong and able young men just under the 70-year-old McCormack. And it would accommodate the powerful moderate Democratic wing of the house—in Albert—and the less powerful liberal wing—in Bolling. The right-wing would be pretty well left out of it. But, in simple fact, the right-wing could never in any event marshal enough strength to choose any man of its own.

President Extends Ban on Cuban Sugar

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy, demonstrating continued U.S. opposition to the Fidel Castro regime in Cuba, Tuesday extended this country's embargo on imports of Cuban sugar until next June 30.

The ban on sugar would have expired Dec. 31.

White House Press secretary Pierre Salinger declined to link

Kennedy's action with Cuban Prime Minister Castro's statement last Friday in which Castro admitted he was a Communist of the Marxist-Lenin school.

Salinger gave the impression that the Kennedy administration had been prepared to extend the ban as a matter of course.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, acting on authority granted him by Congress, first prohibited the import of Cuban sugar in 1960. Previously, the United States had taken in about 3.5 million tons of Cuban sugar every year.

Short-Order Business In Jail Brought to End

AZTEC, N.M. (AP)—A profitable short-order business was ended at the jail Monday.

Sheriff Floyd Stock said a trusty, Billy J. Blake, 25, Nashville, Tenn., had been working as a cook in the jail kitchen.

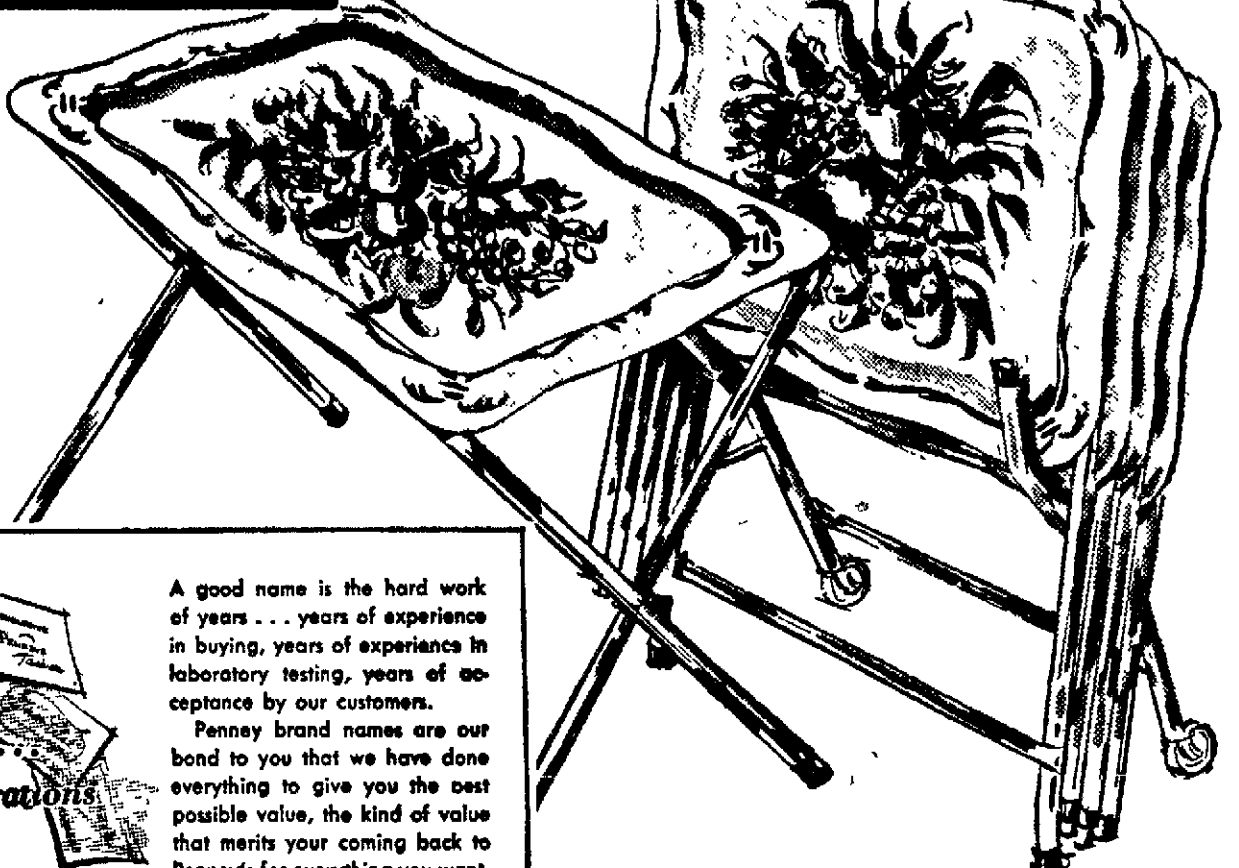

Stock learned that for at least a couple of days Blake had been trying hamburgers and cheeseburgers, wrapping them, and delivering them to the other prisoners at 35 to 50 cents each.

Blake has now been moved back to a cell—away from the kitchen. Blake is serving a six-month term on a forgery count.

Letter From Ghana Tells Another Peace Corpsman's Graphic Story

BY WILLIAM MCGAFFIN
Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON — "The headmaster gave me a monumental introduction... the students are an inspiration."

If by chance, this personal letter from a peace corpsman in Ghana had been accidentally intercepted it would have had just the opposite effect that Margery Michelmores' undiplomatic postcard had in Nigeria.

For the above phrases are indicative of the tone of the whole letter recently written by Thomas W. Livingston to a friend in the Washington headquarters of the Peace Corps.

Livingston, a member of the first Peace Corps group to go into service, has been teaching French in a secondary school at Dodowa, Ghana, since September. His home is in Wood Dale, Ill. He received his B.A. degree from the University of Illinois in 1938, and taught school after that. Although only 25, he is respectfully addressed by his Ghanaian high school students as "master," the term they reserve for teachers.

Life Goes Well

This is how his letter begins: "Life goes well in Dodowa. Every day holds some new adventure. The staff has been most friendly. Mr. Addy, the headmaster, gave me a monumental introduction the first day of school. He is ever so grateful to the U.S. for sending the desperately needed 'masters' to Ghana."

"The students are an inspiration. They fight with each other over who is to be the lucky one to carry the master's books and papers, and they stand to greet me in unison whenever I enter the class."

"They try very hard for the most part but they have quite a bit of difficulty with English. And my American accent does not help it. I always pronounce the 'r' in all words and they often look at me puzzled, until I say its Anglo - Ghanaian equivalent - father is 'fathah' and here is 'beah'. They really break up whenever I give them a bit of American slang. They constantly request something in 'American vernacular'."

Kindly Candor

Next, Tom describes his living conditions with kindly candor: "I have a very comfortable house. The view from my sitting room window is magnificent. Dodowa is spread out just at the

Poet Who Wrote Christmas Classic Honored by Children

NEW YORK (AP) — Clement Clarke Moore, who in 1822 wrote the poem "A Visit from St. Nicholas" for his children, is honored each Christmas Eve with a special ceremony by children from the Protestant Episcopal Chapel of the Intercession.

A procession of 200 children moves in reverent procession into Trinity Church cemetery, where Moore is buried. At the graveside, they hear a prayer, a reading of the famous poem which begins, "Twas the night before Christmas..." and then they sing "Silent Night."

Moore, who was closely associated with the Trinity parish, died in 1862. Children from the chapel have made the pilgrimages since Christmas Eve, 1911.

foot of the escarpment. The hills rise to the north in quiet grandeur and the ubiquitous vultures are always making graceful circles high above the hills. They clean up the market with great alacrity and thoroughness, and although they are indescribably ugly on the ground or perched in a coconut tree, they are a

Make Fancy Angels From Papier Mache

Use Newspapers, Wallpaper Paste to Form Body, Horn

You can fashion beautiful Christmas angels from papier-mache.

You need lots of newspapers and wallpaper paste. Mix a pint or so of paste. Tear some of the newspaper into long, two-inch wide strips.

On a kitchen table spread four pages of newspaper, one at a time with paste. Then roll to cone shape. This is the body of your angel. Cut off the cone at the bottom so the figure will stand and make a half-inch angle cut in the back to form the waist. Otherwise the figure would have no posture. This allows her to bend back slightly, posed for trumpet blowing.

Shape the head by crumpling a little paper then covering it and fixing it to the body with strips of newspaper dipped in paste. Use a slender wire to shape the arms and attach them to the body with paper-mache stumps. The figure must be completely dry — this takes a day or two — before it can be finished.

4 Thicknesses

Now it's time to make the wings. Cut a paper pattern. Paste four thicknesses of paper. When dry cut to the pattern and fasten to the body firmly with paper strips, having folded the wings leaving a small space in the middle thus making it easy to attach wings to body.

Now the figure is ready to be dressed and decorated. The robe is fashioned of paper toweling (spread with paste) to suit your fancy.

Use glitter paint for decorating and if you want to add glitter apply clear varnish or nail polish, then dust with glitter while wet. Elves and wise men can also be made in the same way.

In making these papier-mache figures you will find improvement comes through trial and error. Strips of papier-mache will help to strengthen and hide imperfections.

thing of beauty spiraling victoriously up into the clouds.

"I have many rooms, although I only use the sitting room and the bedroom, in which the only piece of furniture is a monumental iron bed draped in Japanese mosquito netting (the cheapest I could get), and graced with a lumpy, saggy, straw mattress. But I sleep well."

"My house is the only one blessed with electricity in this town of 2,500, but it only runs from sunset until 10 p.m. My john is a cozy room with a galvanizated can encased in a rough hewn mahogany box. I shave and bathe out of a bucket on the floor. It's like living at a perpetual summer camp, but since it also has all or more of the joys of a summer camp, it has been delightful."

Has No Stove

"The kitchen has no stove, refrigerator, or water—all those things synonymous with such rooms back home. The cook prepares everything on an open fire. Mr. Addy says he will get me a fridge, but as yet I haven't had a cold thing here other than the beers enjoyed by the staff at the local bar."

Then comes a passage about social life in Ghana.

The staff is really wonderfully friendly. I've been wine and dined in delightful Ghanaian style and the house is always filled with people. I'm the only European in town and thus quite a curiosity. I always have laughing little children following me around.

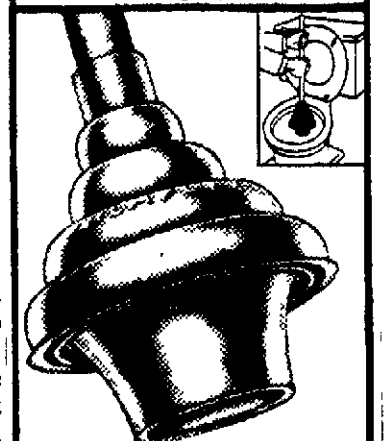

No Paper Written on Nuclear Arms for U.N.

WASHINGTON (AP)—No document has been prepared proposing that the United States turn over nuclear weapons to the United Nations, the State Department says.

Joseph Reap, State Department press officer, said Monday "there is no such paper."

Reap said he was making the statement in answer to charges by Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., that the State Department has proposed transfer of U.S. nuclear weapons to the United Nations.

POWERFUL NEW PLUNGER CLEARS CLOGGED TOILETS in a jiffy!

NEVER AGAIN that sick feeling when your toilet overflows.

Ordinary plungers just don't seat properly. They permit compressed air and water to splash back. Thus you not only have a mess, but you lose the very pressure you need to clear the obstruction.

With "Toilex", expressly designed for toilets, no air or water can escape. The full pressure plows through the clogging mass and swabs it down. Can't miss!

UW Publishes Wisconsin Soldier's Civil War Letters

First-hand reports by a front-line soldier of most of the major battles of the Civil War in the West are the substance of a new book published by the University of Wisconsin Press. "A Wisconsin Boy in Dixie" contains the selected letters of James K. Newton, edited and with an introduction by Stephen E. Ambrose.

Newton was a 17-year-old school-teacher in De Pere, Wis., when he volunteered for infantry duty in 1861. The letters he wrote to his parents describe, with charm and candor, his participation in most of the campaigns in the western theater, during which he traveled over 5,000 miles and saw Civil War service. His letters are service at Shiloh, Corinth, Vicksburg, on the Red River, at Nashville, and at Mobile. For a short time also he was a prisoner of war.

Serious Young Man
Newton's army career, in which he rose from private to lieutenant, was climaxed by service in the occupation forces in Alabama during the summer and fall of 1865. Mustered out in that year, he went on to finish his education at Ripon Academy in Wisconsin and at Oberlin College in Ohio, where he became a professor of French and German.

Newton's letters reveal a serious of the campaigns in the western theater, during which he traveled over 5,000 miles and saw Civil War service. His letters are service at Shiloh, Corinth, Vicks-out humor, which he claimed was a soldier's best friend.

Stephen E. Ambrose, editor of the letters, teaches American history at Louisiana State University in New Orleans. A former UW varsity football star, he was attracted to Newton's letters, which he found in the Abel Newton papers of the Wisconsin State Historical Library, Madison, as the best of a number of collections he had investigated.

Chilton Court Fines Milwaukee Man $75

CHILTON — Darrell Snow, 40, Milwaukee, was fined $75 by Justice John Daul after Snow admitted transporting untaxed venison.

Snow was arrested by Conservation Warden Keith Reichenbach with a box containing about 50 pounds of ground venison.

Grandparents Are Chief Bicycle Givers

If you're a grandparent, chances are you're giving a bicycle to a grandchild this Christmas.

Grandparents give more bicycles for Christmas than any other member of the family, says the Bicycle Institute of America. The reasons are varied. Some want the youngsters to assert their independence at an earlier age; some recall their own fun with a bicycle; still others know that a bicycle is always a welcome gift.

If you are planning to buy a bike for a grandchild this year, here's a practically fool proof rule-of-thumb for getting the right a bike.

If your grandchild happens to be in college, don't rule out the idea of a bicycle for a gift. In many areas of the country, colleges and universities are banning student automobiles because of limited parking space on campus. Your grandchild might want a bike so that he can join the rest of the crowd in cycling to class.

Accessories—lights, horns, bells, saddles, tool kits, handle-bar grips, mud flaps, even plastic garages for bikes that must be left outdoors—are nice gifts for the grandchild who already owns a bicycle for a child who is of average height for his age. A child under 5 should have a bike with a 16-inch wheel; from 5 to 7, a 20-inch wheel; from 8 to 11, a 24-inch wheel; over 11, a full-sized 26-inch bike.

Agreement on Market Will Mold New Future

New European Economic Community May Turn Into United Political Action

BY JOSEPH ALSOP
LONDON — Here in London, as in Paris, you can all but see the future being molded into a wholly new shape.

The outcome is not sure as yet. The hopeful process can be stopped dead in its tracks if Nikita S. Khrushchev manages to bully the Western Allies into retreating at Berlin — which is — precisely why Khrushchev has been trying so hard. Or this process may perhaps be aborted by a final failure of Gen. de Gaulle's Algerian policy or by some major, unforeseen accident of British domestic politics, or by some other peripheral piece of bad luck.

But the fact remains that the British and the six nations of the European Common Market are for the first time negotiating with evident determination to reach eventual agreement. The French have the largest responsibility among the Europeans; and the French leaders who are in charge of the negotiations hold this reporter, "This is one time when we cannot afford to fail." Their British counterparts use almost the identical language.

Historical Links
The practical problems the negotiators must solve are thorny in the extreme. It will be very difficult indeed to hammer out the compromises by which Britain will enter the new European association, without absolutely breaking the historic links with the Commonwealth.

Furthermore, even the smallest of the practical problems that have to be solved sometimes have inordinate importance. British imports from Cyprus are a tiny item in pounds sterling for the Cyprus administration, but the British cut Cyprus adrift economically, the Soviets will soon see that a good bargain is going begging. And the European club. Automatically, the enlarged Common Market will then become the germ of a European Community; and it will take a great deal of ill will and bad luck to prevent the germ from growing into a full-scale political union.

This does not mean that the British decision to join foretells the future formation of a United States of Europe, or anything of that elaborate, Utopian sort. As long as Gen. de Gaulle holds power in Paris, he will bitterly oppose any development that dims the national identity of France. The British, who have a rooted aversion to constitution-making, will carry on where de Gaulle leaves off.

But complex political institutions are not needed to transform the new European economic community into a political community. The needs are simply a sense of common interest and a knowledge of shared purpose, which will lead the member nations to act together in the political sphere as well as in the economic sphere. That is what is important.

Political Action
If economic union leads on to united European political action, as is only natural, the importance of the result will be difficult to over-state. In Western Europe, fifteen years ago in ruins, not many years ago still bitterly disunited, a wholly new grouping will take shape. And even if this new grouping is not a true nation, it will be a true power.

Thus the count of the earth's giant powers will be increased from two — the U.S. and the U.S.S.R. — to three — America, Europe, and the Soviet Union. Thus the whole world balance will also be altered. Sometimes, in truth, the world balance may be altered in ways that will inconvenience both of the existing giants. But this promised emergence of another giant power within the Western Alliance is still a great and hopeful event.

same morning five young men set out in a small skiff to go lobster fishing.

And later that day, Vera Thomas decided she and her three children would remain at their home near Prisoners Creek, rather than accept her mother-in-law's invitation to stay in town.

By the next morning, Pedro Reyes' grocery had disappeared. The lobster fishermen had vanished at sea. The three children of Vera Thomas were dead.

Were Victims
All were victims of Hurricane Hattie.

Though tragic, their stories are common throughout this British colony in Central America. For each of British Honduras' 93,000 inhabitants has been touched by the storm. Today, a little more than a month later, the shock has worn off but the hurt remains. Hattie's final toll:

missing.

—At least 257 killed and 50 missing.

—More than 15,000 homeless.

—Complete communities (like Stann Creek and Mullin River) almost erased.

—Some two million dollars in ready-to-harvest citrus crops, scheduled for export, wiped out. Unknown millions lost in timber, cocoa and bananas.

—About 70 per cent of the capital city razed. Although total property damage is impossible to estimate, one group of insurance adjusters is handling claims of more than $200 million.

Took 30 Years
The general reaction of British Honduras is that it took the country 30 years to recover from the 1931 hurricane (a killer causing more than 2,000 deaths) "and it looks like it will take another 30 years to get over this one."

First Minister George Price, the young and earnest political leader of British Honduras, remarked, "Belize will never be the same."

Ironically, many view this possibility as a piece of good fortune. A proposal to transfer the capital from this sultry seaport to the interior has met with national approval, and may well become a reality, if funds from the United States (which must be careful not to step on British toes) are forthcoming.

The two most likely sites for the unnamed new capital are Mile 31 (sparsely populated areas are identified according to their distance from Belize) and Roaring Creek.

The feeling here is that it will be cheaper to build a new capital than try to resurrect Belize out of the mud and wreckage.

Wild West Town
The city resembles a wild west town — with dirt streets, ramshackle wooden structures and a lawless manner of living. The capital's main power plant is out of order and except where special typhoid and tetanus generators are operating, there is no electricity.

One of the two water pipes to watch during the 10 p.m. to 11 p.m. curfew. Recently, the Belize water supply was cut off. The city is obtained in buckets and times lectured its readers: "Curpalls at standpipes which spout few is still at ten o'clock (be advised). It's quite uncomfortable along the streets.

Many houses are held up by wooden props. Power lines are down and the telephone merely passes that several curfew violators are not picked up.

the past. The roof of the market place still needs repairs. The Scotch Church, where several persons lost their lives, is leveled.

The cleanup of Belize is along. Much of the filth and detritus is being removed. But the stench of decay lingers.

Threat of Fire
And the threat of fire looms during the coming dry season. Huge quantities of food sent here by friendly countries prevent widespread hunger. And a small army of 100 doctors rushes to immediately after the hurricane struck seems to have blocked the possibility of an epidemic. Some 28,000 British Hondurans were inoculated against measles.

Meanwhile, British soldiers and local volunteer guards maintain the city is inoperative. Fresh water is obtained in buckets and times lectured its readers: "Curpalls at standpipes which spout few is still at ten o'clock (be advised). It's quite uncomfortable along the streets.

Learning to Listen Important In Growing Children, Adults

BY LESLIE J. NASON
Professor of Education,
University of Southern California

"These answers are right but the teacher says they're wrong!" Embittered words. If you have never heard them, you're lucky. If you have... well, let's hope you asked, "Why?"

Very often the answers are right. And yet, nearly always the teacher is right, too. They are wrong. Without taking any liberties with logic, it's possible!

Every teacher is familiar with the assignment that is turned in with the correct answers, but in completely different form than requested. Or the right answers to the wrong assignment. Or infinite variations.

From the teacher's point of view, there are only two logical explanations for such mistakes. Either the student didn't listen to (or read) the instructions or he prefers not to follow them.

Listening Takes Skill

The chances are good that the first explanation is correct. He just didn't listen. Some students seem to make a career of not listening. When the teacher discusses the problem with the parents it's not at all unusual to find that the same thing happens at home. Surprisingly, until they think about it, some parents have not even noticed it.

There is no reason, of course, for anyone to be surprised. Listening is a skill—one that many people never master. It seems to be an important skill, too. Every the teacher's instructions doesn't book on success devotes considerable space to it. That doesn't mean that it is easy. Is isn't. In order to listen easily, one must be interested. At the crucial moment, it's so very easy to be much more interested in something else.

It's a rare mother who has never had to call Junior to dinner more than once because his interest was concentrated on television.

Sadly, we must learn to take the consequences of our actions—or our lack of action. Does this mean that sending Junior off to bed without dinner will help his school work? Unfortunately, no, although he might respond to your call more quickly next time.

Of course, if he must take the consequences of not listening on enough occasions, he may begin to improve his listening skills in all situations.

The Rebel Will Learn

What about the other case—the student who won't follow instructions? In the process of growing up everyone becomes a rebel for a while. Most of us survive and recover from it and learn something valuable while doing so. We learn that this kind of behavior doesn't get us what we want. If we can't get rid of the rebellious feelings we learn to hide them.

The student with a chip on his shoulder doesn't have an easy time understanding that to follow withdrawal of Czechoslovak experts.

They gave this account:

Soviet Exodus

"The exodus of Soviet and East European Communist experts started this summer, when the Russians evacuated the submarine base of Sazan at Albania's insistence.

This was after Moscow had accused the little Adriatic nation of veering from the Kremlin's line and adhering to Stalinism.

Soviet experts were first to leave. They were followed by all experts from other East European Communist countries. Of a great number of Soviet citizens in Albania, only a handful of embassy officials remain.

Czechoslovak experts were engaged in construction of almost all projects in Albania. The most important was the metallurgical combine at Milot, north of Tirana.

Ore Shipments

Beside that Czechoslovakia, based on Warsaw pact clauses, bought big amounts of chrome and zinc ores. Now Czechoslovakia has ceased to buy and great amounts of these ores can be seen piled at the port of Durres, on the coast west of Tirana.

Red China, which sided with Albania in the dispute with the Kremlin, is sending in experts to replace those withdrawn by the Soviet bloc. So far the Chinese have taken over the metallurgical combine project at Milot. However, up to now only about 100 Chinese experts have arrived. They are stationed only in Tirana and Milot.

The Soviet-Albanian conflict became public at the recent Soviet Foreign circles here, who have direct contacts with Tirana, capital of Albania, reported that Albania was especially hard hit by

France Seeks Help From Atlantic Allies

Western Intervention Wanted in Dispute With Nasser's U.A.R.

BY PAUL GHALI
Chicago Daily News Service

PARIS—French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville announced Tuesday night that France is asking her Atlantic Pact Allies to intervene with the United Arab Republic for the release of four French diplomats arrested in Cairo Nov. 24.

Couve de Murville said that France has "offered to U.A.R. President Gamel Abdel Nasser to submit the case to an arbitration commission or to the world court at The Hague. He said France is hoping for strong pressure from her Allies upon Nasser to accept one of these solutions.

France had previously asked the United States to intervene with no results.

Charges Published

Charges against the diplomats, published in Cairo Tuesday night, are that they sought to establish a spy network and plotted the assassination of Nasser. Conviction on either count could mean a death penalty.

Lenin, Stalin Slept Lightly In Red Tombs

Chicago Daily News Service

MOSCOW — With the passing of the Stalin legend, the clandestine gags about Lenin and Stalin are fading out of memory.

Here's one that deserves saving, from the years when the two leaders shared the same tomb in Red Square.

In the silence of the night Lenin gets up, takes the flowers at his feet, tiptoes across to Stalin, and places them reverently at his feet.

Fakes Slumber

The vigilant Georgian, faking slumber, observes Lenin's tribute and is immensely flattered. Lenin, who in his political testament warned the party against accepting Stalin as leader, seems to have forgiven his successor.

When Lenin gets back in his coffin, Stalin, not wishing to be outdone in Communist courtesy, arises, gathers all his flowers, and decorates Lenin's bed.

Lenin waits until he believes Stalin is again asleep, then takes back all the flowers again. They confront each other.

"Thank you, Vladimir Ilich," says Stalin, "for these generous tributes to my services to society."

"Tributes? Nonsense!" snarls Lenin. "I'm throwing the flowers over you, 'Soso,' because you're hurt France as much as the only one of us who is dead U.A.R. France is a big importer of U.A.R. cotton.

Right, not intentionally. But all of us make good resolves that we really intend to carry out, from time to time. Then circumstances change, or we get diverted, and it becomes difficult to do what we have said we would. There are two ways of meeting such defection. One is to be very careful not to promise something about which we have even the slightest question. The other is to keep faith with those who expect us to do what we said we would.

You aren't wrong if you think that women hope that cosmetics will enhance their attractiveness and improve their looks. But there are other strong motivations, too, according to recent studies: cleanliness, for instance. Women feel better when they are well groomed. American women believe that it is healthier to bathe, wash and cream their skins frequently and spend a considerable amount of time and money for preparations that keep them fresh and clean.

Yes. Research studies show that the proportion of wives who have worked is more than twice what it was 35 years ago, and it is still rising. Current American trends are these: 1) Most wives continue to work after marriage until pregnancy. 2) Most quit work until their children are in school. 3) As the children enter school, more and more mothers again get jobs. By the time the last child has left home, most wives again are employed.

Popularity of Cuban Cigars Falls Steadily

Americans Smoke More Products of Other Countries.

BY SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Americans are smoking more cigars this year than any time since 1923—fewer from Havana this year than last, but more made of tobacco grown in the Philippines, Sumatra, Java and Puerto Rico.

Uncle Sam's troubles with Fidel Castro as yet have brought no ban on tobacco imports — as they did long against sugar, an embargo extended Monday by President Kennedy until next June 30.

But Carl J. Carlson, president of the Cigar Manufacturers Association of America, said in an interview that legal disputes over ownership of Cuban trademarks registered here have cut cigar imports by 48 per cent this year. He said crop difficulties in some Cuban districts may have caused the 12 per cent drop in imports of Cuban tobacco to be made into cigars here.

Used By Small Firms

Cigars of Cuban tobacco are only a small part of the big American market. They have been a top item for many small cigar-making shops around the country, and especially for the makers concentrating in the Tampa, Fla., area.

Young Hobby Club Here's Chance to Win Encyclopaedia in Contest

BY CAPPY DICK

Boys and girls! Here's your chance to win the entire set of Encyclopaedia Britannica "Great Books for Children" consisting of 12 volumes. They contain these stories, which you will want to read and re-read:

"Tom Sawyer," "Treasure Island," "Robinson Crusoe," "Alice in Wonderland," "Andersen's Fairy Tales," "Arabian Nights," "Robinson," "Heidi," "Black Beauty," "Tales from Shakespeare," "King Arthur" and, com-chio" and "Aesop's Fables." There's days and days of good reading for you!

Five sets of these books, a real library for any boy or girl, will be awarded as the national prizes in today's Young Hobby Club puzzle contest. To become a winner, you must enter the contest by solving the puzzle in the picture printed above and win a local prize. 5 will be awarded. This prize will be a real rabbit foot to carry in your pocket as a novelty. If your entry wins you a rabbit foot, it will then automatically be entered in the national contest to compete with local prize winners from all other cities where this column is published. The five injured and seven other soldiers very best entries of all, judged for accuracy, neatness and original preparation, will win the "Great Books for Children."

The puzzle requires you to figure out what kind of pie is in the picture above. There are nine letters in its name, but the letters on the slices are mixed up. To discover what kind of pie it is, print the letters on a sheet of paper and juggle them around until you have discovered the correct arrangement.

Next, clip out the picture and paste it on paper or a postal card. Beneath it print the deciphered name of the pie. Also print your name, age and address. Decorate your entry in the neatest way you can, using paints, crayons, cutouts or other methods.

The last step is to mail your entry to Cappy Dick's Midweek Contest at the Appleton Post-Crescent before midnight of day after tomorrow.

Everything else is up to the contest judges. Their decisions will be final. Names of the prize winners will be published here and their awards will be sent to them by mail. All entries become the property of Cappy Dick; none can be returned.

Selassie Claims Descent From Ancient Hebrews

BY SMITH HEMPSTONE
Chicago Daily News Service

NAIROBI, Kenya — Ethiopia's diplomatic recognition of Israel has wrung angry protests from the Arab nations.

Yet nothing could be more natural: Haile Selassie, although he is an ardent Christian as are most of his Amhara tribesmen, claims descent from ancient Hebrew kings.

It all began 10 centuries before Christ when Solomon was letting the contracts for the construction of the temple. An Ethiopian merchant, so the story goes, delivered a consignment of timber, gold and sapphires to Jerusalem, returning to his homeland with vivid tales of the splendor of Solomon's court.

Queen of Sheba
Makeda, Queen of Ethiopia, whom Ethiopians say was the Biblical queen of Sheba, heard of the story and decided to visit Solomon.

She arrived in Jerusalem followed by a train of 797 camels and mules laden with gifts for the Hebrew monarch. Solomon converted her to Judaism.

Makeda returned to Ethiopia and, in due time, gave birth to a son called Menelik. When Menelik grew up and began asking questions about his parentage, Makeda gave him Solomon's ring.

Menelik set off his father's court and was received in Jerusalem with great joy by Solomon, who urged him to stay and rule over Judah.

When Menelik refused to do this,

Solomon ordained that none but Menelik and his descendants should ever be kings in Ethiopia, and ordered the first-born sons of all his nobles to accompany the Jewish-Ethiopian prince back to his own land.

Menelik begged his father to give him a piece of the fringe of the covering of the Ark of the Covenant to take back with him and Solomon agreed to this.

For some reason, perhaps because they were unhappy at the prospect of having to leave their country, the nobles' sons who were to accompany Menelik spited a fully stole the ark and got away before Solomon could organize a pursuit force.

Menelik went on to become one of Ethiopia's greatest emperors and the Ark of the Covenant is there, in the ancient Ethiopian city of Axum, for all to see.

Priest Blocks Door
You cannot see it very well, however, for an Ethiopian priest blocks the door of the dimly lit sanctuary and you are only allowed to peer over or under his arms.

Historians and archeologists are generally agreed that the whole story is a fabrication.

But the kings of Ethiopia have borne among their titles that of "Lion of Judah" and one has on to look at the face of Haile Selassie to see that Semitic blood flows in the veins of Ethiopian nobility.

There are many Judaic shadings to Ethiopian life, particularly in the religious sphere. Ethiopian Christians observe the Mosaic distinction between clean and unclean meat and celebrate the Jewish Sabbath as well as Sunday. The Amharic words for "hell," "idol," "Easter" and "purification" are obviously of Hebraic derivation.

Jews in Ethiopia
There are still Jews in Ethiopia. These are called Falasha (exiles) and they live north of Lake Tana near Eritrea. There are about 70,000 of them. In physical appearance they look the same as the other local people.

They know no Hebrew and do not possess the Talmud. Their brand of Judaism is an archaic one and they do not celebrate the dedication or destruction of the Second Temple.

These shy and introverted people practice a monastic system and believe themselves to be the descendants of the first-born sons of Solomon's nobles.

The Falasha will not enter their homes after talking with a Christian until they have changed their clothes and washed. They are blacksmiths by trade.

The Falasha will hear of Ethiopia's recognition of Israel next year when the mule trains laden with salt toll up into their mountain fastness, much as Makeda's caravan made its way to Jerusalem.

Lawrence College Student, Davis Fisher, performs feats of magic as a hobby. The young man, planning to be a minister, began studying the art when 8-years-old. He relies on audience participation and humor and feels that magic should be fun for both fooler and fooled.

Works With Audience

College Student Fools Classmates With Magic

Davis Fisher, Lawrence College sophomore and part-time magician, Ill., near Chicago, attended a high school at Maywood, Ill. He says that performing on stage can have hazards as great as any other occupation. For instance, while in high school, the young prestidigitarian handed out a piece of candy to a cub scout at a Blue and Gold dinner. He was immediately swarmed by 100 eager young scouts. His props flew to the floor in the onslaught and he says, he was lucky not to have landed there himself.

North Central Votes 4-1 Stock Split

North Central Airlines' board of directors voted approval of a four-for-one stock split plan in Minneapolis Dec. 1.

The announcement was made today by Arthur E. A. Mueller, chairman of the board. Under the plan, three additional shares of the airlines' common stock will be issued for each share held to stockholders of record on Dec. 15, 1961.

North Central was incorporated in Clintonville in May 1944. Today, about 3,500 persons hold stock in the airline, largest of the nation's 13 local carriers.

Report Shows Record Day at County Port

A record day for passenger boardings at Outagamie County Airport was set Dec. 1 when 42 persons boarded outgoing North Central Airline planes.

A November report of flights at the airport shows that 458 passengers boarded during the month, compared to 300 a year ago. Last month 350 passengers departed, compared to 328 a year ago.

Other figures for last month show departing planes took on 1,202 pounds of mail, 1,934 pounds of air express shipments and 3,883 pounds of air freight.

In November, 1,551 pounds of air mail, 3,085 pounds of air express and 4,366 pounds of air freight were unloaded at the airport.

There were 87 flights originating and 87 terminating during November, compared to 90 originating and 90 terminating in November last year.

Memos are Useless

Business Phones Have Mostly Personal Use

BY HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Now and then a memo such as this is circulated in every office in America:

"These phones are strictly for the conduct of company business, upon which the livelihood of the firm depends. Employees wishing to make emergency private calls during working hours will please use the pay telephones in the corridor."

Management always launches these memos with high hopes, but they would be just as effective if they were printed in Chinese, and floated out to sea in a sealed bottle.

Pay Phones Used
For a day or two the hired hands dutifully drop their coins in the pay phone, then they go back, one by one, to slipping their private calls through the office switchboard again.

In two weeks everything is back to normal, which means—the switchboard is so swamped with personal calls that anyone having to make a call on company business has to go out and use the pay phone in the corridor.

Who makes all these private calls, and what is the desperate nature of their emergencies? Well, here are a few typical characters you have probably overheard in your own office:

Hungry Harry—Life is just one long coffee break to him. Three times a day he phones the drug-store lunch counter for java, sandwiches, doughnuts, pie, and cheesecake. At 5:15 he makes his final call: "Rush up some sodium bicarb, Joe, my stomach feels kinda tense."

Sells Raffle Tickets
Helpful Herbert—In the sweet name of charity he calls a dozen acquaintances a day to sell tickets for his lodge's latest raffle. "For only four-bits you get a chance to win a $4,000 convertible and a free trip to Puerto Rico," he says. "How many shall I put you down for?" For every 12 tickets he sells, Herb gets a free one himself.

High-fashion Hortense—The secretary does her shopping by phone whenever the boss is in conference. "What have you got new in cocktail dresses at about $39.95?" she asks her favorite department store saleslady. And that ties up that phone line for 45 minutes.

Odds-On Ollie—The office gambler usually places four calls with his bookie in the morning, and three in the afternoon. The bookie usually calls him back three times in the morning and four times in the afternoon. Net result at closing time: Ollie has lost two bucks.

"Casanova Charlie"
Casanova Charlie—He picks up his desk phone and croons to Nellie, the giddy new switchboard operator. "Talk to me, baby, I've had a lonesome life." While he and Nellie pitch vocal woo, the switchboard is tied up completely. She can't be bothered putting through any other calls.

Homebody Hubert—Every half hour he phones home to see if his shirts got back from the laundry, if the baby has broken out with the measles or a new tooth, if his wife wants to go to a movie that night, if so, which movie, to ask what'll they have for dinner, should he stop to pick up anything, and whether anything new has happened since he called half an hour before.

Old Bubblehead Himself—The boss only makes two kinds of personal calls. In the morning he phones seven to eight executive buddies in other firms trying to set up a golf foursome. In the afternoon—if he isn't playing golf—he phones his broker six times to say, "Remember now, if Amalgamated Twiddlywinks goes up to 87, sell every share I've got and put it all in International Widgits, that is, if International Widgits is holding steady."

Great Mystery
The great mystery of American industry is this: "With all these emergency personal messages typing up office switchboards, how does any business firm ever manage to get any business done?" The answer is simple. No business is transacted in offices anymore. It's all done in restaurants during those three-hour lunches. The office phones are now merely another employee fringe benefit.

3 Milwaukee Men Sentenced On 6 Charges

Three young Milwaukee men who pleaded guilty Monday to six charges, including disorderly conduct and drinking in a moving car, were sentenced Tuesday afternoon by Municipal Judge Gustave J. Keller.

Patrick Connelly, 22, was fined $50 or 15 days in jail for allowing an unauthorized person to drive his car, $100 or 30 days for drinking in a car and was placed on probation to the state department of public welfare for two years for disorderly conduct.

2 Years Probation
James Dietrich, 23, was sentenced on two years probation for disorderly conduct and is being held in Outagamie County jail pending payment of a $100 fine for drinking in a car.

Dietrich, a stepplejack, said he drinks every day because "it's just something to do."

Joseph Gaudesi, 24, was sentenced to 30 days in Outagamie County jail for driving after his license was revoked.

The trio was arrested Sunday evening by state and county patrolmen after they became abusive when stopped for speeding.

Judge Keller said Outagamie County welcomes visitors, but it expects them to obey the law.

Youth Jailed on One of 4 Charges

Richard Skenandore, 19, Kaukauna, was sentenced to 30 days in Outagamie County jail Tuesday on one of four charges resulting from an accident in which three Oneida sisters were injured.

Skenandore was brought before Municipal Judge Gustave J. Keller for sentencing. The youth pleaded guilty to charges last week.

Skenandore was jailed for transporting beer with minors in a car, fined $20 or four days in jail for non-registration and was placed on two years probation for reckless driving and falsifying an accident report.

M. B. "Sandy" Sanborn, manager of the Elks Club for 13 years waits on a customer in the club dining room. Sanborn, a former ship steward on the Great Lakes, will retire Dec. 31.

Elks Club Manager Plans Retirement

Duties to End New Year's Eve After 13 Years of Service

Celebrants of the New Year's Eve festivities at the Appleton Elks Club probably will be the last guests Club Manager M. B. Sanborn will welcome to his famous dining room.

The 65-year-old former ship steward from Alpena, Mich., will retire New Year's Eve as manager after 13 years of service. The club officials will choose a new manager from several applicants.

Sanborn's career, as a "food man" began strangely enough on a ship dock in Alpena where he had to address me as 'Steward.' Besides gaining experience in food purchases and management by serving food daily to 45 crew members, Sanborn had more than his share of high-sea adventure during his 23 years aboard Great Lakes ships.

In his first winter on the Lakes, Sanborn's crew rode through two vicious storms, and in 1943, Sanborn's last year on the lakes, his ship rode through a week-long storm in a Chicago harbor "dragging four anchors and with engines running full."

After 1943, Sanborn quit the Great Lakes, and was hired as a dining-car steward with the Milwaukee, St. Paul and Minneapolis Railroad. There he earned his land legs, "walking" half-way across the continent on the Chicago to Tacoma, Wash. run.

After two years, Sanborn took his first club job as manager of a private men's club in Chippewa Falls. That job led to his position in 1948 with the Appleton Elks Club. In 1952 he worked as part-time manager of the Butte des Morts Country Club for a year.

When the new club manager arrived in Appleton, the club was experiencing difficulties. There was a new dining room, but no dinners. There were members, but no growing list of memberships. In his 13 years, the club has grown from 600 active members to over 1,400 members. His dining room has reached a peak capacity of 293,000 meals in a year, an increase of over 100,000 since he began serving meals.

"It," said Sanborn, "I were to give any one requirement for a job like this, it would be to know food. People come back to a restaurant for good food and when they talk about a restaurant, they talk about its food."

The Elks Club has served dinner and supper not only to members but to guests as well as special civic and social groups ever since Sanborn took charge. The kitchen has been expanded to serve twice the capacity it was designed to do. The house specialty—roast beef—is well-known throughout the state.

Although Sanborn is a "food man" his days in the kitchen halted when he left the dining car job in 1948. Once in awhile if the kitchen is overloaded the "boss" will toss a couple of steaks on the grill to help out.

"A seven day-a-week job didn't give me a lot of time for hobbies, but it did leave me a lot of travel to make-up. Sanborn, a widower, has three children. He will make several trips to visit with his family, and spend the other part of his time "just looking around," after his retirement.

One of the important things the Elks Club manager will do next year, is to hand in his application for membership to the club. In all of 13 years, he's been too busy to join.

Christmas Story Set To Music in 1700

"While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks by Night," a lyric version of Luke's Christmas story, was written in 1700 by Naham Tate, poet laureate of England. The melody is a well-known hymn tune by Johann Cruger.

4 Kitchen Hints for Yuletide

Tuck a candy cane in the ribbon of a gift box.

For a small round package, cut two snowmen from felt or construction paper with arms just long enough to reach around the package. Tie the hands with ribbon and bons. Wrap a box of cookies in white tissue. Tape two large candy canes to the bottom of the box like the runners of an old-fashioned sleigh. Tie with ribbon and holly.

Favors for a Christmas party can be wrapped in tiny boxes. Place them on a circle of green plastic-foam. Brace eraser end of colored pencils in base; let sharpened points come together at top so they form a tree shape and a little cage for the gift.

Petition Cities Lady Barbers as Menace

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A circuit court petition filed Monday declares the public health and welfare will be "irreparably and adversely affected," if something isn't done to halt female barbers in a downtown hotel's shop.

The action was filed by Atty. Gen. Thomas F. Eagleton.

Legal forces in the city and state are attempting to prevent

Miss Margaret McNeil and her female assistants at the Mayfair Hotel barber shop from presenting themselves to the public as licensed or qualified barbers. Miss McNeil, who operates the shop, is seeking court sanction of the female barbers, who all are licensed cosmetologists. She claims that as cosmetologists they are entitled to cut a man's hair.

Japan Building Fourth Postwar Submarine TOKYO (AP)—Construction of Japan's fourth postwar submarine got under way today with laying ceremonies at the Mitsubishi shipyard in Kobe. The keel for a sister sub is to be laid Wednesday at the Kawasaki shipyard near here. The 750-ton, 14-knot ships, cost $8 million each.

Right Wing Extremists May Join With Communists in Costa Rica

Civil War May Break Out in Normally Peaceful Central American Republic

BY GERRY ROBICHAUD
Chicago Daily News Foreign Service
SAN JOSE, Costa Rica — Extreme right wing elements and communists again have joined forces in a political power struggle that has raised new fears of "civil war" in this usually peaceful and democratic Central American republic.

The last time that such an unholy alliance existed in the form it does today—and with many of the same political players on stage—was some 14 years ago and it did erupt in a brief but bloody civil war. With the exception of the 1948 upheaval, however, Costa Rica has been relatively free of the sort of internal violence that has so frequently wracked other Central American countries.

On the theory that historical tradition weighs heavily on the side of law and order, many wise, comparatively detached, Costa Rican observers believe there is little likelihood of another 1948. They feel that when the present power struggle, centering on the election of Costa Rica's next president, ends at the polls on Feb. 8, The verdict of the voters will be accepted peacefully by all concerned.

Not Optimistic
Whether that will be the case remains to be seen. Some of the principals involved in the presidential campaign are not nearly as optimistic.

"The possibility of civil war is serious," says Jose (Pepe) Figueres who led the successful revolt against communist and right-wing forces 14 years ago, thereby becoming a national hero and subsequently president.

Today Figueres is the main-spring in the presidential campaign of Francisco Orlich, 54, candidate of the National Liberation Party which Figueres founded.

The descendant of Yugoslav immigrants who settled in Costa Rica several generations ago, Orlich could easily have been elected president in 1958 except for a deep split in the Liberation Party ranks.

Like his two main opponents Orlich is essentially conservative, a self-made man of wealth who doesn't share all of the social and economic views of Figueres, who is generally considered a top dog in Latin America's various anti-communist anti-Castro leftist movements.

Somewhat Paradoxical
If the relationship between Orlich and Figueres may seem somewhat paradoxical, it is only one of many paradoxical situations figuring in a Costa Rican political picture.

The man considered to be Orlich's most formidable opponent is Dr. Rafael Angel Calderon Guardia, a surgeon and former president whose regime (1940-44) was marked by considerable corruption. Calderon's attempt to stage a presidential comeback in 1948 precipitated the civil war that converted the diminutive Figueres into a national figure.

Then as now Calderon was an ultraconservative who curiously enough had attracted organized communist support as he has today.

His 1948 challenger was Ulatio Ulate, conservative newspaper publisher whose campaign was being managed by Figueres. Although Ulate won handily, the "Calderon people" cried "fraud" and the communist-infiltrated government of President Teodoro Picardo moved to nullify Ulate's election.

It was then that Figueres took up arms to overthrow the Picardo regime and install Ulate in power. The fighting lasted a month and took 1,300 lives.

Waging War
Calderon, who has practiced surgery in exile both in the United States and Mexico, denies that he or his conservative followers took part in the civil war in which the pro-government forces were led. But Escalante's appearance on the Calderon ticket hasn't dismayed the communists an iota. Together with their Castroite followers and fellow travellers they porter of Calderon who is now pushing 70.

Ulate, 64, is the third principal candidate for the presidency and is generally conceded little chance of making the grade.

Another weird twist is that Calderon's running mate is Manuel Escalante, the pro-United States regime and install Ulate in power. The fighting lasted a month and took 1,300 lives.

Nikita, in True Soviet Style, Drops Those Who Raised Him to Power

Selects Men Who Owe Him Much, But to Whom He Owes Naught

BY GEORGE WELLER
Chicago Daily News Service

Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev is systematically purging party underlings who risked their careers to raise him to power. At 67, the dictator is dipping among men in their 30s and 40s and discarding those who have upheld him during his six years' personal supremacy.

In winding up the 22d Party Congress, Khrushchev unloaded one embarrassing sentimental attachment — lovely Ekaterina Furtseva — first woman to attain a top-level post, and three male members and six candidate members of the party's supreme presidium. Mrs. Furtseva's personal attachment to Khrushchev has been aired abroad in such explicit terms since their trips to the Far East and his beckoning her to the platform at the 20th congress, that it had become a liability in Russia's stiffly puritanical Society.

Mrs. Furtseva, dynamic minister of culture, has lost some status among university liberals since she put down their demonstrations during the 1956 Hungarian Revolt as "puppy enthusiasms."

Public Reminder
Mrs. Furtseva in the last days of the congress gave her protector a public reminder of his debt to her can probably produce between 10,000 and 15,000 votes out of a total of 480,000 registered voters.

No Secret
Moreover, it is no secret that the communies and their pals have a limited supply of arms from Red Cuba. Calderon's right-wing supporters also have arms which curiously enough seem to have come from neighboring Nicaragua, according to evidence produced in government raids on the arms caches.

The unrelenting hatred between Nicaragua's Luis Somoza regime and the Castro dictatorship would seem to preclude their acting together in any cause but this apparently is not the case in Costa Rica.

The arms buildup in Costa Rica is not confined to the Calderon camp. Figueres admits freely that his side has guns too and knows how to use them.

It is no wonder that so many Costa Ricans are inclined like Figueres to take talk of civil war somewhat seriously.

by narrating before 4,300 delegates how narrowly Khrushchev was saved in 1957 when V. N. Molotov, his enemy, won a majority in the presidium. It was Mrs. Furtseva who brought central committee members rushing from all corners of the Soviet Union to save Khrushchev.

Khrushchev's response has been to drop not only Mrs. Furtseva but 68 members out of 133 in the old central committee. There are 110 new faces among 175 members and they owe Khrushchev everything and he owes them nothing. Khrushchev's discards imitated Mrs. Furtseva in trying to save their jobs.

Averky Aristov, whom Khrushchev had already fore-doomed by giving him the thankless job of ambassador to Poland, obediently attacked Stalin. So did brilliant, slant-eyed young Uzbek Nuridin Mukhitdinov and Nikolai Ignatov whom Khrushchev had eased out of the party secretariatship in May, 1960.

Pleas in Vain
Their pleas were in vain. Khrushchev dumped them as firmly as he expelled Marshall Georgi Zhukov after Berlin's victor had captured and executed Khrushchev's rival Police Chief Lavrenti Beria.

Khrushchev, in whittling down the presidium from 14 full members to 11 and the candidates from nine to five, has somewhat upset his liberal standard by pulling in A. N. Shelepin, director of the KGB secret police, who holds the keys of the inexhaustible archives of Stalin now being dredged to punish Georgi Malenkov, Molotov and Lazar Kaganovich.

Khrushchev has also raised to head of the foreign office press bureau, Leonid Ilyichev, Soviet publicist who has been director of Pravda and of the propaganda wing of the party and heartily detested by foreign correspondents.

Khrushchev promoted two party hacks, Vladimir Sherbitski, ex-premier of Ukraine, and Sherif Rashidovich, secretary of Uzbek party, to candidate posts.

His most notable demotion is Mikhail Pervukhin, one-time economic planner under Stalin who has been close to Molotov. Pervukhin's fall is held to augur darkly for East Germany's once intensely Stalinist dictator Walter Ulbricht.

Pennsylvania Boy Discovers Magic of Written Verse

CLARK SUMMIT, PA. (AP) — when he was in the fifth grade William Guest, a high school senior, gives poetry to his friends for Christmas—his own poetry.

And sometimes he includes plays and short stories. Bill, who has had some of his works published in the National Anthology of High School Poetry, has been writing verse since he was 12 years old.

He is a co-founder of the Skit Writing Club at Clark Summit-Abington High School.

As Bill writes his poems, plays and short stories, he files them away. At Christmas time, he makes a pamphlet and distributes them among his friends.

"I've been doing this for a number of years and I get a real kick out of it," he says.

But the giving has practical value for the young writer.

"After my friends read my work," he says, "I talk to each of them and they tell me what they really liked and what they didn't. I then revise the articles and begin preparing a second pamphlet."

How do friends like the idea of a pamphlet of poems and other writings for Christmas?

"Well," says Bill, "they were really surprised when I came up with the idea and presented them with the pamphlet, and they showed a lot of enthusiasm when I asked them to read them over and cast their opinions."

Bill was born in Scranton, Pa., and began passing out his poems at James Fenimore Cooper Grade School there.

"My first literary venture, a religious poem, was submitted to the Lackawanna United Churches of Lackawanna County and they published it in their annual publication," says Bill.

After moving to Clark Summit, Bill began writing stories and skits which were used for school assembly programs. He also has helped write several school plays.

Bill explains that he likes to write because "I find that it is the one way for me to really express myself."

Christmas Party Set In Little Chute For Boy Foresters

LITTLE CHUTE — A Christmas party for members of the Juvenile Boys Foresters is scheduled after the 7:30 a.m. Sunday mass at the Forester Hall.

Movies will be shown and Santa will distribute treats. Adults supervising the party will be Lambert Walters and Robert Hietpas.

Optometrist at Meeting

Dr. Robert F. Scherzinger, Little Chute, will attend the annual meeting of the American Academy of Optometry in Chicago from Dec. 6 to 13. He is a fellow of the academy.

JFK Sends Christmas Greetings to Troops

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy sent Christmas greetings to the armed forces Tuesday, saying all the nation looks to their spirit, courage and determination in support of peace and freedom.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara informed the U. S. military forces around the world that "the strength you give America makes possible the security of our homes and families and the perpetuation of cherished peace and freedom."

Pennsylvania High School student William Guest composes another short poem for his volume. Guest sends the poems to his friends and asks for criticism. When they are returned, he rewrites the selections. His best are included in a pamphlet he gives away at Christmas.

First Card Sent in 1853

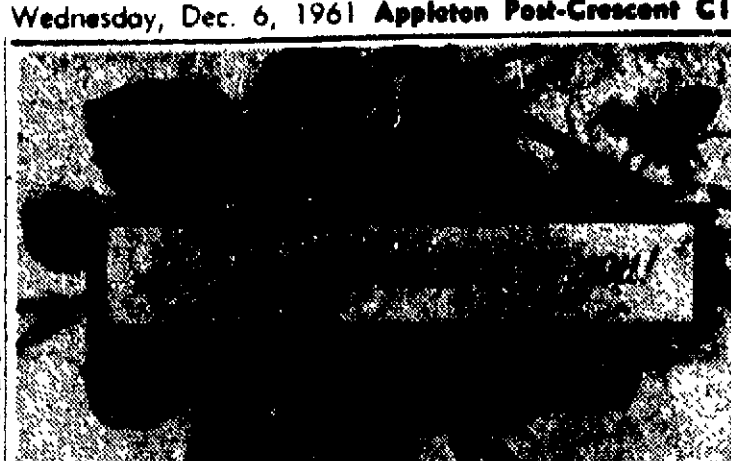

New Yorker Used Season's Greeting For Advertising

The first American Christmas card was printed and mailed by a dry goods merchant in Albany, N.Y., in 1853.

The businessman, R. J. Pease, used the card as an advertisement for his goods.

American Christmas cards were not launched on a commercial scale, however, until 22 years later. The father of an industry that now sells 300 million cards a year was Louis Prang, a Boston lithographer.

The very first Christmas card had been issued in England in 1843, but the custom developed slowly. Prang stimulated the card idea on both sides of the Atlantic. Toward the close of that year He displayed color prints, or "chromes" as he called them, at agent suggested the white band be filled with a Christmas greeting and the cards offered in quantities as Christmas cards. This signs, each with an open white band to be filled in with the exhibitor's name.

This Card Was Designed for 1875, but the message is just as filled with the holiday spirit now as then.

Laird States Callup 'Mismanaged'; Peterson Visit Surprises Assembly

Waupaca Major With Guard Will Vote on Tax Bill

MADISON (AP)—Maj Richard Peterson, a Republican assemblyman from Waupaca now in federal service with the 32nd Infantry Division, made a surprise visit to the State Assembly today.

Peterson, dressed in civilian clothes, said he would be "glad to report on conditions at Ft. Lewis, Wash., if anybody asks me."

The 32nd has been training at Ft. Lewis since Oct. 15.

Peterson received a round of applause as he entered the Assembly chamber and took his seat he vacated about six weeks ago.

He said he had obtained a three-day leave "to come back and act on the tax revision bill which I understand is coming up in the next day or so."

Can Give Views
Then the assemblyman-soldier added that he had been granted permission to give his "own personal view" on conditions at Ft. Lewis.

The request for such a report came immediately from Assemblyman John Gray, D-Antigo. It was Gray who introduced a resolution asking for a legislative investigation at Ft. Lewis. This resolution was withdrawn Monday.

Peterson said there were "shortages" when the division reported at Ft. Lewis.

"But this did not affect our morale or spirit," he said.

"Our training is right on schedule," he added.

"The 32nd Division is a tough, high spirited outfit and nothing will ever change that," Peterson added.

"Anyone who says differently is a liar."

More Passes

In answer to a question from Assemblyman Paul Alfonsi, R-Minocqua, Peterson said Wisconsin's other assemblyman soldier, Frank Nikolay, D-Abbotsford, concurred in his evaluation of the situation at Ft. Lewis.

Peterson said he believed Nikolay also a major, had received a similar pass and that he could be expected later in the day.

Police End Institute on Juvenile Crime

Delinquency Control Topic at Four-Day Meeting in Appleton

The second and final segment of an institute on juvenile delinquency control for law enforcement officers ended today at the Appleton Vocational and Adult School.

The first part of the institute was Nov. 28 and 29.

Tuesday, Sanger Powers, director of the state department of public welfare division of corrections spoke on the detention and correction program at Waukesha and Wales.

Other speakers were Prof. James Donoghue, director of the bureau of government for the University of Wisconsin Extension; Prof. Alfred Kadushin, University of Wisconsin school of social work; William Rossiter, chief state fire marshal; and Alvin T. Nygaard, assistant law enforcement consultant, division of children and youth, state department of public welfare.

Lloyd Lueprow, instructor at the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Extension Center, spoke on the sociological aspects of delinquency this morning.

Capt. William Gonyo, Oshkosh Police Department, was a member of one of two panels scheduled for today.

Members of the Appleton Police Department and Outagamie County Sheriff's Department are attending the institute.

taxpayers $46,308 in 1962 compared to $47,465 in 1961. Miscellaneous contingencies for 1962 amount to $9,705 compared to $8,805 in 1961.

State and county taxes for 1962 amount to $184,515 compared to $155,464 in 1961.

The road fund for 1962 is $53,500 compared to $56,500 in 1961, the sewer fund is $51,800 compared to $75,000 in 1961, bond fund payments amount to $118,320 compared to $124,437 in 1961 and the poor fund was increased from $11,000 to $18,600 in 1962 as a major increase in work relief is anticipated.

High and grade school costs for 1962 amount to $405,787 compared to $388,894 in 1961; vocational school costs for 1962 amount to $42,687 compared to $43,141 in 1961 and library costs will increase from $33,613 to $35,100. Fire and police pension funds for 1961 amounted to $13,128 compared to $12,127 for 1962.

Other Receipts

Receipts anticipated other than property taxes in 1962 show $9,266 for school loan repayment to the city compared to $9,483 in 1961; $58,000 in utility taxes compared to $52,000 in 1961; $20,000 utility tax from state compared to $17,500 in 1961; $268,770 income tax compared to $250,000 in 1961; $10,500 in telephone tax compared to $10,000 in 1961; $51,834 in special assessments compared to $22,675 in 1962; $3,600 in liquor license fees both years and $6,500 state aid for the Lawe Street bridge compared to $10,000 in 1961.

Other receipts show $53,000 for state aid for local streets compared to $60,000 in 1961; $12,500 in gasoline auto tax compared to $12,000 in 1961; $14,500 in liquor tax receipts compared to $14,000 in 1961; $50,000 utility contribution both years and $132,517 in local receipts compared to $28,227 in 1961. Reason for the large increase in local receipts is due to a $100,000 loan from banks with which to finance improvement to the school ventilating system, an item not included in the 1961 budget.

Other local receipts include dog, cigarette, milk, electrical, building, gas fitters, drainlayer and other licenses and permits charges. Also included are court fines, sale of materials and services, damage claims collected, interest on special assessments, ambulance receipts, sewage treatment receipts, delinquent water bills, health officer fees and recreational item fees.

Judge Continues Case Against Driver

A Municipal Court case against Clayton Newhouse, 43, 115 E. Winnebago St., was continued until Dec. 21 by Municipal Judge Gustave J. Keller for a pre-sentence investigation by the State Department of Public Welfare.

Newhouse is charged with driving too fast for conditions and driving after his license was revoked. He was arrested after an accident Nov. 18 in which his wife was killed. He is being held in Outagamie County jail without bond.

AVS Plans Christmas Parties Next Week

Herman Holtz will give an illustrated talk on his trip to Hong Kong and the Malay Peninsula at a Christmas tea for all members of the Appleton Vocational School staff at 3 p.m. Tuesday.

The AVS student council will sponsor an all-school Christmas party Thursday afternoon, Dec. 14. Martin Waskiewicz is in charge of the party.

Appropriations Slow in Coming Says Congressman

FT. LEWIS, Wash. (AP) — A Wisconsin congressman accused the Defense Department today of "incredible mismanagement" in the length of time it took to make funds available for units recently called to duty.

Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., told a news conference that Congress granted the Department the needed authority for such expenditures on Aug. 17.

Limiting his comments to the 32nd Infantry Division, a Wisconsin National Guard outfit training here, Laird said the Pentagon did not make this authority available to the Department of the Army until Oct. 31.

He said it took the Army until Nov. 18 to transmit this authority to the field command.

Corrective Action
"This incredible mismanagement will be called to the attention of the highest officials in the Defense Department with the request that appropriate corrective action in mobilization planning be taken immediately," Laird said.

Laird, who arrived Tuesday on an official visit as a member of the House Military Construction Subcommittee, said "we don't want this to happen again in any mobilization."

As Laird spoke four other Wisconsin congressmen were being briefed by Ft. Lewis officers before setting out on still another inspection of the Wisconsin unit.

Laird praised Maj. Gen. William F. Train, Ft. Lewis commander, for doing what he said was "one of the most outstanding jobs of making funds stretch."

The congressman said his full report would be given to the House Defense Appropriations Subcommittee and would contain a list of all the complaints made by members of the 32nd Division. He said all of them are going to be answered in detail.

Five Wisconsin congressmen probed Ft. Lewis today.

Two Injured In Waupaca County Crashes

Clintonville Youth Hurt as Car Hits Bridge

WAUPACA — Two people were injured in separate traffic accidents Thursday and Friday, county police reported Monday.

William L. Doran, 18, route 3, Clintonville, had cuts on the head and face about 1:30 a.m. Thursday when his car hit a bridge and landed 75 feet away on its side in a field off of U.S. 45, two miles west of Clintonville. Doran's car was going west.

Joseph I. Kelbley, 20, route 2, Manawa, suffered a head injury about 9:30 p.m. Friday when his car went into the ditch and broke off a power pole on State 54, about one-half mile west of Royalton.

A panel truck, owned by Service Bakery, Appleton, and driven by Lawrence K. Weber, 18, route 2, Black Creek, collided with a car driven by Joseph H. Schimpf, 41, route 4, Manitowoc, about 7 a.m. Friday on U.S. 10, one-half mile east of Readfield. Weber told police he went off the road on the right side and turned back onto the highway and crossed the center line before crashing into the Schimpf car. The truck was going west and the car was going east.

A car driven by Lonnie Thoe, 18, route 2, Iola, struck a rock in the road on County C and J, about nine miles north of Iola, about 6:30 a.m. Monday. County police reported that a large rock rolled off of an embankment onto the road. Thoe said he saw the rock but was unable to stop after rounding a curve. Damages to the car were estimated at $50.

Driver Appeals Court Decision

MENASHA — Convicted Nov. 27 of drunken driving, John D. Revoir, 26, 438 S. Main St., Kimberly, has appealed to Oshkosh Municipal Court.

Revoir has filed notice of appeal and paid the required $12 transfer and appeal fees to Police Justice Arthur J. Ales, who found him guilty.

Little Chute Board Approves Purchases

LITTLE CHUTE—Various purchases were approved by the village board at a meeting Tuesday night.

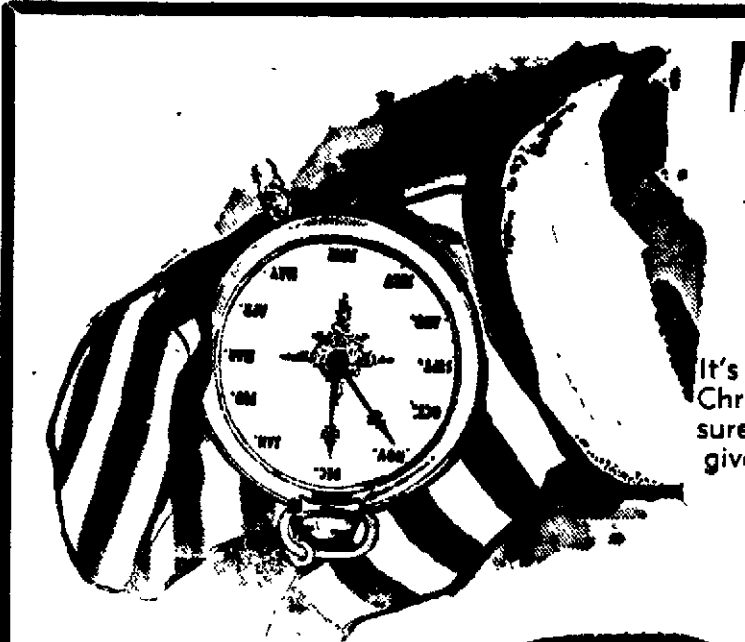

The purchasing committee was authorized to buy three tables, 50 chairs and two four-drawer filing cabinets, four radar-control reflective coated signs, two snow tires for the squad car, six water meters and anti-freeze for village trucks. The building and grounds committee was authorized to purchase trees for use in the Nativity scene.

Students in the supervisory personnel training program at the Appleton Vocational and Adult School ended the course with a banquet recently. V. I. Minahan, editor and publisher of the Appleton Post-Crescent, spoke at the banquet. The course in leadership methods was jointly sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, the Management Institute of the University of Wisconsin and the Appleton Vocational School. Twenty-eight were enrolled.

Leadership Course Ends With Banquet

A similar course is being planned for this spring. It will meet in three eight-hour sessions, on March 8, 15 and 22.

oda was jointly sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, the Management Institute of the University of Wisconsin and the Appleton Vocational School. Twenty-eight were enrolled.

Menasha Won't Fight Appeal On Sale of Racine Street Park

City Council Cites Extra Cost, Double Effort During Meeting

MENASHA — The City will not appear to defend itself in the appeal to the state supreme court.

Weisgerber

over sale of the former high school site on Racine Street to First National Bank, the Common Council decided Tuesday.

Vote was 9-1, with Ald. Robert Sullivan dissenting on the motion.

The case has been appealed by John R. Scanlon, former mayor, who brought a taxpayer's suit to halt the previous city administration's sale of the park to the bank for a new banking house and shopping center.

Opposed Land Deal
Scanlon lost his circuit court suit, then appealed.

"I believe we should not send the city attorney to defend. It will be defended by the bank. It will be duplication of effort and will cost money," Weisgerber noted.

Gammey said he always had been opposed to the land sale. "Much money has been used on the deal. I think this case is not good for the people of Menasha. They showed their opinion in the election two years ago. If I would vote to send the city attorney to defend in the supreme court, I would be sanctioning the transaction." (In the April 1960 election, the mayor, city clerk and several aldermen were unseated, possibly due to public reaction against the land sale.)

The council approved annexation of the new filling station at Ninth and Racine streets to the city. A few weeks ago, the same annexation was approved but found contrary to state law requiring the petition to be submitted to the state director of revenue.

Each district next year will pay at a lower total tax rate than this year.

School tax rates for these districts are Lakeview Joint 5, $11.56 to raise $76,922 plus a $4,513 trust fund loan, down from $12.83 for this year; Tullar, $17.33 to raise $70,518, down from $20.07 this year.

Gillingham District
Gillingham Joint 1, $4.13 to raise $629,10, down from $16.50 this year; and Mears, $4.17 to raise $112.80 down from $7.85 this year. Included in the amount to be raised by the $4 rate is $54,864 in high school tuition, $4,938 in high school transportation and Dobberke reported.

Jurisdiction in Steffens Case Questioned

Menasha's City Attorney Charged With Traffic Offense

MENASHA — Whether City Atty. Richard J. Steffens can and will be prosecuted for a traffic offense is in doubt.

The case, on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident, was transferred last week to Justice of the Peace Allen B. Adams by Police Justice Arthur J. Ales.

Adams Tuesday received the documents in the case but said he may not have jurisdiction to try the case because he has no signed complaint.

In order for the police to prosecute the case, the city council must appoint a special prosecutor, since Steffens cannot prosecute himself.

Last week, Ales disqualified himself from the case, brought by Police Chief Peter P. Clark. The chief charged that Steffens' car rammed and damaged the parked car of Ronald Davel, Stead Drive, Town of Menasha, and that Steffens drove away without attempting to identify himself or report the accident.

Clark claims Steffens' auto did $27 damage to the front bumper and grille of Davel's car. Davel told police he saw the accident from a barber chair at 223 Main St. A barber corroborated the story.

Steffens called Clark's filing of charges a reprisal attempt, since the city attorney worked with the city administration in seeking Clark's resignation.

Refer Claim for Sewer Work to Attorney, Insurer

MENASHA — A claim for $442 to pay for sewer lateral work at the Cyril Walbrun home, 342 Winnebago Ave., was referred Tuesday to City Atty. Richard J. Steffens and the city's insurer by the Common Council.

Walbrun detailed his history of sewage backups since he moved into the home in April 1960. Walbrun had a new lateral installed when he was advised the old one was plugged. Less than a week after the new line was in, he wrote, he had sewage backup problems again.

Mayor John Klein said he did not believe the sewer is faulty, and noted that Walbrun is at the dead end of the sewer line, where flow is sluggish.

City Engineer M. J. Noth said a larger sewer would have slower flow and would be more easily clogged and suggested the slopes in lateral or main may not be sufficient for flow.

Ald. Louis Gammey recalled that for 15 years one home on Sixth Street had backup problems. When the sewer was inspected, workmen found the lateral never had been connected to the main.

Catholic Churches Set Masses for Holyday Friday

Appleton Catholic churches have set special Mass schedules for Friday, which is the Feast of the Immaculate Conception and a holyday.

Sacred Heart Church also will celebrate the 10th anniversary of its perpetual adoration program Friday. Masses there will be at 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9 a.m., 12:05 and 5:30 p.m. The Blessed Sacrament will be exposed for public adoration from after the high mass at 9 a.m. until the solemn high mass at 5:30 p.m.

Masses at St. Mary Church will be at 6, 7, 8 and 9 a.m., 12:05 and 6:30 p.m. The 9 a.m. service will be a High Mass.

St. Therese Church will have Masses Friday at 5, 6, 7, 9, and 10:30 a.m. and 7 p.m. The High Mass will be at 9 a.m.

St. Pius Church has scheduled Friday Masses at 5:30, 7 and 9 a.m. and 5:30 p.m., with a High Mass at 9 a.m.

Masses at St. Joseph Church will be at 5:30, 6:45, 9:30 and 11 a.m., 12:05 and 5 p.m. There will be a high mass at 9:30 a.m.

First National Starts Auto-Bank, Extends Hours

NEENAH — J. Russell Ward, president of the First National Bank of Neenah, announced today that the new auto-bank will be open extended hours to meet the need of the area. Effective on Friday, the day of the official opening of the auto-bank, the new auto-bank hours will be 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. weekdays and until 8 p.m. on Fridays.

"It has become obvious," Ward stated, "that present auto-bank hours are working hardship on our customers, many of whom are unable to come to the bank during the noon hour and find the auto-bank closed after they leave work. We hope they will find this new schedule much more convenient."

"This new auto-bank and its extended hours are part of our continuing program to bring new and better banking services to our customers and the area," continued Ward. "The auto-bank will soon be followed by expanded banking facilities and a complete program of service geared to the development of the area."

North Central Loadings Up In Oshkosh

OSHKOSH — Passenger service on North Central airlines out of Oshkosh, increased a fraction of a percent over a year ago during November, according to figures released Tuesday by the airline.

A total of 1,853 passengers boarded North Central flights out of Oshkosh in November this year, two more than a year ago. Incoming passengers totaled 1,967, compared with 1,917 a year ago. Mail loadings and unloads also were slightly higher than a year ago while express and freight showed a considerable increase.

In November, 1960, 16,859 pounds of mail went out of Oshkosh and 7,245 pounds came in. This November, 16,862 pounds went out and 7,012 pounds came in.

Freight loadings tripled over last year with 27,784 pounds compared with 9,405. Incoming freight totaled 14,508 pounds. Last year it was 9,771.

Express loadings were 10,902, compared with 6,045 last November. The incoming total was 9,410, compared with 9,169 pounds in 1960.

Group to Study Court Question

Municipal Justice Bench Will Be Topic of Hearing

MENASHA — A six-man committee will study whether to set up a municipal justice of the peace court to replace police justice court, the council decided Tuesday.

Mayor John Klein's appointment of City Atty. Richard J. Steffens, Justice of the Peace Allen B. Adams and Atty. Ray Fink, as well as Ales, Fred Block, Robert Sullivan and Raymond Zielinski, chairmen, respectively, of the finance, ordinance and police, fire, traffic and safety committees, were appointed.

Police Justice Arthur J. Ales, whose court will cease to exist Jan. 1 because of the state court reorganization, has asked the council to establish a new court. He also asks $5,000 yearly salary, in place of the present $2,040.

Favored New County Court

The council Aug. 1 went on record favoring a third branch of Winnebago County Court, which would sit at least two days weekly in Neenah-Menasha. A bill for that court is pending in the legislature.

The two county court judges — Herbert J. Mueller and Arnold J. Cane — would hear Twin City cases until May 1, when a new county court would become effective, Steffens said.

Ald. Edward Stinski asked Steffens: "Are there too many lawyers? Is someone looking for a job?"

Steffens replied: "There aren't enough. There's a dire shortage of lawyers in Neenah-Menasha." The study committee was directed to report its conclusions at the Dec. 18 committee of the whole meeting.

Request Study of Bridge Over Lake North of Menasha

Mayor Klein, City Engineer Told to Ask Highway Commission

MENASHA — Mayor John Klein and City Engineer M. J. Noth were clear on the rules of operation because some chairmen new Tuesday were directed by the Common Council to ask the state highway commission for study of a bridge across Little Lake Butte des Morts north of Menasha.

The step would be the first in providing the long-envisioned bridge north of Menasha. Highway 10 probably would cross the lake on such a new bridge, instead of going through Appleton, its proponents believe.

Asking the state highway commission study would be needed to secure federal highway aid for such a project. State and national lawmakers' help also will be sought.

Fill Area

A spokesman for the water and light commission will be asked to attend the Dec. 18 committee of the whole meeting to explain the fill-dumping at Brighton Drive in the old Sensenbrenner boathouse area. Ald. Richard Hansen wants to know why, what is to be accomplished and why the fill was not used in other areas of the city.

Ald. John Gollner said he learned the area was filled in to make for faster water flow into the pre-settling basin intake, to cut debris and algae accumulation there. The boathouse area in summertime was an algae haven.

Test Sewers

Insect fogging machines will be used to test sewers for leaks and cross connections between storm and sanitary lines, Ald. Edward Stinski said.

Committee chairman may make motions, vote and discuss, the city attorney advised councilmen Robert's Rules of Order allow that participation, he added. He had been asked for an opinion.

Council of Churches Backs Testing Policy

Group Sends Message to Kennedy Commending Action

The Appleton Council of Churches voted Monday to send a telegram to President Kennedy expressing support of his policy on atmospheric nuclear testing.

The telegram read, "We wish to commend you for your thoughtful consideration and restraint exercised in the matter of atmospheric testing of nuclear weapons in the face of pressure for immediate testing from others in high places. We are with you wholeheartedly in your decision not to resume atmospheric testing unless future developments indicate its absolute necessity for self-preservation."

Robert Malueg spoke to the Council on the necessity of world peace, emphasizing statements of President Kennedy challenging the Soviet Union to a peace race rather than an arms race.

State Medical Costs Rising

Institutional Care Becoming Largest Item of Assistance

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Institutional care costs represent the largest item in the rapidly rising costs of medical payments made on behalf of recipients of public assistance in the state.

The state Public Welfare Department today disclosed that on the basis of an October study of the distribution of medical vent payments, nearly 75 per cent of all of such expenditure were for care in nursing homes, public medical institutions and hospitals.

The most important single category was general hospital care, accounting for nearly 32 per cent. Services of physicians accounted for only a little more than 11 per cent, for dentists 1.5 per cent, and for pharmacists, 8.1 per cent, it was found.

The state is now spending at the rate of more than $2,000,000 a month for medical care payments on behalf of persons listed in the various categories of public assistance in which the local and federal governments participate.

The total disbursements have been rising rapidly.

The cost of such care to the indigent may rise further. The State Medical Society recently asked the legislature to authorize a supplementary program for the benefit of those elderly persons who are not otherwise eligible for public relief, but to whom hospital and medical service costs are a hardship.

Workmen Break Water Tap on Menasha Street

MENASHA — Workmen installing gas mains at Main and Chute streets today broke the water tap leading into the Menasha Furniture Co. building.

Water flooded the ditch for the new main until the water was shut off.

Thomas McGuire, water and light superintendent, said water line repair would take several hours. The main itself was not damaged.

The workmen, employed by J. O. Johnson, are installing the gas main for Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. Many area merchants have criticized the company for undertaking the excavation project during the Christmas shopping season. While the work is in progress, many parking stalls are unusable, they contend.

Faith Lutheran Church Plans Advent Services

Members of Faith Lutheran Church will observe the ancient Christian tradition of Advent with special midweek vesper services from now until Christmas.

The special services, which will be at 7 p.m. Wednesdays and Thursdays, will include songs by the junior and senior choirs. The Rev. H. E. Simon will preach on "Christmas Parades — What's Yours Like?", "Christmas: In a Crashing World?", and "Christmas! What Will I Get?"

"Traditionally the Advent season of the church year is set aside by Christians everywhere," said Pastor Simon, "as a special period of preparation for observance of Christ's first coming at Bethlehem, his second coming to judge the world, and his continuous coming in the Christian's heart through the use of His word."

WE'RE SELLING STANDING ROOM ON THE LAWN OF OUR FRATERNITY HOUSE...

BECAUSE WE'RE RIGHT ACROSS THE STREET AND YOU WILL SEE IT ALL WHEN CARROT KANE DRIVES UP TO THAT ALUMNAE TEA AT HER DEAR OLD SORORITY!

MISS KANE, WE HAD A CALL FROM ONE OF THE MAJESTIC SORORITIES SAYING YOU WERE PLANNING TO CAUSE A RIOT BY SHOWING UP THERE FOR—A TEA?

YOU KNOW, BOYS, IT COULD BECOME A GANG FIGHT AT THAT...

MAYBE IT WOULD ALSO BE TOO DANGEROUS FOR ME TO SHOW UP AT THE POLICEMEN'S BENEVOLENT FUND DANCE THE FOLLOWING NIGHT!

NOW, MISS KANE, LET'S NOT DO ANYTHING HASTY...

IT'S IMPOSSIBLE, I TELL YOU. I CAN'T CRAM TWO MONTHS OF WORK INTO ONE WEEK!

HOW DO YOU KNOW—EVER TRY?

I DON'T HAVE THE MIND FOR FROGS, AND AMOEBA AND CELLS AND STUFF!

YOU'VE GOT A MIND CLEVER ENOUGH TO CON ME INTO ALMOST MAKING A FOOL AND A CHEAT OF MYSELF. WELL...

CAN WE KNOCK OFF NOW, JOEL? I'M BEAT.

TWO MORE CHAPTERS TO GO. THEN YOU CAN KNOCK OFF.

Mink Stoles Stolen
During Business Hours
 DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — There wasn't a person looking when a thief made off with an estimated $15,000 worth of mink stoles during business hours at a suburban department store Monday. The fur pieces were removed so fast that a dozen saleswomen were unaware until moments later that a theft had occurred.

Your Money's Worth

Some Unemployed Must be Retrained

BY SYLVIA PORTER

The hard core of unemployment in our country is softening now. The number of workers out of jobs four months or more has declined 900,000 since early spring. The number out of work a half-year or more is shrinking too.

What always happens in business expansions—Porter finally is happening: total unemployment is dropping, the rate of joblessness is falling, employers have finished recalling laid-off workers and are reaching into the labor market for new employees.

But just as the hard core has become harder during each recession since World War II, so the softening will be less soft during this advance—for we actually are creating a pool not only of chronically long-term unemployed, but also of unemployables in our society.

Once strong and confident workers in our basic steel, auto and coal mining industries find they are simply not needed in their own increasingly automated industries, and they have neither the education nor the training to switch to jobs in other industries.

Men and women who only a few years ago could earn at least minimum wages in unskilled jobs are finding that there just are not enough unskilled jobs to go around in their own communities, and they have neither the cash resources nor the courage nor the incentive nor the guidance to pick themselves up and move to where the jobs might be.

Older workers, Negroes, the unskilled—these dominate today's long-term unemployed, and they are on the way to becoming permanently unemployables in the decade of the 1960s.

Were this warning coming from a Washington official trying to build up support for the administration's training-retraining legislation slated for high priority in the next session—you might understandably mumble it's more of the same old "bleeding heart" stuff. But the warning summarized in the paragraph above comes instead from as hard-headed and informed a source in industry as you might seek—namely, Armour & Co., the leading meat-packing firm, which between the summer of 1959 and 1960 closed six production plants, slashed the company's total plant capacity by more than 20 per cent and cut 5,500 production workers from the payroll.

Armour Experiment

Armour's close-downs were not unique. But the establishment by the company and the industry's principal unions of an "Automation Committee" in August of 1959 to study the problems of workers displaced by the plant closings and seek solutions to their problems was a pioneering move. Thus, of extraordinary interest are some of the committee's findings on the workers' positions one year after lay-off, as disclosed in Detroit recently by E. L. Heckler, public relations manager of Armour.

Specifically, a full year after lay off, the unemployment rate of Armour's former employees in East St. Louis was a monstrous 56 per cent, and in Columbus and Fargo the rates were between 25 and 30 per cent.

A shocking 47 per cent of the former employees over 45 years of age had failed to find jobs, against 33 per cent of those under 45.

In East St. Louis, 61 per cent of the Negroes formerly on the payroll hadn't found any jobs at all, against 36 per cent of the whites.

Planned Education

Among the Armour Committee's conclusions are: No amount of contact or promotion will produce many jobs when unemployment generally is rising. No retraining program on a "crash" basis will do much good for middle-aged individuals who have only limited formal education to start with; the fundamental answer must be a carefully planned, continuing education program to help workers develop needed abilities and skills.

Unless and until this is done—by private enterprise in cooperation with all levels of government—the hard core of jobless in America will get harder during each downturn, become less soft during each upturn. And facing them will be not just a major problem of the chronically unemployed but of the permanently unemployable—with all this implies to the unfortunate individuals involved and to you and me as taxpayers and decent citizens of a civilized nation.

Miss Flynn Won't Say if She's Still Communist Chairman

NEW YORK (AP) — Elizabeth Gurley Flynn won't say if she is still national chairman of the Communist party of the U.S.A., but she made clear she intends to continue her activities as a party member.

The party has been indicted for failing to register with the federal government as an arm of the Soviet Union.

Addressing a Monday night rally on behalf of the Communist newspaper, The Worker, Miss Flynn, 70, suggested older persons should retire from their party posts to make way for new blood.

Asked about her own post, Miss Flynn replied: "At the present time, I can't discuss the party post. It's in legal litigation now."

Then she added: "At least you see I'm not underground."

Students Earn Money While Going to UW

Employment Bureau Study Indicates 50 Per Cent Work

MADISON, Wis. — Practically 50 per cent of the University of Wisconsin student body is self-supporting to some degree, reports the U.S. Student Employment Bureau.

"Some students borrow for their education, some stay out of school for a year or two in order to work and save as much as possible, while some very ambitious students attempt to earn most of their expenses while at the University," the bureau's 1960-61 annual report explains.

The bureau found 6,340 jobs for students during the year. In jobs at university departments alone, students earned a total of $1,216,512 from September, 1960, through July, 1961. Students also work at private homes and business concerns throughout Madison.

The bureau has a five-room office requiring three full-time employees and three or four part-time people to carry out the function of a bureau "to which several thousand students apply for work annually."

President Ready to Take Off From Capital On Busy 4-Day Tour

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy, who never made the varsity in his schooldays, kicks off a busy travel schedule today with a trip to New York to be honored with greats of the game by the National Football Hall of Fame.

Kennedy takes off from National Airport early in the afternoon on a four-day journey that also will bring him before the National Association of Manufacturers in New York and the AFL-CIO and Young Democrats in Miami Beach before he gets back to Washington on Friday.

The New York-Florida venture is the first of three trips anticipated this month. The White House announced Monday Kennedy would meet British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan at Bermuda on Dec. 21-22.

Kennedy also is expected to visit Colombia and Venezuela in mid-December on what would be his first flight south of the border since taking office.

Finds Comedy In Cold War

'One, Two, Three' Stars James Cagney; Play Set in Berlin

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Billy Wilder has accomplished what everyone thought impossible: He has made a comedy about the cold war.

Many have tried. But it took the screen's No. 1 wit to pull it off. Wilder's "One, Two, Three" is a worthy successor to his previous satires, "Some Like It Hot" and "The Apartment."

Wilder (with his gifted collaborator, I. A. L. Diamond, chose an impossible task. He placed his comedy in the world's grimmest city, Berlin. He set the pace to be that of a fox hunt—full cry from the very beginning.

'Sabre Dance' Music
The music over the titles is "The Sabre Dance," and that frantic tempo is kept throughout the film. James Cagney begins his first scene at a shout and rarely lowers his voice for the next 110 minutes.

Not even a comedy genius like Wilder can maintain such speed throughout, and there are times when the ear yearns for a dulcet voice and gentle violins. Then Wilder hits you in the face with another outrageous situation.

The plot is from a Ferenc Molnar one-act and is just enough to provide the impetus for the frantic goings-on. The scatter-brained heiress (Pamela Tiffin) of an American soft-drink maker falls in love with an East Berlin beatnik (Horst Buchholz). The Berlin manager of the firm

The amazing thing about "One, Two, Three" is that it can get so much fun out of such a grim subject. Some of the gags are standard but many are inspired, and they come so swiftly that some are bound to hit themark.

'Sound of Music' Profitable Show
NEW YORK (AP)—"The Sound of Music" has grossed $12,019,207 since arriving on Broadway two years ago.
The revenue has been earned by three productions of the Rodgers-Hammerstein musical—the White Way original, the national company and the London presentation. Another touring troupe recently began operations in Australia.

Vassar Graduate Plays Opposite Art Carney In Broadway Comedy
NEW YORK (AP)—Susan Stein is doubly prepared for appearance in "Take Her, She's Mine," comedy starring Art Carney which is due on Broadway in January. In the show Miss Stein portrays a college student who earns her keep by singing in a night club. In real life, Miss Stein is a Vassar College graduate who has been a cabaret entertainer.

Dorian Gray Chills TV Scene Today

BY TV SCOUT

7:30-8:30 (Channel 2)—An excellent adaptation of Oscar Wilde's "The Picture of Dorian Gray" serves to introduce Golden Showcase, a series of hour-long dramatic specials. John Fraser gives a memorable performance as Dorian, a handsome and pure youth who is corrupted by the evil ideas of George C. Scott, as Lord Henry. Burr Smith contributed the painting of Dorian, and there are some good camera effects showing the painting "aging" while Dorian remains young. Susan Oliver plays two roles—Dorian's first and last loves, Louis Hayward is the artist, and Robert Walker plays a young sailor who plans to kill Dorian.

6:30-7:30 (Channel 4-5) — Pretty Dana Wynter joins the Wagon Train tonight, and before too many commercials have gone by she has friends Bill Hawks (Terry Wilson) and Duke Shannon (Scott Miller) at each other's throats over her. Which is the way she planned it, because she's really smuggling counterfeit money (all in a good Confederate cause), and she has to hide her real purpose. (Color)

8-9 (Channel 4-5) — George Sanders is the guest on The Perry Como Show, and the suave gentleman, in keeping with the Christmas season, appears in a Santa Claus suit — red tails trimmed with white fur! He and Perry do a medley of children's Christmas songs with George contributing "I Saw Mommy Kissing Santa Claus" and "All I Want for Christmas Is My Two Front Teeth." Sandy Stewart appears in a production number of "Singin' in the Rain" and Kaye Ballard does a comedy song called "My Mother's Eyes." Texas is the state-of-the-week. (Color)

8:30-9 (Channel 2) — Professor Crayton's (Cedric Hardwicke) doctor decides the hard working man needs a rest on Mrs. G. Goes to College, so he suggests that the Professor is ill and confines him to quarters for a week. The best scene comes when Kestner (Peter

8:30 (Channel 4-5) — There's a man with a problem on The Bob Newhart Show. He's a caretaker in the Kremlin who gets stuck with Stalin's body. He wants to do the right thing, but he can't get any help. Every department he calls refers him to another department.

9-10 (Channel 2) — The counterfeit record industry comes under close scrutiny on The Circle Theatre production of "Spin a Crooked Record." Singer Mindy Carson appears as a popular singer whose first record album is completely counterfeited (record, dust cover and album cover) with a resultant loss of royalties.

9:30-10 (Channel 4-5) — For the first time, David Brinkley's Journal devotes the entire half-hour to one subject. The cameras taped a "homecoming" as a former American infantry sergeant and a German communications sergeant returned to Omaha Beach where they fought on D-Day in 1944. (Color)

Film on St. Theresa Matinee Feature at Appleton Theater

Appleton Theater will feature a special matinee movie Friday, which is The Feast of the Immaculate Conception in the Catholic Church.

The film, "Miracle of Saint Theresa," will be shown for one performance, only with a second movie, "Land of the Bible," from 1:30 to 3:40 p.m.

Sincerity and strong spiritual feelings are the principal attractions in "The Miracle of Saint Theresa," formerly known as "Trial at the Vatican." A French production with English titles, the film follows the life of Saint Theresa of Lisieux through childhood and her brief years in the Carmelite convent to the final moment of her canonization.

Four London Plays Coming to New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Two more London shows have been added to David Merrick's schedule for future Broadway exhibit. The music "Stop the World I Want to Get Off" and Jean Anouilh's comedy "The Rehearsal" join "Ross" and "Oliver" on the Merrick agenda.

Retired Farmer Has 100th Birthday, and Doesn't Need Doctor

BROWNSVILLE, Pa. (AP)—Henry G. Musser, a retired farmer, celebrated his 100th birthday Tuesday and like all others in the state who turn 100, received a congratulatory plaque from the Pennsylvania Medical Society. It was presented by Dr. Robert R. Bender, a local physician, who said: "When I was asked by the society to make the presentation I thought it should be made by his own physician. But I found to my surprise that despite his advanced age he didn't have one." "I don't need a doctor," Musser commented. "I keep active. That does it."

Housing Authority Asks Non-Communist Oath

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — The Tampa housing authority has tied the can to tenants who refuse to sign a non-Communist oath. Authority director Thomas Dyer said his agency is requiring heads of family to sign an oath that they are not members of the Communist party. If they don't, said Dyer, out they go. Or if they are applicants for future housing, they don't get in.

Michael Schroeder
Will Supervise Sales
In Four States

Michael Schroeder has been appointed manager of the printing paper division of Universal Paper Corp., according to Fred Leech, president.

Schroeder, who has had 27 years experience with printing papers, joined Universal in 1954. In his new post Schroeder will supervise the sale of printing papers to customers in a trading area, which includes the state of Wisconsin, the upper peninsula of Michigan, eastern Minnesota and northern Illinois.

Leech also stated John Oakley, manager of the firm's Milwaukee division, had been elected a vice president, and Charles Connelly, of Appleton, assistant treasurer. Other officers re-elected were Leech as president, James B. McKenny, vice president, Joan B. Leech, treasurer, and F. Joseph Sensenbrenner, secretary.

Packaging Corp. Expands Sales Into Southwest

The new office is supervised by G. L. Lucas, Kansas City, Mo., formerly wallboard and building paperboard sales representative, and Harold McLaughlin, formerly paperboard sales representative of Hutchinson, in Kansas.

Packaging Corp. of America, with headquarters in Evanston, Ill., is integrated from forest to finished product and processes paperboard and plastics packaging. The company operates eight paperboard mills, located in Denver, Colo., Quincy, Ill., Vincennes, Ind., Tama, Iowa, Hutchinson, Kans., Filer City, Mich., Grand Rapids, Mich., and Rittman, Ohio.

It also owns 52 per cent of the brand new kraft linerboard mill of Tennessee River Pulp and Paper Company, at Counce, Tenn. In addition, Packaging Corp. operates 22 corrugated container plants, nine folding carton plants, three molded pulp plants, and four plastics plants.

Mixed Prices On Exchange

Savings and Loan
Issues Recover
Part of Losses

NEW YORK (AP)—A recovery by the savings and loan shares and a firm tone among aircraft-missiles highlighted a mixed stock market early this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .30 at 265.70 with industrials down .50, rails up .10 and utilities down .40.

Most key stocks showed gains or losses of fractions to about a point. The badly battered savings and loans rebounded from fractions to about 4 points as traders picked them up at depressed prices.

The aircraft-missiles were bolstered by a news report that the Pentagon is understood to want $51 billion in appropriations for the next fiscal year compared with an estimated $47 billion in defense spending in the current fiscal year. The fighting in Katanga underlined the importance of preparedness.

Motors Higher
A moderate recovery by the electrical equipment stocks and an advance by Big Three motors as reports came of higher auto sales were other features. Steels, tobacco, drugs and chemicals were mostly lower.

Financial Federation gained more than 4 points while San Diego Imperial came back fractionally. Recoveries exceeding 2 were made by United Financial and First Charter Financial. Great Western Financial recouped more than 1.

Douglas Aircraft, up more than 1, showed the best response to the Pentagon news.

Chrysler, up more than 1, was the star among the big automakers. General Motors gained about 1.

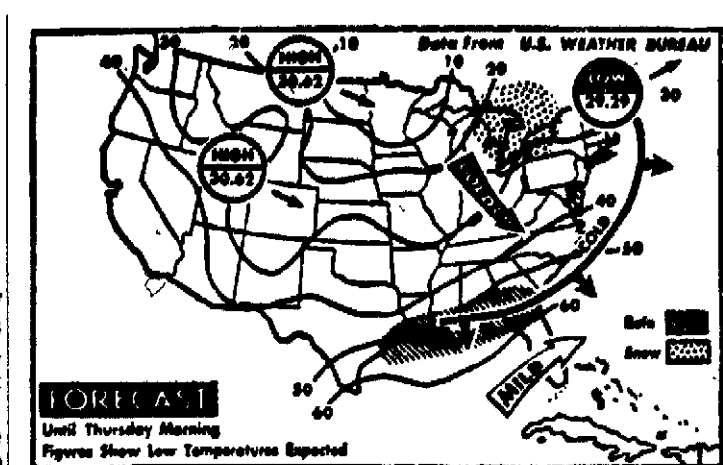

General Electric won back about 1 of recent losses on news of damage suits. Westinghouse Electric was steady.

Time Marches on

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — For the first time ever, the Amish people are having to put electric lights on their old-fashioned bug-trap cars, and primarily through scent, he writes. The first. Most of the Amish heretofore have relied on red glass reflectors.

Snow Flurries Are expected in the eastern Great Lakes area tonight while light rain is forecast for the Gulf coast. It will be warmer in the Ohio and Tennessee valleys. Colder weather will spread from the northern plains eastward through the upper Mississippi valley and the Great Lakes area.

Sunspot Theory Shows Up in Rings on Trees

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tree rings, beautiful male butterflies, and lamps in the sea figure in science news:

Two scientists find evidence against the theory that sunspot cycles show up in the annual growth rings of trees.

Sunspots follow an 11-year cycle. Some experts think the sunspot effects on climate are strong enough to be reflected in rings of old trees in the southwestern United States.

It is generally accepted that climatic changes do show up in the width of growth rings of ancient trees.

Male Beauty
But John Dutton and Prof. Reid A. Bryson of the University of Wisconsin meteorology department said they cannot find a real correlation between sunspot cycles and tree growth. They analyzed tree ring data with a statistical method to detect cycles.

The beautiful colors and designs sported by male butterflies seem to be completely superfluous, serving no useful purpose, reports Dr. R. E. Snodgrass, research associate of the Smithsonian Institution.

Among some birds, for example, male beauty attracts females. But among butterflies and moths, it is the females who attract males, and primarily through scent, he writes. The first. Most of the Amish heretofore have relied on red glass reflectors.

The heat problem for space vehicles, and passengers, plunging into the earth's atmosphere after space voyages may be 2 1/2 times more severe than previously estimated, a new study finds.

The heating comes from friction of atoms and molecules of gases in the atmosphere. But at high speeds there's an additional and very serious heating from ionization, the negative electrons and positive ions into which gases can be separated, says Dr. Sinclair M. Scala of General Electric's Space Sciences Laboratory. Ionization from an object travelling at a speed of 25,000 miles an hour could bring a dramatic rise in the heating effect, he finds in theoretical studies based upon experiments in a shock tube tunnel.

Lights in the Sea
Life in the oceans has evolved three distinct methods of lighting its way with luminescence.

The first and most significant is through special cells or organs which are provided with reflectors, lenses, and sometimes, shutters. Shrimps, squids and some fishes are examples, says Dr. J.A.C. Nicol of the Marine Biological Laboratory, Plymouth, England.

A second form is discharging a cloud of luminous matter into sea water. This is used by some clams, shrimps, squids again, and bristleworms and some fishes.

Third is a cooperative method with luminous bacteria. An animal can harbor these bacteria within several glandlike organs, and supports them there. In return, the bacteria produce light for their host. The luminous bacteria take up abode in certain squids and fishes, Dr. Nicol says.

New Council Session Seen

U Thant Prepares
Report on Outbreak
Of Katanga Fighting

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A new Security Council session on the latest Katanga crisis was forecast today as U.N. Secretary-General U Thant prepared a report to the 11-nation body on the outbreak of fighting between U.N. and Katangan troops in the secessionist Congo province.

Faced with the gravest crisis since he took office a month ago, U Thant moved swiftly to place the United Nations on a virtual war footing in Katanga and hinted he might make a personal mission to the Congo.

Delegates felt that U Thant's promise to give the council a full report on the latest Katanga events indicated he will be quicker to seek guidance from the United Nations' top security body than his predecessor, the late Dag Hammarskjold.

They also expressed belief that the new U.N. chief's quick dispatch of jet planes and troop reinforcements into Katanga showed he intends to take a tough stand and use all means at his disposal to quell disorder in the Congo.

U Thant ordered up reinforcements as word reached here that the U.S. Embassy in Leopoldville had placed U.S. Globemaster planes at the U.N. command's disposal to ferry troops into the Katanga capital of Elisabethville.

A State Department spokesman in Washington said U Thant had the full support of the United States in dealing with the Katanga crisis.

Five From Fox Cities Area Take Part in Conference

Five Fox Cities area judges will take part in the winter conference of the Wisconsin Board of Juvenile Court Judges and Wisconsin Board of County Judges today through Friday in Milwaukee.

Outagamie County Judge Stanley A. Staidl, vice president of the board of county court judges, is chairman of the law program committee.

Circuit Judge Andrew J. Parnell will speak on selecting a jury and opening statements to a jury.

Toastmaster

Winnebago County Municipal Judge Arnold S. Cane, a member of the legislative committee of the board of juvenile court judges, will serve as moderator on a panel discussion of traffic violations and small claims procedure.

Winnebago County Judge Herbert J. Mueller will be toastmaster at the annual banquet Thursday evening. He is a member of the mental hygiene committee of the board of county court judges.

Calumet County Court Judge David H. Seborra is a member of the nominating committee of the board of county court judges.

Seymour Mayor Won't Run in '62

SEYMOUR — Mayor Malcolm Veitch, declared at a city council meeting Tuesday night he would withdraw from public office after 12 years of service.

Veitch told council members he would not be a candidate for a third term as mayor. He was elected to his first term in 1950 after serving as a First Ward alderman. Prior to that he served on the county board from 1950 to 1956. He resigned from the board in 1956 to become alderman. He served on the executive committee while on the county board.

Veitch said he was making his plans definite now "so anyone interested in the job could have plenty of time to consider his decision." Veitch will devote full-time to his business in Seymour.

The Seymour mayor was unopposed in his election for a second term.

UW Center to Offer New Courses Required For Driving Teachers

Two courses added to the requirements for driver education teachers by a new law providing increased state aids will be offered by the University of Wisconsin-Fox Valley Center next semester if a minimum of 20 persons enroll.

The courses are safety education, to be taught by C. Frazier Damron, and first aid, to be taught by Carl Sanger.

In order for a driver education program to qualify for the increased state aid, Chapter 510 of the state statutes requires that teachers have degrees and be licensed to teach, and also have two semester hours each in driver education, safety education and first aid. The second two courses were added to previous requirements.

The classes would meet one night a week for 16 weeks, in two-hour sessions. The location and the evening have not been determined, but they would be available in this immediate area.

Christmas Dinner Party

The Outagamie County Medical Society will have a Christmas dinner party for members and wives Dec. 14 at the Appleton Elks Club.

A dinner is scheduled for 7 p.m. with a cocktail hour beginning at 6 p.m. The program will be a dance review.

St. Nicholas Set Precedent For Modern Catholic Bishops

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII recalled today that St. Nicholas, popularly known as Santa Claus, was jailed 1,600 years ago now are some bishops of the Roman Catholic Church in Communist-ruled nations.

This was the feast of St. Nicholas, once the Bishop of Myra in Asia Minor.

Pope John did not mention any countries by name, but in his general audience said of St. Nicholas:

"He was in prison several years, as now happens, unfortunately, with bishops of the Catholic Church."

Vatican sources said that the Pontiff doubtless had in mind the plight of Archbishop Josef Beran of Prague, who has for

Want Ads - STRICTLY BUSINESS

Want ads accepted by 4:00 p.m. the day before day of publication. Ads before noon Saturdays. For Sundays—Before 10:30 a.m. Saturdays.

Corrections or Cancellations
Want ads corrections or cancellations accepted to 8:30 a.m. for the same day publication. For Sundays—Before 10:30 a.m. Saturday.

IMPORTANT
Composition costs will be charged, if an ordered ad is cancelled before publication. After an ad is ordered, it cannot be changed before publication.

When cancelling an ad, demand a "kill number." No claims are recognized on ads cancelled without it. The number of days an ad is published determines the rate of such ads.

Adjustments
The Appleton Post-Crescent assumes no responsibility for verbal statements in conflict with its established rules, policies or rates.

All claims for adjustments or refunds must be made within 7 days after expiration of ad. Errors, not the fault of the advertiser, which make the advertisement less valuable, should be corrected the first day, when an extra corrected insertion will be made without charge. The Post-Crescent assumes no responsibility for error after the first insertion.
